LIKE PAUL REVERE

GOP Lawmakers Ride Into Marin With Warnings

A pair of Republican "Paul Reveres," whose steeds for a three-day warning ride are commercial airplanes, brought their message to San Rafael today.

Close behind them was a female "Pauline Revere."

The three are Reps. Charles E. Chamberlain and Albert H. Quie of Michigan and Rep. Catherine May of Washington. All spoke to a lunch-rally in San Rafael and will fly back to Washington tomorrow. Chamberlain, Quie and Rep. Donald H. Clausen of the California First District carried their "truth crusade" to Washington and Oregon the past two days, addressing luncheon clubs and high school groups as well as party gatherings.

Chamberlain and Quie reached San Rafael this morning, with Representative May expected in time for the lunch-rally.

Why Paul Reveres? Said Chamberlain: "Revere was concerned with the dangers confronting this country in his time. We are concerned with dangers today."

Many of these dangers, they held, are caused by inept and wrong-headed performance by the Democratic administration—and its Democratic majority in both houses of Congress.

"The administration has no confidence in the people's ability to solve their own problems," declared Quie. He charged that the executive branch of government has attempted to make Congress a mere rubber-stamp for legislation prepared by bureaus.

The 900 million dollars voted last year for public works is controlled by the executive and has become "a political slush fund," charged Chamberlain.

President Kennedy's Youth Employment Act would apply "1930 solutions to 1960 problems" and would increase rather than reduce school dropouts, claimed Quie. Half the money could accomplish many times the good if applied to aid vocational training programs in high schools, he suggested.

Chamberlain is most concerned over the Cuban situation. Lack of American leadership for anti-Castro forces is "demoralizing the Cuban people," he asserted.

"We should ban use of our ports by any companies that are doing business with Cuba," he suggested. "We should not give foreign aid to countries that support Castro, nor contribute to a United Nations fund that aids his government."

'Stargazer' Takes Off —Without Any Gazers

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (UPI)—A huge balloon scheduled to carry two men to the fringes of space floated east today at high altitudes — minus its passengers.

Another effort to launch the often-postponed "Project Stargazer" balloon from Holloman Air Force Base ended in disaster at dawn when static electricity inadvertently tripped a release and freed the balloon from the gondola.

The $53,000 ballon, which was nearly filled with helium and ready for launching, soared into the sky unhindered and drifted rapidly out of sight to the east.

Base officials said they expected the ballon to pass over Oklahoma, where a controlled landing had been planned, but they had no idea where it might come down.

Holloman officials said a gradual increase of wind velocity during launching preparations had caused a buildup of static electricity which tripped a release between the balloon and the top attachment of an emergency parachute device atop the gondola.

As workers, scientists and military men watched helplessly, the balloon shot into the air, diminished into a speck in the sky, and disappeared into the east.

Father, Son Die After Ball Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A father and son returning home from last night's Giant-Cubs baseball game at Candlestick Park were hurled 20 feet to their death in a violent car crash in the eastern waterfront district.

The victims, Wilbert Cyprian, 46, and Wilbert Jr., 14, were in a car which was struck broadside while making a left turn.

Police Sgt. Louis Sevenau said the other car was going "at least 80" MPH.

Nixon: Decisions Needed On Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon said today the United States "must no longer postpone making a command decision" to do whatever is necessary to force the removal of the Soviet beachhead from Cuba.

"The United States cannot tolerate the continued existence of a Soviet military and subversive base 90 miles from our shore," the former vice president said in a speech prepared for the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting here.

Nixon outlined what he called a "freedom doctrine for the Americans" in his speech. He coupled it with a sharp attack on the Kennedy administration's foreign policy, which he said is essentially defensive and therefore "doomed to failure."

"We can regain the initiative only by adopting a strategy of victory for freedom to beat the strategy of victory for communism," he said.

Nixon urged positive steps to make a political confederation of the North Atlantic Alliance and give open U.S. support to forces fighting communism in the Western Hemisphere.

Nixon's criticisms dealt extensively with the Cuban situation. He contended that the Russian Cuban venture has been "a net gain, not a loss" for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. Khrushchev's position there, he said "with American acquiesence is firmer today than a year ago."

Noting what he called administration claims that risks are involved in such a Cuba policy, Nixon said the Cuban example will involve increased risks of other takeovers in Latin America and that "the risks of inaction are far greater than the risks of action."

Nixon's proposal for a "freedom doctrine" for the Americas involved what he called a redefining of the Monroe Doctrine to meet Communist penetrations in the Western Hemisphere such as the Communist movement into Cuba.

Hallinan To Aid 'Egg Yolk Baron'

Andrew von Salza, San Francisco's colorful "egg yolk baron," will be defended in the legal cases against him by Vincent Hallinan, Belvedere's colful defense attorney.

Hallinan received a week's continuance of the case when he told Judge Joseph Karesh of San Francisco Superior Court that the time was needed to become familiar with the baron's defense.

Better Forget Any Plans For Picnic: Rain

The weatherman changed his mind today and offered odds of 7-to-3 it will rain again tomorrow.

Yesterday, the official forecaster at San Francisco Airport was hopeful the rains would end tonight.

He was wetter and more pessimistic today, as showers continued through night and morning.

By noon, the 24- hour rainfall total in San Rafael was .18 of an inch—a considerable comedown from the 1.3 inches measured in the preceding 24 hours, but hardly a dry spell. The Chevy Chase district of Larkspur had .26 of an inch in the last 24 hours.

Totals elsewhere in Marin for the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today included: Point Reyes Station, .34 of an inch; Woodacre, .16; San Anselmo, .12; Novato, .10, and Mill Valley, .05.

Heavy snowfall clogged Highway 50 over the Sierra, with traffic limited to one-way at various times. Highway 40, closed by snow yesterday, was reopened today but with chains required and snow falling. In Blue Canyon near Donner Pass, the snow changed to rain—.94 of an inch of it in the 24 hours to 8 a.m.

JFK Praises Pope John's Peace Message

Learning To Talk Language Of Progress

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — President John F. Kennedy praised Pope John XXIII's encyclical on peace today, and said that "We are learning to talk a language of progress and peace across the barriers of sect and creed."

"It seems reasonable to hope," Kennedy said, "that a similar process may be taking place across the quite different barriers of the higher learning."

CATHOLIC COLLEGE

The forum for Kennedy's prepared address was an academic convocation at Boston College, which is commemorating its 100th anniversary. It was his first speech at a Roman Catholic college since he became president.

Kennedy said his hopes for the future of higher learning are much encouraged by a careful reading of the Pope's encyclical, Pacem in Terris—Peace on Earth.

In his first public comment on the document, which appealed to all men of good will to join the search for peace, Kennedy said:

'GREAT PROBLEMS'

"In its penetrating analysis of today's great problems—of social welfare and human rights—of disarmament, international order and peace—that document surely shows that on the basis of one great faith and its tradition there can be developed counsel on public affairs that is of value to all men and women of good will.

"As a Catholic I am proud of it, and as an American I have learned from it. It only adds to the impact of this message that it closely matches notable expressions of conviction and aspiration from churchmen of other faiths—as in recent documents of the world Council of Churches — and from outstanding world citizens with no ecclesiastical standing."

Kennedy told the audience he wanted to impress upon it as urgently as possible the growing and insistent importance of universities in the nation's life.

The president's own program to promote federal aid for higher education and education in general still is tied up in legislative tangles on Capitol Hill.

The president said that the new realities of our day intensified the focal role of a university in at least four ways. And in the first he spoke of more attention to neighboring Canada.

How Green Is The Fountain

As if Marin weren't green enough, what with all the rain, the fountain in Sausalito's Vina del Mar Plaza was playing emerald suds today.

Sausalito police said apparently someone put a marine dye marker in the fountain.

A resident reported the green cascade as "simply beautiful." The park caretaker, who has to clean the green off the tile, might have a different view.

New Debris In Tragedy Of Sub

Charred In Rush Of Flame

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (UPI) —Some debris believed from the sunken submarine Thresher was charred in "a rush of flame," a naval court of inquiry was told today.

Fred L. Downs, a chemist at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard where the submarine was built, testified about tests he made on additional debris picked up in the Atlantic where the Thresher sank April 10 with a loss of 129 men.

The latest debris which included what appeared to be parts of a life jacket was turned over to the naval court investigating the sea tragedy.

Downs said he could not be certain the debris was from the Thresher because material of that type was carried on other submarines.

The debris was mostly bits of plastic and a pad-size chunk of a silky filling which gives life jackets buoyancy.

Describing a piece of plastic, Downs said, "There was a rush of flame against it, causing a charring effect."

He offered no theory as to the origin or the extent of the "flame."

Downs said he made three tests on the plastic — impact, tear effect and compression—but was unable to determine how the edges were torn or broken or charred.

I-J MAGAZINE TODAY FEATURES SPECIAL AUTO SHOW EDITION

It is filled with articles, photographs and information about many of the 1963 car models to be shown for one week starting tonight by individual dealers in the county during their mid-season automobile display.

Merrold Campbell, president of the Marin County Automobile Dealers Assn., has announced all Marin showrooms plan to remain open tomorrow, but thereafter will revert to Sunday closings.

Most dealers will also be open tonight and during evening hours throughout the week. Many of them have planned special events for the show.

Convict Confesses Slaying For Buddy

"I'm the one. It's not my buddy."

This statement by a San Quentin Prison inmate could result in his trading places with another inmate now on Death Row, who faces execution for taking part in a prison murder Dec. 12, 1961.

San Rafael Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety announced yesterday that Robert Gene Glover, 31, told him after extensive questioning that he was the one who took part in the prison killing of Abel A. Nevarez, another inmate. Robert B. Dorado, 27, of Los Angeles is waiting execution for the death.

Garety disclosed Glover's "confession" was made March 12 but held secret. Garety said further investigation is still in progress, but he is "highly skeptical" of the confession.

"I believe this is an attempt to create confusion to get Dorado off the row. But in a matter this serious, these new developments will be investigated."

The case already is confused enough due to an old statute on the state criminal code which makes the death sentence mandatory for any lifetermer convicted of assault. Dorado was convicted of holding Nevarez in the killing.

The inmate accused of doing the murder was Alfred J. Jiminez, 26, a Los Angeles robber. He was convicted in an earlier trial, but a re-trial ended in a hung jury and the charge was dismissed.

Garety said Glover, sentenced for robbery, escape and sex perversion, was questioned closely after he was named as the guilty man by another inmate, Alvin Thompson Jr., an Alameda car thief.

Thompson has since changed his story, saying Glover did not do it. This fact and the fact that Glover and Dorado are very close friends, makes Garety doubt Glover's statement.

Duty Officer J. R. O'Brien, prison classification and parole representative, said today that there has been no change on Death Row. Dorado will stay there until there is some action by the court or some definite information revealed by investigations.

$3,000 Loot Recovered By San Rafael Police

San Rafael police yesterday recovered nearly $3,000 in automobile parts which a young Richmond couple allegedly stole from DeLong Chevrolet Inc., at 550 Francisco Boulevard, on April 14.

Officer Thomas Cheetham said Gary Eber Horst, 23, and his wife, Barbara, confessed to entering the parts department of DeLong's by breaking a window and taking spark plugs, steering wheels, cam shafts, cylinder heads and other accessories.

The Horsts are on trial in Alameda County Superior Court for burglary of an East Bay Chevrolet firm, Cheetham said.

Cheetham tracked the couple on a tip given by fellow police Officer Gilbert Freitas. Freitas questioned the couple at 2:30 a.m. on April 14 when he noticed them driving in the vicinity of Delong's.

Freitas took their names and license number of their car after they told him they were looking for an apartment to rent. Cheetham sent out a police bulletin for check on the pair.

The answer came from Albany Police Chief Ralph Jensen that the couple was on trial for a similar crime. Cheetham questioned the couple, who are free on bail, and recovered the parts hidden in a shack behind a home in El Sobrante.

Auto Insurance Rates Going Up For The Girls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Insurance rates on unmarried female auto drivers under 25 have been boosted 15 per cent by two big companies because, as one spokesman said, girls "aren't as safe as we thought they were."

Rates in the same category for boys are 100 per cent or more higher than those for adults. This has been the case for some time but rates for girls had been the same as those for a husband and wife.

A spokesman for State Farm Mutual, explaining why his company has put in the new increases, said:

$3,000 Loot Recovered By San Rafael Police

San Rafael police yesterday recovered nearly $3,000 in automobile parts which a young Richmond couple allegedly stole from DeLong Chevrolet Inc., at 550 Francisco Boulevard, on April 14.

Officer Thomas Cheetham said Gary Eber Horst, 23, and his wife, Barbara, confessed to entering the parts department of DeLong's by breaking a window and taking spark plugs, steering wheels, cam shafts, cylinder heads and other accessories.

The Horsts are on trial in Alameda County Superior Court for burglary of an East Bay Chevrolet firm, Cheetham said.

Cheetham tracked the couple on a tip given by fellow police Officer Gilbert Freitas. Freitas questioned the couple at 2:30 a.m. on April 14 when he noticed them driving in the vicinity of Delong's.

Freitas took their names and license number of their car after they told him they were looking for an apartment to rent. Cheetham sent out a police bulletin for check on the pair.

The answer came from Albany Police Chief Ralph Jensen that the couple was on trial for a similar crime. Cheetham questioned the couple, who are free on bail, and recovered the parts hidden in a shack behind a home in El Sobrante.

TOKYO (AP) — Mount Mihara, an active volcano on Izu-Oshima Island, 70 miles southwest of here, erupted today, spewing smoke 1,500 feet up, the Central Meteorological Agency said.

Auto Insurance Rates Going Up For The Girls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Insurance rates on unmarried female auto drivers under 25 have been boosted 15 per cent by two big companies because, as one spokesman said, girls "aren't as safe as we thought they were."

Rates in the same category for boys are 100 per cent or more higher than those for adults. This has been the case for some time but rates for girls had been the same as those for a husband and wife.

A spokesman for State Farm Mutual, explaining why his company has put in the new increases, said:

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Rockefeller Linked To Divorcee

Mrs. Murphy

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Margaretta Fitler Murphy divorced Dr. James S. Murphy in Sun Valley, Idaho, two weeks ago, an attorney for Murphy announced yesterday.

News columns have linked Mrs. Murphy, 35, with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. The Murphys are friends of the governor and have a home in Pocantico Hills, near Tarryton, N. Y., on property adjoining the Rockefeller estate.

Dr. Murphy, 40 is an associate in virology and medicine at the Rockefeller Institute.

Rockefeller

A story in today's New York Mirror quoted an unidentified Rockefeller family friend as saying: "Ten days after the governor signs all the bills left from the legislative session, they will marry. It will be a quiet affair and they will honeymoon at his ranch in Venezuela, I hear."

Robert McManus, the governor's press secretary, said: "On behalf of the governor, I say there is no comment."

Murphy's lawyer, Vincent J. Malone, said "irreconcilable differences" has arisen between the couple, who were married Dec. 11, 1948, in Philadelphia. The Murphys have five children.

President Of Yale Dies At 56

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A. Whitney Griswold, a lean, dedicated Yankee who brought a new look at the Yale University campus during his 13 years as president is dead at 56.

Griswold

Griswold, a champion of academic freedom, liberal arts, modern architecture and higher pay for teachers ,died at his home yesterday of cancer.

He graduated from Yale in 1929, received his doctorate there in 1933 and taught history at Yale until he was tapped for the presidency in 1950.

Griswold was an outspoken critic of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and once referred to "McCarthyism" as uninformed vigilance; the watchful eye in the empty head."

Although he was often in the thick of controversies, Griswold was able to marshal alumni support for a massive construction program in which 75 million dollars worth of buildings were begun.

Insect Spray Kills

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI) — An autopsy showed yesterday that a phosphorous poison used in agricultural insect sprays killed three children of the Hermenio Vega family and hospitalized six others.

Dr. H. W. Whigham of McAllen performed autopsies on the bodies of the three children who died Thursday. A report on laboratory tests of food and water found in the Vega home was expected to be completed Monday.

The insecticide apparently got into a container of water at the Vega home. The water was used by Mrs. Vega to mix a powdered soft drink and to make formula for an infant.

Bomb Suspect Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A tanned, crew-cut Army captain was free on $2,500 bail today on charges he mailed the bomb that caused a window-shattering explosion in the mail facility at San Francisco Airport last month.

The government, in a federal complaint filed here yesterday, says Capt. Alvin Klein, 30, mailed the explosive March 15 from Saigon to his wife, 28, in Chicago "with intent to do injury."

Instead, the package went off with a blinding flash Marsh 18, injuring two postal employees and shattering 10 windows.

Bad Insurance Year

MENLO PARK (AP)—Last year was a bad one for the insurance industry, James S. Kemper told stockholders of the Sequoia Insurance Co. at their annual meeting here yesterday.

"Fire losses reached an all-time record and many of them evidenced arson," Kemper told Sequoia stockholders. "Employee dishonesty losses and burglary were up, all of which evidenced a lowering of moral standards."

Death On Nimitz

OAKLAND (AP)—A man tentatively identified by the highway patrol as Roy C. Allen, about 35, of Oakland, was killed by a car while walking across the Nimitz Freeway today.

Patrolmen said Allen's car ran out of gas and he set out to get some.

Kidney Transplant Fail

BOSTON (UPI)—A complex chemical procedure today was keeping a 15-year-old California boy alive following removal of a kidney transplanted from his father eight days ago.

Dr. F. Lloyd Mussells, director of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, said yesterday that Kenneth Dovie of Cupertino may undergo another kidney transplant later if his condition permits.

Kenneth suffers from an incurable disease of both kidneys.

Show Goes On

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — The show went on as usual last night at the Shrine Circus 24 hours after the show's star, "Miss Rietta" plunged to her death.

The aerialist, whose real name was Mrs. Henrietta Grotefent, fell from a 50-foot, swaying fiberglass pole Thursday night before 4,666 spectators.

At Lewiston, Me, Karl Wallenda, patriarch of the famed Flying Wallendas troupe, said Yetta was "the best in the business."

JFK Denies Ever Promising Second Invasion Of Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy has denied ever promising a U.S. invasion of Cuba and has ruled out that kind of venture now.

"It would be a mistake," he said.

But "time will see Cuba free again," the president told the American Society of Newspaper Editors yesterday, "and I think when that happens the record will show that the United States has played a significant role."

The president also ruled out another kind of venture: an administration onslaught against the steel industry for raising prices last week.

Kennedy described the boosts as selected price increases that were "responsive to market situations."

"It represents, really, about a 1 per cent price increase for steel products which restores, really, the 1 per cent that has been lost since 1959 in the price of steel, Kennedy told the editors.

But the president said he was concerned about the psychological effect of the increase and hoped steel-using manufacturers would absorb the new costs and not pass them on to the public.

But the editors, while curious whether the country would see a repeat of the Kennedy-steel battle of last year, seemed more concerned about Cuba than steel prices. At least, the bulk of their questions touched on the Communist state of Fidel Castro.

Kennedy was asked to comment on the accusation by Cuban refugee leader Jose Miro Cardona that Kennedy had reneged on a promise to invade Cuba.

"Nobody in the United States government ever informed anyone in the government or outside the government, Dr. Cardona or anyone else, that we were going to launch, committed ourselves to launch, a military invasion with six divisions," the president said.

Kennedy said "the United States cannot launch itself into a massive invasion of Cuba without considering the worldwide implications to other free countries and also its effect upon our own position."

But the president said he hoped the refugees did not see the present situation as "a struggle between the United States and the exiles.

"We want to work with Dr. Cardona and all other Cubans," Kennedy said, "but we must maintain the control of our policy here in the United States and here in Washington and will continue to do so."

The president rejected a suggestion by the Civil Rights Commission that the federal government cut off funds to Mississippi for failing to uphold the civil rights of its Negro residents.

"I don't have the power," the president said, "and I would think it would probably be unwise to give the president of the United States that kind of power because it could start in one state and for one reason or another it might be moved to another state which was not measuring up as the president would like to see it measure up in one way or another."

Ex-Mental Patient On Rampage Kills 3

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A 58-year old farm laborer, released from a mental hospital a week ago, killed three old friends on a shooting rampage yesterday before he was shot to death by sheriff's deputies.

Officers said that gun-wielder, Jose Rosacia, critically wounded a fourth man with his .38-caliber pistol. He came out of his house shooting and was dropped by deputies firing through a porch screen.

The unexplained outburst began at about 6 a.m. in the house shared by Rosacia and four other farm laborers at a truck garden just east of San Jose.

Officers said Rosacia suddenly opened fire and killed Julian Obania, 65, Mariano Mendozan, 62, and Mariano Ogbinar, 59. Lorenzo Negrillo, 56, was critically wounded but managed to flee.

Neighbors said Rosacia fired at six other persons before deputies arrived. Authorities said Rosacia had been released last week from Agnews State Hospital where he had committed

Teen-Age Problems On TV Show Monday

Scientist Helps Dough Development

R. G. Henika of 69 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, research scientist for Foremost Dairies, helped develop a new, whey-based product which speeds the condition of dough in leavened baking processes.

Henika and another scientist, N. E. Rogers, began working on the new product in 1954 in an Appleton, Wis., research laboratory. The product, recently getting a U. S. patent, is known as Reddi-Sponge.

Rec Meeting Canceled

Because director William Gordon is away on his honeymoon, the Larkspur-Corte Madera joint recreation commission canceled its meeting Thursday night, chairman Albert E. Kogler announced. The meeting is tentatively rescheduled for 8 p.m. next Thursday at Larkspur-Corte Madera school.

4 STEEL FIRMS RESCIND HIKES

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four steel companies have canceled some recent price increases in order to remain competitive with bigger producers, and two other firms plan to take similar action.

The four firms—Republic, Armco, Pittsburgh and Sharon—said they rescinded the prices yesterday because the two giants of the industry, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, would not follow suit.

Wheeling Steel Corp., which started the round of selective price boosts last week, indicated it probably would withdraw the $4.50 a ton increase it announced on steel plates April 9.

Laclede Steel Co., St. Louis, Mo., said it would drop prices $2 a ton Monday on all grades and sizes of carbon steel, drawn wire and hot-rolled wire rods.

The drawback in price hikes principally involved steel plates, which are used in shipbuilding, some defense work and other industries. Some plate steel is imported.

Market analysts had warned that the selective price increases announced by the steel companies this week would meet strong buyer resistance.

JFK Denies Ever Promising Second Invasion Of Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy has denied ever promising a U.S. invasion of Cuba and has ruled out that kind of venture now.

"It would be a mistake," he said.

But "time will see Cuba free again," the president told the American Society of Newspaper Editors yesterday, "and I think when that happens the record will show that the United States has played a significant role."

The president also ruled out another kind of venture: an administration onslaught against the steel industry for raising prices last week.

Kennedy described the boosts as selected price increases that were "responsive to market situations."

"It represents, really, about a 1 per cent price increase for steel products which restores, really, the 1 per cent that has been lost since 1959 in the price of steel, Kennedy told the editors.

But the president said he was concerned about the psychological effect of the increase and hoped steel-using manufacturers would absorb the new costs and not pass them on to the public.

But the editors, while curious whether the country would see a repeat of the Kennedy-steel battle of last year, seemed more concerned about Cuba than steel prices. At least, the bulk of their questions touched on the Communist state of Fidel Castro.

Kennedy was asked to comment on the accusation by Cuban refugee leader Jose Miro Cardona that Kennedy had reneged on a promise to invade Cuba.

"Nobody in the United States government ever informed anyone in the government or outside the government, Dr. Cardona or anyone else, that we were going to launch, committed ourselves to launch, a military invasion with six divisions," the president said.

Kennedy said "the United States cannot launch itself into a massive invasion of Cuba without considering the world-wide implications to other free countries and also its effect upon our own position."

But the president said he hoped the refugees did not see the present situation as "a struggle between the United States and the exiles.

"We want to work with Dr. Cardona and all other Cubans," Kennedy said, "but we must maintain the control of our policy here in the United States and here in Washington and will continue to do so."

The president rejected a suggestion by the Civil Rights Commission that the federal government cut off funds to Mississippi for failing to uphold the civil rights of its Negro residents.

"I don't have the power," the president said, "and I would think it would probably be unwise to give the president of the United States that kind of power because it could start in one state and for one reason or another it might be moved to another state which was not measuring up as the president would like to see it measure up in one way or another."

Ex-Mental Patient On Rampage Kills 3

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A 58-year old farm laborer, released from a mental hospital a week ago, killed three old friends on a shooting rampage yesterday before he was shot to death by sheriff's deputies.

Officers said that gun-wielder, Jose Rosacia, critically wounded a fourth man with his .38-caliber pistol. He came out of his house shooting and was dropped by deputies firing through a porch screen.

The unexplained outburst began at about 6 a.m. in the house shared by Rosacia and four other farm laborers at a truck garden just east of San Jose.

Officers said Rosacia suddenly opened fire and killed Julian Obania, 65, Mariano Mendozan, 62, and Mariano Ogbinar, 59. Lorenzo Negrillo, 56, was critically wounded but managed to flee.

Neighbors said Rosacia fired at six other persons before deputies arrived. Authorities said Rosacia had been released last week from Agnews State Hospital where he had committed

Teen-Age Problems On TV Show Monday

Dr. Samuel Le Count, school psychologist for the College of Marin, will be one of the four experts when the teen-age problem is discussed on "Speak Out," to be seen at 10:30 p.m. Monday on KRON-TV (Channel 4).

Other panelists are Dr. George Devos, assistant professor of the School of Social Welfare at University of California in Berkeley; L. T. Lewis of the youth and student office of the California State Employment Service, and Arthur Hodgdon of the Navy recruiting office on Treasure Island.

Scientist Helps Dough Development

R. G. Henika of 69 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, research scientist for Foremost Dairies, helped develop a new, whey-based product which speeds the condition of dough in leavened baking processes.

Henika and another scientist, N. E. Rogers, began working on the new product in 1954 in an Appleton, Wis., research laboratory. The product, recently getting a U. S. patent, is known as Reddi-Sponge.

Rec Meeting Canceled

Because director William Gordon is away on his honeymoon, the Larkspur-Corte Madera joint recreation commission canceled its meeting Thursday night, chairman Albert E. Kogler announced. The meeting is tentatively rescheduled for 8 p.m. next Thursday at Larkspur-Corte Madera school.

4 STEEL FIRMS RESCIND HIKES

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four steel companies have canceled some recent price increases in order to remain competitive with bigger producers, and two other firms plan to take similar action.

The four firms—Republic, Armco, Pittsburgh and Sharon—said they rescinded the prices yesterday because the two giants of the industry, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, would not follow suit.

Wheeling Steel Corp., which started the round of selective price boosts last week, indicated it probably would withdraw the $4.50 a ton increase it announced on steel plates April 9.

Laclede Steel Co., St. Louis, Mo., said it would drop prices $2 a ton Monday on all grades and sizes of carbon steel, drawn wire and hot-rolled wire rods.

The drawback in price hikes principally involved steel plates, which are used in shipbuilding, some defense work and other industries. Some plate steel is imported.

Market analysts had warned that the selective price increases announced by the steel companies this week would meet strong buyer resistance.

Rec Commission Would Set Aside Court Funds

Sausalito recreation commissioners Thursday night proposed to set aside $1,900 in the 1963-64 budget to convert five substandard tennis courts to four standard ones at Richardson Bay School.

Also proposed is $250 for off-street parking at Cloud View Park and between $150 and $250 for a new slide at Cazneau Avenue playground.

Commissioners discussed possibility of a .22-caliber shooting range on city property west of Highway 101 above Spring Street, and recommended to city council removal of two private fences on either side of the Valley Street beach. The fences are on city property, commissioner James E. Muldoon said, and removal would give the public access to the entire city beach area.

Motor Vehicle Fees Received In County

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—State Controller Alan Cranston announced today $94,084,832 has been distributed to the 58 counties and 382 cities as their respective shares of state-collected motor vehicle license fees.

Marin County received $439,440 in the distribution and its cities $371,812. This included $92,550 for San Rafael.

Cranston said the total apportionment represented 75 per cent of the vehicle license fees which the state estimates it will receive during the six-month period ending May 31. The balance of the actual amounts for the period will be paid in June. The distribution was up 9.6 per cent from a year ago.

Distributions to other Marin County cities included: Belvedere, $8,283; Corte Madera, $24,680; Fairfax, $22,416; Larkspur, $25,355; Mill Valley, $42,419; Novato, $78,282; Ross, $9,837; San Anselmo, $47,432; and Sausalito, $20,558.

Booked As Drunk After Car Crash

Bank executive Richard Alan Hankerson, 32, of 113 Whittier Street, San Rafael, was booked into San Francisco city jail yesterday on suspicion of drunken driving after he was slightly injured in an accident in San Francisco, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Hankerson's station wagon ran into the rear of a sedan driven by Edna Louise Monaco, 58, of San Francisco, southbound on Park Presidio Drive north of the Funston Tunnel at about 11:15 p.m.

Car Disappears, Then Reappears

A 1963 pink and black sports car, which vanished from Juanita's Galley parking lot, was returned to the same spot just as mysteriously Thursday.

The owner, Robert Dean Gaudinier, 19, of Los Gatos, who lives at the Galley, looked out the window about 2 a.m. and found the car was gone. He notified sheriff's deputies.

About seven hours later, Gaudinier looked out and saw the car in place. He told officers the vehicle was muddy but otherwise undamaged.

Retired Navy Man Hurt In Stairs Fall

Retired Navy Chief Frederick Gluck, 54, of 221 Norton Avenue, Black Point, was hospitalized Thursday with injuries suffered when he dropped about 15 feet down a stairwell at his home.

A neighbor, Wilfred Kauffman of 275 Norton Avenue, noticed Gluck bleeding and staggering in front of the home about 1 p.m. and took him to Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital. Doctors administered emergency treatment and transferred him to Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Sheriff's Deputy Thomas A. Lightfoot and Sgt. Edward Mythaler said there was no handrailing at the head of the stairwell near the second floor bedroom.

Two Hub Boys Cited For Thefts

Two 15-year-old San Anselmo youths have been cited by police for burglary and receiving about $300 worth of electronic equipment stolen from Klein TV and Electronics store at 729 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Three burglaries were committed by entering an unlocked rear window, one of the youths told San Anselmo police.

The youths were questioned by police Wednesday afternoon after a San Anselmo man, who had bought one of the items from the youths without knowing it had been stolen, went to the store to have it repaired.

Sonoma Savings Branch Denied

Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn. of San Anselmo has been denied a state permit for a branch office in the city of Sonoma.

Announcement of the denial came from James M. Laurent, Francisco for the State Division of Savings and Loan. He said the San Anselmo firm had not established a need for a branch in the area.

Applications by Redwood Empire Savings and Loan Assn. of Petaluma and Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Assn to operate branches in Sonoma, and an application for approval of articles of incorporation by Sonoma Savings and Loan Assn. also were denied.

Oakland Youth Hurt In Bridge Accident

John Albert Philes, 16, of Oakland was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut upper lip Thursday night after his car hit the railing of the San Rafael-Richmond Mridge, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The youth told CHP officers that while he was westbound about 8:15 p.m. another car suddenly passed him on the right side, crowding his 1960 Thunderbird into the railing.

Penney Planning Huge New Store

MOUNTAIN VIEW — J. C. Penney Co. has announced it will soon construct its largest suburban store here.

In announcing the new facility, Penney's said the new store will offer traditional Penney merchandise, but in addition will include lines of furniture, appliances, hi-fi equipment, sporting goods, tires and auto accessories.

The new facility will be part of a 10-million dollar shopping center at San Antonio and Alma streets, and will have 200,000 square feet on two levels, with parking space for 2,400 cars.

Officials of the company said they expect to open the store in the fall of 1964.

Vandals Damage Rugs, Upholstery In Auto

Official Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute Report:

PLYMOUTH WINS PERFORMANCE TEST. PLYMOUTH WINS GAS ECONOMY TEST.

It happened in the second big meeting of Ford Galaxie "500", Chevrolet Impala and Plymouth Fury at Riverside, Cal.—in a "Showdown" Plymouth asked for. The cars were all V-8s, comparably equipped. And Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute was there to conduct the competition and see to it that its strict rules were followed. When it was over, Plymouth had victories in almost every performance test, plus victory in the all-important economy run. Plymouth for '63 also has the only 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* in the tough Plymouth-Ford-Chevrolet league. See your dealer. Plymouth's on the move.

The 1963 issue, edited by senior Peter Carlson, contains short stories, poetry and critical essays from about 20 Drake students. The magazine also includes poems by English teacher Miss Tannette Jaloff, and physiology teacher Norman Goldstein, under the pseudonym of Swazo K. Frune.

Cultural Activities

A survey to determine which persons are interested in receiving information and participating in Bay Area cultural activities will soon be conducted by the San Francisco Symphony Foundation. The Arts Survey blank forms will be published in the Independent-Journal and other Bay Area daily newspapers, to be returned to the foundation.

Official Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute Report:
PLYMOUTH WINS PERFORMANCE TEST. PLYMOUTH WINS GAS ECONOMY TEST.
It happened in the second big meeting of Ford Galaxie "500", Chevrolet Impala and Plymouth Fury at Riverside, Cal.—In a "Showdown" Plymouth asked for. The cars were all V-8s, comparably equipped. And Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute was there to conduct the competition and see to it that its strict rules were followed. When it was over, Plymouth had victories in almost every performance test, plus victory in the all-important economy run. Plymouth for '63 also has the only 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* in the tough Plymouth-Ford-Chevrolet league. See your dealer. Plymouth's on the move.

Parents Have Chance ToLook At Marin Schools

Marin County parents will have the chance next week to see something more than report cards to show what their children have been doing in school.

It is Public Schools Week and most schools in the county have set up special "open houses" for the public.

In many cases there will be demonstrations and special programs. However, classroom visitations are the most common thing scheduled, with parents spending the evening in the class and meeting the teachers.

The program through the week is as follows:

MONDAY

There will be a talk by the superintendent and displays at San Clemente School, Larkspur district, at 7:30 p.m.; singing by a school choir at Pacheco School, San Jose district, at 7:30 p.m.; a science display at John McPhail School, San Rafael district, at 7:30 p.m., and an invitational dinner at Richardson Bay School, Sausalito district.

Classroom visits scheduled for 7 p.m. will be at Old Mill, Park, Strawberry and Tamalpais Valley schools in Mill Valley district; Oliver Hartzell and Gallinas schools, San Rafael district; Inverness School, West Marin district, and Hill Intermediate, Olive and West Novato schools, Novato district.

Classroom visits will be at 7:30 p.m. at Vallecito School, Dixie District; Deer Park and Central schools, Fairfax District; Wolfe Grade School, Kentfield District; Belvedere and Tiburon schools, Reed District; Sleepy Hollow and Yolanda schools, San Anselmo District; Marion School, Novato District; Larkspur-Corte Madera School, Larkspur District, and Sun Valley School, San Rafael District.

An 8 p.m. visit is scheduled at West Marin School.

TUESDAY

Ross School will present its spring concert at 7 p.m.; Neil Cummins School, Larkspur district, will have a talk by the superintendent and displays at 7:30 p.m.; Union School will have a science fair from 10 a.m. to noon and Tamalpais High School will have exhibits and dedication of a new science building at 7:30 p.m.

There will be 7 p.m. visits at Greenbrae School, Kentfield district, and Hill Intermediate school, Novato district.

There will be 7:30 p.m. visits at Mary Silveira and Santa Margarita schools, Novato district; Manor School, Fairfax district; Bel Aire School, Reed district; Wade Thomas and Hidden Valley, San Anselmo district; Meadow Park School, San Jose district; Davidson and Santa Venetia schools, San Rafael district, and Central School, Sausalito district.

Programs showing the special education for handicapped will be at 7:30 p.m. at Marindale School and at 27 Meadow Drive, Mill Valley; 1 Laurel Place, San Rafael, and 71 Vendola Drive, San Rafael.

There will be an 8 p.m. visit at Bernard Hoffman School, Dixie district.

WEDNESDAY

There will be an aquarium and biology display at Bolinas School, Bolinas-Stinson district, at 7:30 p.m.; an art and science display at Henry Hall School, Larkspur district at 7 p.m.; classroom exhibits at Loma Verde School, San Jose district at 7:30 p.m.; exhibits on transportation and trips at San Quentin School, San Rafael district at 7:30 p.m.; a music program at Novato High School at 6 p.m. and a classroom exhibit at Sir Francis Drake High School at 7:30 p.m.

There will be classroom visits at 7 p.m. at Alto, Homestead and Marin Terrace Schools, Mill Valley district, and Short and Laurel Dell Primary schools, San Rafael district.

There will be 7:30 p.m. visits at Lucas Valley School, Dixie district; Wolfe Grade School, Kentfield district; Reed School, Reed district; Loma Verde School, San Jose district; Coleman, Laurel Dell Intermediate, San Pedro and West End schools, San Rafael district; Manzanita School, Sausalito district, and Tomales School in Tomales Bay district.

THURSDAY

There will be a closed circuit television and art demonstration at Don Timoteo School, Dixie district at 7:45 p.m.; programs in physical education, science and business education at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools at 7:30 p.m.; classroom exhibits at Redwood High School at 7:30 p.m., and career night at Tomales Joint Union High School at 7 p.m.

Visits at 1:30 p.m. will be at Nicasio and Point Reyes schools.

Classroom visits at 7 p.m. will be at Adeline E. Kent School, Kentfield district; Edna Maguire School, Mill Valley district, and Lu Sutton and Rancho schools, Novato district.

Visits at 7:30 p.m. will be Central School, Fairfax district; Stinson School, Bolinas-Stinson district; Lagunitas School, Bayside School, Sausalito district; Del Mar School, Reed district, and Brookside and Isabel Cook schools, San Anselmo district.

An 8 p.m. visit will be held at San Jose Intermediate School.

FRIDAY

There will be 1 p.m. visits at Marshall School, Tomales Bay district, and at Lincoln School, Hicks Valley Road (North Marin).

OTHER PROGRAMS

Laguna School on Chileno Valley Road (North Marin) has no formal program but parents are welcome to visit throughout the week.

Lynwood School in San Jose district will have an art display and Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting at 7 p.m., May 2.

College of Marin will have no program during the week, but has scheduled an open house from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., May 11. The program will include a band concert.

Few Zone Changes Requested In Plan

Relatively few requests for zoning changes characterized last night's first public hearing of the Corte Madera Planning Commission on the revised town general plan.

At the end of the two and one-half hour hearing, the commission outlined seven items it would study before the second hearing at 7:30 p.m. April 29.

They are:

1. The request of Vernon Humber, part owner of 80 acres east of Highway 101, for additional commercial zoning next to the location shown for a rapid transit station.
2. A proposal by Caesar A. Arrendondo, representing Dominic Muzzi, to wait until the next hearing before settling zoning of the tidelands area when he will be ready to submit a plan for zoning.
3. Requests for commercial and apartment zoning in the Fifer Industrial Park.
4. Some type of low density development on 60 acres west of Corte Madera Avenue.
5. The traffic circulation problem on Lakeside Drive and the realignment of Corte Madera Avenue.
6. Traffic circulation adjacent to Highway 101 in the Paradise Drive area with the possibility of an off-ramp from Highway 101.
7. Solution of the Larkspur corridor problem, which bounds the north boundary of Madera Gardens.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow suggested the plan show locations of two new firehouses in the industrial area of the marshlands and south of Tamalpais Drive extension.

Humber, in proposing more commercial zoning for his property, said the five and one-half acres shown was not enough to attract "class A type stores." He asked for a minimum of 10 to 15 acres zoned commercial.

He also said it was "unrealistic" to surround the rapid transit station, shown adjacent to the present railroad tracks north of the extension of Tamalpais Drive, by industrial zoning.

Arredondo said he would propose that the marshlands "be settled with a multiple type of zoning" out to the route shown for the tidelands freeway. The area is designated on the plan for an industrial park.

Jack Davis of Livingston and Blayney, town planning consultants, said the plan was designed to serve a population of 13,000 expected by 1980.

Commissioners Felix Pioli and Harold B. Wagstaff were absent.

30 Attorneys At Conference

Legal questions confronting Marin County attorneys were highlighted yesterday in an informal workshop attended by about 30 lawyers from seven Northern California counties and representatives of the State Bar Board of Governors at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

Howard K. Morehouse of San Rafael, secretary of the Marin County Bar Assn., said the round-robin discussion among members of the local bar and the seven board members was organized to provide an "interchange of information on current legal questions.

The importance of the "Rule of Law" was stressed and the attorneys discussed the problem of creating greater awareness of the responsibilities placed on the legal profession.

News Rack Stolen

Theft of a Chronicle newspaper rack, valued at $18, with $2 in change in it was reported yesterday to Sheriff's deputies by Felix LaRue of 201 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley. LaRue, a newspaper distributor, said the theft occurred between 5:30 a.m. Wednesday and 4:30 a.m. Thursday. The rack was chained to a "No Parking" sign on the south side of the Marin City bus stop. Both were missing.

Mill Valley, Corte Madera Agreement

Corte Madera town planners agreed last night that there is no incompatability between the town's plan for zoning the north ridge next to Mill Valley and a plan unfolded by John D. Erickson, Mill Valley planning consultant.

Erickson proposed a density of about one and three-fourths dwellings per acre. Thirteen per cent of the ridge lying inside Mill Valley was set aside for street development and 3.8 acres for parks.

Erickson said that lands between the two cities which form a zig-zag buffer between Corte Madera and Mill Valley would probably be zoned for 15,000 and 20,000 square foot lots under the county's new green belt zoning district.

He said in Mill Valley his recommendations would also call for 60,000 and 100,000 square foot lots.

C. W. Thomas, planning commission chairman, pointed out that the proposed Corte Madera General Plan called for a similar green belt zoning on the lands bounding the county and Mill Valley.

Commissioners agreed with Thomas's statement that there is "no particular incompatability" in the plans.

Bay Council Re-Elects Enemark

Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president of Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, was reelected last night as Marin County vice president of the Bay Area Council.

Eight other Marin residents were named at the council's annual dinner meeting in San Francisco to serve on the board of governors of the nine-county group. They are:

San Rafael To Sue For Land

The San Rafael City Council yesterday authorized filing of condemnation suits to gain possession of 11 parcels of land for easements needed for sewer and slope improvements in the Chula Vista Assessment District.

The parcels are owned by developer R. E. Nolan and Dr. L. J. Kirkhoff. Attorney Edwin Ness told councilmen that agreements for easements had been entered into with the owners of about 22 other parcels.

Nolan protested to councilmen that the easements would ruin some of his lots for development and that he would not benefit from the district. Ness and engineer Warren Nute will meet with Nolan Monday to seek a solution.

The council also accepted eight quit-claim deeds from tenants of Montecito Shopping Center which will clear the way for widening of Third Street between Grand Avenue and Mary Street.

Novato Closed Meet Canceled By Council

The Novato City Council canceled a scheduled closed meeting last night because Councilman John Angeloni was ill at home and unable to attend.

Mayor M. E. Silva, who called the meeting, today would not specify what matter prompted the call or required full attendance of the council. He said the city has held examinations for appointments of a police clerk, public works secretary and junior engineer, and there is an appointment to be made to the planning commission, all of which might be subject to closed discussion.

To a suggestion that none of these seemed to require a special meeting and that there might be other matters of concern, he replied, "Maybe yes, maybe no."

Silva remarked, "I am very close to the city hall and see what goes on there more than the other councilmen do." (His home is across the street from the rear of the temporary city hall on Grant Avenue.)

Four councilmen appeared at the city hall at 8:10 p.m., and on learning Angeloni could not attend, adjourned 10 minutes later.

Former Marin Resident Missing On Light Plane

Mrs. Beryle Powell, about 30, a former resident of San Anselmo, is one of four persons missing on a light plane which left Long Beach a week ago today and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Powell, who worked as an interior decorator during her four-year residency in Marin, moved to Turlock, Stanislaus County, a year ago. She has been working in the office of Dr. Dwight F. Coalson, owner and pilot of the plane.

Also in the plane were the doctor's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Casebeer of North Highlands, Sacramento County. The four were returning from Long Beach after a Seventh-Day Adventist meeting. They were believed to be flying to Modesto where Dr. Coalson had his office.

Ground crews have searched the Mojave Desert and aerial searches have been conducted over the snow-covered Tehachapi Mountains. A Civil Air Patrol search yesterday had to be called off because of air turbulence.

Two Win Firsts In Bard Contest

Senior Peter Liederman and junior Deborah Ross won first for boys and girls, respectively in the second annual Shakespeare contest of Tamalpais High School last night in the school's Ruby Scott auditorium.

About 200 people attended to watch 12 contestants perform various roles from the Bard of Avon's plays. Young Liederman portrayed Richard II. Miss Ross played the part of Amelia, maid of Desdemona in "Othello."

Second place winners were Richard Gilliam for boys and Mary Watters for girls; third places, Guy Howard for boys and Lurette Mattson for girls. All the winners except young Liederman are juniors.

Drunken Drivers Are Sentenced

One drunken driver drew a jail term and another was fined Thursday in Marn Municipal Court.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson sentenced Hugh Robert Dealy, 53, of 925 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, to 15 days in Marin County Jail. Dealy was arrested for drunken driving on Highway 101 last March 18.

Elva Dell Garziola, 39, of 489 Gage Lane, Novato, drew $166 fine and six months probation. She was arrested on Tamalpais Avenue in Corte Madera on April 2.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Ruth Chamberlain Dies At 56

MRS. RUTH F. CHAMBERLAIN
Memorial services tomorrow

Mrs. Ruth Field Chamberlain, 56, of 111 Upper Road, Ross, a member of many Marin County organizations, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Chamberlain, a native of Portland, Ore., was a resident of Marin County for 16 years. She was the wife of J. Boatner Chamberlain, senior trust officer of Pacific National Bank in San Francisco.

She was a former president of the Marin chapter of Pi Beta Phi, the sorority she was a member of while attending University of Oregon.

Mrs. Chamberlain was a member of the Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center, the San Francisco Garden Club, the Century Club of San Francisco, the Altar Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross, the Thursday Musical Club, the Ross Brookwood Guild of Sunny Hills, and the Artistic Council of the Marin Music Chest.

Besides her husband she is survived by a son, David Field Chamberlain of Larkspur, and a brother, Dr. J. Edward Field of Portland. A daughter, Mary D. Chamberlain, 17, was killed in an Oregon automobile accident in July, 1960.

Memorial services will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal Church, Ross. The family prefers that tributes be contributions for the memorial window of St. John's Church.

MRS. WAYMIRE

Mrs. Ida M. Waymire, 79, who moved with her husband from Oklahoma to San Rafael 10 days ago, died today in a local hospital after a short illness.

An autopsy was to be performed today by the Marin County coroner's office.

Mrs. Waymire, a native of Texas, is survived by her husband, Frank, a retired oil worker. They were living in San Rafael with a daughter, Mrs. Clara Vincent of 630 North San Pedro Road.

She is also survived by another daughter and two sons, Mamie Freeze of Oklahoma and Robert Waymire of Downey and Frank Waymire of New Mexico and two sisters, Laura Cochran and Ema Hayes of Oklahoma.

ADDIE SEVART

Mrs. Addie M. Sevart, 69, a resident of San Rafael for 10 years, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a short illness.

A native of Madisonville, Ohio, Mrs. Sevart moved to San Francisco in 1930, where she resided until 1953, when she came to San Rafael to share the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha S. Hubbell, 310 Jewel Street.

Mrs. Sevart was an active member of the Golden Gate Christian Church in San Francisco.

She is survived by her daughter in San Rafael; a son, Ivan Hubbard of Redwood City and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Maneely-Mathews Funeral Chapel, Divisadero and O'Farrell streets, San Francisco. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The family prefers that tributes be memorial contributions to Golden Cate Christian Church.

AUGUST DALIN

August Dalin of 18 Olive Road, Ross, a 55-year resident of Marin County, died at a local rest home yesterday after an illness of 18 months. He was 95.

A native of Finland, he came to San Francisco at the age of about 35. He and a brother worked in a restaurant there until he moved to Ross in 1908 and took up carpentry. He built the family home in Ross. It was one of his first jobs.

He had always been self-employed, getting carpentry jobs throughout the county until his retirement several years ago.

His wife, Bertha Dalin, died two years ago.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Leonard (Edith) Young of Corte Madera. He was a member of Star of Finland, San Francisco.

Private family services were held today at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

THOMAS PENRY

Funeral services for Thomas J. Penry, 68, of Santa Rosa, father of Mrs. Evelyn Irwin of San Rafael, were scheduled this afternoon in Santa Rosa.

Penry died Wednesday in a Santa Rosa hospital. He had been ill for several years.

He was a rancher at Healdsburg before moving to Santa Rosa 12 years ago. He was born in Montana.

Surviving are his wife, Gaile; 10 sons, B. D. Penry of Alexander Valley, Sonoma County; Thomas Penry of Napa; William and Douglas Penry of Healdsburg; Neal Penry of Pennsylvania; Vernon, David K. and Cyrenus Penry and John Cottier of Santa Rosa, and Charles Cottier of Vallejo; two daughters, Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Gaile Lewis of Oregon; his stepmother, Mrs. Florence Penry of Healdsburg; two brothers, George Penry of Canoga Park, Los Angeles County, and Samuel Penry of Oregon, and numerous grandchildren.

Few Zone Changes Requested In Plan

Relatively few requests for zoning changes characterized last night's first public hearing of the Corte Madera Planning Commission on the revised town general plan.

At the end of the two and one-half hour hearing, the commission outlined seven items it would study before the second hearing at 7:30 p.m. April 29.

They are:

1. The request of Vernon Humber, part owner of 80 acres east of Highway 101, for additional commercial zoning next to the location shown for a rapid transit station.
2. A proposal by Caesar A. Arrendondo, representing Dominic Muzzi, to wait until the next hearing before settling zoning of the tidelands area when he will be ready to submit a plan for zoning.
3. Requests for commercial and apartment zoning in the Fifer Industrial Park.
4. Some type of low density development on 60 acres west of Corte Madera Avenue.
5. The traffic circulation problem on Lakeside Drive and the realignment of Corte Madera Avenue.
6. Traffic circulation adjacent to Highway 101 in the Paradise Drive area with the possibility of an off-ramp from Highway 101.
7. Solution of the Larkspur corridor problem, which bounds the north boundary of Madera Gardens.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow suggested the plan show locations of two new firehouses in the industrial area of the marshlands and south of Tamalpais Drive extension.

Humber, in proposing more commercial zoning for his property, said the five and one-half acres shown was not enough to attract "class A type stores." He asked for a minimum of 10 to 15 acres zoned commercial.

He also said it was "unrealistic" to surround the rapid transit station, shown adjacent to the present railroad tracks north of the extension of Tamalpais Drive, by industrial zoning.

Arredondo said he would propose that the marshlands "be settled with a multiple type of zoning" out to the route shown for the tidelands freeway. The area is designated on the plan for an industrial park.

Jack Davis of Livingston and Blayney, town planning consultants, said the plan was designed to serve a population of 13,000 expected by 1980.

Commissioners Felix Pioli and Harold B. Wagstaff were absent.

Mill Valley, Corte Madera Agreement

Corte Madera town planners agreed last night that there is no incompatability between the town's plan for zoning the north ridge next to Mill Valley and a plan unfolded by John D. Erickson, Mill Valley planning consultant.

Erickson proposed a density of about one and three-fourths dwellings per acre. Thirteen per cent of the ridge lying inside Mill Valley was set aside for street development and 3.8 acres for parks.

Erickson said that lands between the two cities which form a zig-zag buffer between Corte Madera and Mill Valley would probably be zoned for 15,000 and 20,000 square foot lots under the county's new green belt zoning district.

He said in Mill Valley his recommendations would also call for 60,000 and 100,000 square foot lots.

C. W. Thomas, planning commission chairman, pointed out that the proposed Corte Madera General Plan called for a similar green belt zoning on the lands bounding the county and Mill Valley.

Commissioners agreed with Thomas's statement that there is "no particular incompatability" in the plans.

30 Attorneys At Conference

Legal questions confronting Marin County attorneys were highlighted yesterday in an informal workshop attended by about 30 lawyers from seven Northern California counties and representatives of the State Bar Board of Governors at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

Howard K. Morehouse of San Rafael, secretary of the Marin County Bar Assn., said the round-robin discussion among members of the local bar and the seven board members was organized to provide an "interchange of information on current legal questions.

The importance of the "Rule of Law" was stressed and the attorneys discussed the problem of creating greater awareness of the responsibilities placed on the legal profession.

News Rack Stolen

Theft of a Chronicle newspaper rack, valued at $18, with $2 in change in it was reported yesterday to Sheriff's deputies by Felix LaRue of 201 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley. LaRue, a newspaper distributor, said the theft occurred between 5:30 a.m. Wednesday and 4:30 a.m. Thursday. The rack was chained to a "No Parking" sign on the south side of the Marin City bus stop. Both were missing.

Bay Council Re-Elects Enemark

Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president of Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, was re-elected last night as Marin County vice president of the Bay Area Council.

Eight other Marin residents were named at the council's annual dinner meeting in San Francisco to serve on the board of governors of the nine-county group. They are:

San Rafael To Sue For Land

The San Rafael City Council yesterday authorized filing of condemnation suits to gain possession of 11 parcels of land for easements needed for sewer and slope improvements in the Chula Vista Assessment District.

The parcels are owned by developer R. E. Nolan and Dr. L. J. Kirkhoff. Attorney Edwin Ness told councilmen that agreements for easements had been entered into with the owners of about 22 other parcels.

Nolan protested to councilmen that the easements would ruin some of his lots for development and that he would not benefit from the district. Ness and engineer Warren Nute will meet with Nolan Monday to seek a solution.

The council also accepted eight quit-claim deeds from tenants of Montecito Shopping Center which will clear the way for widening of Third Street between Grand Avenue and Mary Street.

Novato Closed Meet Canceled By Council

The Novato City Council canceled a scheduled closed meeting last night because Councilman John Angeloni was ill at home and unable to attend.

Mayor M. E. Silva, who called the meeting, today would not specify what matter prompted the call or required full attendance of the council. He said the city has held examinations for appointments of a police clerk, public works secretary and junior engineer, and there is an appointment to be made to the planning commission, all of which might be subject to closed discussion.

To a suggestion that none of these seemed to require a special meeting and that there might be other matters of concern, he replied, "Maybe yes, maybe no."

Silva remarked, "I am very close to the city hall and see what goes on there more than the other councilmen do." (His home is across the street from the rear of the temporary city hall on Grant Avenue.)

Four councilmen appeared at the city hall at 8:10 p.m., and on learning Angeloni could not attend, adjourned 10 minutes later.

Former Marin Resident Missing On Light Plane

Mrs. Beryle Powell, about 30, a former resident of San Anselmo, is one of four persons missing on a light plane which left Long Beach a week ago today and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Powell, who worked as an interior decorator during her four-year residency in Marin, moved to Turlock, Stanislaus County, a year ago. She has been working in the office of Dr. Dwight F. Coalson, owner and pilot of the plane.

Also in the plane were the doctor's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Casebeer of North Highlands, Sacramento County. The four were returning from Long Beach after a Seventh-Day Adventist meeting. They were believed to be flying to Modesto where Dr. Coalson had his office.

Ground crews have searched the Mojave Desert and aerial searches have been conducted over the snow-covered Tehachapi Mountains. A Civil Air Patrol search yesterday had to be called off because of air turbulence.

Two Win Firsts In Bard Contest

Senior Peter Liederman and junior Deborah Ross won first for boys and girls, respectively in the second annual Shakespeare contest of Tamalpais High School last night in the school's Ruby Scott auditorium.

About 200 people attended to watch 12 contestants perform various roles from the Bard of Avon's plays. Young Liederman portrayed Richard II. Miss Ross played the part of Amelia, maid of Desdemona in "Othello."

Second place winners were Richard Gilliam for boys and Mary Watters for girls; third places, Guy Howard for boys and Lurette Mattson for girls. All the winners except young Liederman are juniors.

Drunken Drivers Are Sentenced

One drunken driver drew a jail term and another was fined Thursday in Marn Municipal Court.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson sentenced Hugh Robert Dealy, 53, of 925 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, to 15 days in Marin County Jail. Dealy was arrested for drunken driving on Highway 101 last March 18.

Elva Dell Garziola, 39, of 489 Gage Lane, Novato, drew $166 fine and six months probation. She was arrested on Tamalpais Avenue in Corte Madera on April 2.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Ruth Chamberlain Dies At 56

MRS. RUTH F. CHAMBERLAIN
Memorial services tomorrow

Mrs. Ruth Field Chamberlain, 56, of 111 Upper Road, Ross, a member of many Marin County organizations, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Chamberlain, a native of Portland, Ore., was a resident of Marin County for 16 years. She was the wife of J. Boatner Chamberlain, senior trust officer of Pacific National Bank in San Francisco.

She was a former president of the Marin chapter of Pi Beta Phi, the sorority she was a member of while attending University of Oregon.

Mrs. Chamberlain was a member of the Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center, the San Francisco Garden Club, the Century Club of San Francisco, the Altar Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross, the Thursday Musical Club, the Ross Brookwood Guild of Sunny Hills, and the Artistic Council of the Marin Music Chest.

Besides her husband she is survived by a son, David Field Chamberlain of Larkspur, and a brother, Dr. J. Edward Field of Portland. A daughter, Mary D. Chamberlain, 17, was killed in an Oregon automobile accident in July, 1960.

Memorial services will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal Church, Ross. The family prefers that tributes be contributions for the memorial window of St. John's Church.

MRS. WAYMIRE

Mrs. Ida M. Waymire, 79, who moved with her husband from Oklahoma to San Rafael 10 days ago, died today in a local hospital after a short illness.

An autopsy was to be performed today by the Marin County coroner's office.

Mrs. Waymire, a native of Texas, is survived by her husband, Frank, a retired oil worker. They were living in San Rafael with a daughter, Mrs. Clara Vincent of 630 North San Pedro Road.

She is also survived by another daughter and two sons, Mamie Freeze of Oklahoma and Robert Waymire of Downey and Frank Waymire of New Mexico and two sisters, Laura Cochran and Ema Hayes of Oklahoma.

ADDIE SEVART

Mrs. Addie M. Sevart, 69, a resident of San Rafael for 10 years, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a short illness.

A native of Madisonville, Ohio, Mrs. Sevart moved to San Francisco in 1930, where she resided until 1953, when she came to San Rafael to share the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha S. Hubbell, 310 Jewel Street.

Mrs. Sevart was an active member of the Golden Gate Christian Church in San Francisco.

She is survived by her daughter in San Rafael; a son, Ivan Hubbard of Redwood City and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Maneely-Mathews Funeral Chapel, Divisadero and O'Farrell streets, San Francisco. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The family prefers that tributes be memorial contributions to Golden Cate Christian Church.

AUGUST DALIN

August Dalin of 18 Olive Road, Ross, a 55-year resident of Marin County, died at a local rest home yesterday after an illness of 18 months. He was 95.

A native of Finland, he came to San Francisco at the age of about 35. He and a brother worked in a restaurant there until he moved to Ross in 1908 and took up carpentry. He built the family home in Ross. It was one of his first jobs.

He had always been self-employed, getting carpentry jobs throughout the county until his retirement several years ago.

His wife, Bertha Dalin, died two years ago.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Leonard (Edith) Young of Corte Madera. He was a member of Star of Finland, San Francisco.

Private family services were held today at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

THOMAS PENRY

Funeral services for Thomas J. Penry, 68, of Santa Rosa, father of Mrs. Evelyn Irwin of San Rafael, were scheduled this afternoon in Santa Rosa.

Penry died Wednesday in a Santa Rosa hospital. He had been ill for several years.

He was a rancher at Healdsburg before moving to Santa Rosa 12 years ago. He was born in Montana.

Surviving are his wife, Gaile; 10 sons, B. D. Penry of Alexander Valley, Sonoma County; Thomas Penry of Napa; William and Douglas Penry of Healdsburg; Neal Penry of Pennsylvania; Vernon, David K. and Cyrenus Penry and John Cottier of Santa Rosa, and Charles Cottier of Vallejo; two daughters, Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Gaile Lewis of Oregon; his stepmother, Mrs. Florence Penry of Healdsburg; two brothers, George Penry of Canoga Park, Los Angeles County, and Samuel Penry of Oregon, and numerous grandchildren.

What Is Going On At Marine Lab?

By CORENA GREEN

A small corner of the Tiburon Peninsula has more than its share of gadgets calculated to make the eyes of any boy from one to 100 gleam with envy.

It is the Tiburon Marine Laboratory at the old Naval Net Depot. Unfortunately the property is fenced and it is not easy to get through the naval security guard unless you have pertinent business.

Here is the home port of the miniature two-man submarine which can spy on the underwater doings of fish.

Here, too, is the latest addition, an airborne infra-red radiation, thermometer which is being used to measure and record Pacific coastal water temperatures. Such a record can provide detailed and continuous information on temperatures in relation to the abundance and distribution of marine game fish.

Since acquiring the instrument early this year, the laboratory has completed two airborne surveys extending from Cape Flattery, Wash., to Mexico. Temperatures ranged from 46 degrees at the Columbia River to 63 degrees in southern waters on the first trip, and about two degrees higher on the second trip. The plane flies near the shore at an elevation of from 800 to 1,000 feet and makes over 27,000 observations.

An infra-red electronic detector, which looks like a ray gun, is directed at the object to be measured. Inside is a plate which maintains a constant temperature of 120 degrees. A gold plated chopper similar to a meat chopper spins around, alternately covering and uncovering the lens. This permits the gun to alternately look at the water, then at the plate, comparing the heat radiation from the water to the known temperature of the plate. The result is recorded every two seconds on a continuous strip chart recorder.

The instrument records only temperatures of from 30 to 94 degrees. Similar instruments have much greater range which enables them to measure the temperature of speeding automobile tires or the speed of newspaper presses. Such an instrument can indicate the maximum temperature the presses can reach before the paper catches on fire. Such an instrument accompanied Mariner II into space and measured the surface temperature of the planet Venus.

While airborne, the gun is installed in the floor of the plane pointing downward at the water. An inverter attached to the plane battery steps up the electricity from 12 volts D.C. to 150 volts, 60 cycle A.C., or the equivalent of house current.

Between flights the instrument is tested and calibrated at the laboratory. A regular thermometer is dropped into the bay and the temperature compared to that recorded by the detector. When calibrating the instrument at the laboratory, the inverter is attached to the battery of an automobile.

Recently the detector was used to record the temperature of the Sacramento River. According to Gerald B. Talbot, director of the laboratory, it was a cold morning with water temperature about 51 degrees.

"Without looking, we could tell immediately when we were flying over a frost-covered bridge because the temperature dropped to freezing," he reported.

Also along the coast, Talbot says they can determine where the steam from the hydroelectric plants enters the ocean because of the sudden step up of the temperature.

The Tiburon Marine Laboratory is part of the United States Department of Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The plane will start another survey soon and results will be available to laboratories and anyone interested. Presumably those interested are commercial fishermen, sport fishermen and resort owners.

HE'S SPYING ON FISH—James L. Squire directs an infra-red electronic detector at the bay waters off the Tiburon Marine Laboratory. The instrument is used to measure surface temperatures of Pacific Coastal waters thereby providing information about the abundance and distribution of marine game fish. Sufficient power to operate the detector is provided by stepping up the power from an automobile battery through an inverter.

TEMPERATURE COMPARISON—An ordinary thermometer which has been suspended in the bay water is read by Gerald B. Talbot, director of the Tiburon Marine Laboratory. The reading will be compared with the reading on the infra-red electronic detector in order to calibrate the instrument. Monthly airborne surveys are being made by the laboratory and water temperature records released to laboratories and the public. (Independent-Journal photos)

Greiner Divorce Action Is Ended

Chatty Collier Greiner of Sleepy Hollow, daughter of the socially prominent Buster Colliers, has decided she doesn't want a divorce after all.

She appeared in Marin Superier Court Thursday and quietly withdrew the divorce complaint she had filed Monday against William LaSha Greiner, a civil engineer.

The young couple married on April 5, 1960, in a surprise elopement to Nevada. They met while they were students at Stanford University.

In Monday's complaint, Chatty Greiner charged her husband with "extreme cruelty" and "inflicting grievous mental suffering." Yesterday, she filed a brief statement asking the clerk of the court to dismiss the divorce complaint.

Ladder Taken

Paul Richards of 252 Almonte Avenue reported to Mill Valley police yesterday that someone stole an aluminum ladder and a 14-foot timber from his construction job at 156 Florence Avenue.

What Is Going On At Marine Lab?

By CORENA GREEN

A small corner of the Tiburon Peninsula has more than its share of gadgets calculated to make the eyes of any boy from one to 100 gleam with envy.

It is the Tiburon Marine Laboratory at the old Naval Net Depot. Unfortunately the property is fenced and it is not easy to get through the naval security guard unless you have pertinent business.

Here is the home port of the miniature two-man submarine which can spy on the underwater doings of fish.

Here, too, is the latest addition, an airborne infra-red radiation, thermometer which is being used to measure and record Pacific coastal water temperatures. Such a record can provide detailed and continuous information on temperatures in relation to the abundance and distribution of marine game fish.

Since acquiring the instrument early this year, the laboratory has completed two airborne surveys extending from Cape Flattery, Wash., to Mexico. Temperatures ranged from 46 degrees at the Columbia River to 63 degrees in southern waters on the first trip, and about two degrees higher on the second trip. The plane flies near the shore at an elevation of from 800 to 1,000 feet and makes over 27,000 observations.

An infra-red electronic detector, which looks like a ray gun, is directed at the object to be measured. Inside is a plate which maintains a constant temperature of 120 degrees. A gold plated chopper similar to a meat chopper spins around, alternately covering and uncovering the lens. This permits the gun to alternately look at the water, then at the plate, comparing the heat radiation from the water to the known temperature of the plate. The result is recorded every two seconds on a continuous strip chart recorder.

The instrument records only temperatures of from 30 to 94 degrees. Similar instruments have much greater range which enables them to measure the temperature of speeding automobile tires or the speed of newspaper presses. Such an instrument can indicate the maximum temperature the presses can reach before the paper catches on fire. Such an instrument accompanied Mariner II into space and measured the surface temperature of the planet Venus.

While airborne, the gun is installed in the floor of the plane pointing downward at the water. An inverter attached to the plane battery steps up the electricity from 12 volts D.C. to 150 volts, 60 cycle A.C., or the equivalent of house current.

Between flights the instrument is tested and calibrated at the laboratory. A regular thermometer is dropped into the bay and the temperature compared to that recorded by the detector. When calibrating the instrument at the laboratory, the inverter is attached to the battery of an automobile.

Recently the detector was used to record the temperature of the Sacramento River. According to Gerald B. Talbot, director of the laboratory, it was a cold morning with water temperature about 51 degrees.

"Without looking, we could tell immediately when we were flying over a frost-covered bridge because the temperature dropped to freezing," he reported.

Also along the coast, Talbot says they can determine where the steam from the hydroelectric plants enters the ocean because of the sudden step up of the temperature.

The Tiburon Marine Laboratory is part of the United States Department of Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The plane will start another survey soon and results will be available to laboratories and anyone interested. Presumably those interested are commercial fishermen, sport fishermen and resort owners.

HE'S SPYING ON FISH—James L. Squire directs an infra-red electronic detector at the bay waters off the Tiburon Marine Laboratory. The instrument is used to measure surface temperatures of Pacific Coastal waters thereby providing information about the abundance and distribution of marine game fish. Sufficient power to operate the detector is provided by stepping up the power from an automobile battery through an inverter.

TEMPERATURE COMPARISON—An ordinary thermometer which has been suspended in the bay water is read by Gerald B. Talbot, director of the Tiburon Marine Laboratory. The reading will be compared with the reading on the infra-red electronic detector in order to calibrate the instrument. Monthly airborne surveys are being made by the laboratory and water temperature records released to laboratories and the public. (Independent-Journal photos)

Greiner Divorce Action Is Ended

Chatty Collier Greiner of Sleepy Hollow, daughter of the socially prominent Buster Colliers, has decided she doesn't want a divorce after all.

She appeared in Marin Superier Court Thursday and quietly withdrew the divorce complaint she had filed Monday against William LaSha Greiner, a civil engineer.

The young couple married on April 5, 1960, in a surprise elopement to Nevada. They met while they were students at Stanford University.

In Monday's complaint, Chatty Greiner charged her husband with "extreme cruelty" and "inflicting grievous mental suffering." Yesterday, she filed a brief statement asking the clerk of the court to dismiss the divorce complaint.

Ladder Taken

Fortini Renamed To Shorthand Unit

Robert A. Fortini of 210 San Rafael Boulevard, Belvedere, has been reappointed to his third consecutive term on the Certified Shorthand Reporters Board by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Fortini, who is court reporter for Judge Emmet Daly of San Francisco Municipal Court, served as chief conference reporter for the United Nations in San Francisco in 1945 and the Strategic Bombing Survey made in Japan in the same year.

The appointments, which are for four years and pay $25 a day for each day of actual duty, require Senate confirmation.

Youth Joins Navy

Torrance Todd Barton, 17, son of Mrs. Nancy M. Barton of 881 Estancia Way, San Rafael, enlisted in the Navy last week and was sent to the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Put yourself in the South seat, I'll get up and let you play the hand. You win the first trick in dummy with the jack of hearts. What next?

DON'T PEEK

Don't peek at the East-West cards. You can't tell which opponent has the queen of spades. You don't know how the red suits are going to break.

As a practical player, however, you should guard yourself against the possibility that both red suits may break 4-2 and that the queen of spades may be in the East hand.

In other words, nothing good is going to happen—but neither do you have to fear any outrageous break.

STRANGE GAMBIT

As the cards lie, you can work out a topsy-turvy line of play that would work.

But there's only one correct way to play the hand if you can't see the missing cards.

At the second trick you must lead a low diamond from the dummy! This looks like a give-away, but chess players would recognize it as a gambit. You give up material to improve your position.

GOOD DEFENSE

Suppose the opponents win and return a club, as good a defense as any.

You win, lead a trump to dummy, and ruff a low diamond. There is no danger of an over-ruff if the diamonds break 3-3 or 4-2.

You have set up dummy's diamonds at the expense of only one trump, so you are not worried about a 4-2 trump break.

Now you can draw trumps, lead a spade to the king and run four diamond tricks to get rid of your losers.

Tea And Dinner In Kent Woodlands

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

At her Kent Woodlands home Mrs. Ludwig Dimpfl and her sister, Miss Eunice Kroger of San Francisco gave a tea Thursday for their grandmother, Mrs. Claus Hadeler of San Francisco to celebrate her 93rd birthday. That night a dinner attended by family members, was held at the Dimpfl home. About 25 guests were at each event. Mrs. Hadeler, who was born in Germany, was brought by her family to San Francisco when she was 14. It has been her home ever since. She lives with her daughter, Miss Louise Hadeler. Another daughter, Mrs. Bruno Gelbke of Concord, and a niece of Mrs. Hadeler, Mrs. J. C. Uhte of Fairfax, and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Ed Ericson of San Anselmo were others in the family group.

THE DANIEL ALLENS of Larkspur are giving a reception tomorrow afternoon honoring Donald B. Watt, founder of The Experiment in International Living. Special guests at the reception will be 30 young people who have traveled under the program as representatives of their schools and communities.

Under the auspices of the Experiment, 2500 foreign students will spend one month in American homes this summer, and 1600 young Americans will travel to 30 different countries in July and August.

Watt's visit to the Bay Area marks the 30th anniversary of the founding of the organization which pioneered in the field of educational travel.

A SURPRISE BRIDAL SHOWER was given for Martha George, fiancee of Robert Camiccia recently by Miss Jeanne Nerviani, who will be maid of honor. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Camiccia of San Anselmo. Christina Camiccia of San Rafael is his daughter by a previous marriage. Martha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest George of San Rafael. Bob and Martha will be married at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur on May 4th. After a two weeks honeymoon Bob and his bride will reside in their own home at 218 Solano Street, San Rafael. Also attending the shower were: Mesdames George Hiltabrand, Robert Marcucci (who will be bridesmaids); Stanley Camiccia, Robert Foster, Charles Rutland, Walter Camiccia, Carlo Nerviani, Helen Sussman, Angelo Camiccia, and Ernest George.

Jeanne, who will become the bride of Allen Desmond June 1 was honored recently at a shower given by Martha. Among the guests were Jeanne's mother, Mrs. Carlo Nerviani, Mesdames Emil Marois, Ernest Nerviani, Ernest George, James Thompson, Charles Rutland, Brent Purdom, Sherman Patterson, Dennis Desmond, Dennis Desmond Jr., Miss Nancy McNalley, who will be maid of honor, Miss Gloria Bettini, who will be a bridesmaid, Misses Helen Sussman, Selma Sanford.

MR. AND MRS. PHIL SABATINI of San Anselmo entertained at a cocktail party last night at the Jack Tar Hotel before the annual Black and White Symphony Ball. Other Marinites in the Sabatini party were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Maniscalco, Messrs. and Mesdames Clay Vilas, Jerry Brown and George Dexter. The ball was held at four of San Francisco's most famous hotels, Sheraton Palace, St. Francis, Mark Hopkins and Fairmount. The four seasons of the year were represented in the decor and music for the ball. Special buses carried the party goers from one hotel to another. Mrs. John A. (Florence) Lesoine of Ross was in charge of ticket sales in Marin.

MRS. WILLIAM BRANTMAN of Tiburon with Tom Lacey of Belvedere attended the preballet dinner in the French Room of the Clift Hotel Tuesday. Tom returned from a ski trip to escort Joyce Brantman, whose husband was out of town on business. She was gowned in a long black scoop-neck sheath. Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rowley of Belvedere (he is a San Francisco attorney) were the guests of Paul Gliebe at the Clift. Another guest was Miss Ann Doogan of Oakland.

LINDA LOUISE TAYLOR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Taylor of Corte Madera, is a freshman at Colorado Woman's College, in Denver, Colorado. She is taking a liberal arts course.

Marion School President Enjoys People In P-TA

Mrs. John Haines is the new president of the Marion School Parent-Teacher Assn. in Novato.

She began her P-TA activities in Gardena prior to coming to Novato. "I believe strongly in the basic principles of the P-TA despite some adverse publicity in recent years and I feel that most people who work in P-TA are very unselfish and I enjoy working with them," she said.

An honorary life membership in the P-TA was awarded Mrs. Haines in the southern city, where she helped organize the March of Dimes and Community Chest campaigns through the P-TA. She also helped coach six-, seven- and eight-year-old boys in the fundamentals of baseball, while helping with the recreation program for two summers. Mrs. Haines said this was a "real fun project."

At Marion School, she has served as magazine chairman, treasurer, vice president and program chairman. She has also been a Cub Scout leader.

Mrs. Haines and her husband, manager of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in San Francisco, moved to Novato three years ago. They have two boys, Richard, 13, and Danny, 11 years of age. The family hobby is taking sight-seeing trips, and since the Haines were married, they have taken three trips across the United States.

The new president attended Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes for two years, and for the past two years has served as a teacher or helper at Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Haines are Mrs. James Harrington, first vice president; Earl Ferris, second vice president; Mrs. Jefferson Childs, secretary; Mrs. Earl Marshall, treasurer; Mrs. Donn Spegal, historian; and Richard Secrist, auditor.

Mesdames Howard Beade, Harrington and Childs have been named as delegates to the North Marin P-TA Council. Chosen as alternates are Mesdames George Whitten, Kent Bulfinch and Mr. Ferris.

Chairmen appointed for the new board include the Mesdames Whitten, parliamentarian; Peter Verhonik and Beale, room representatives; Glenn Dunbar, publicity; Bulfinch, art and honorary life; Thomas P. Atkinson, hospitality; Lawrence Cey, membership; Joseph Kirby, magazine; Art Olson, Health; Spegal, Founders Day; Childs, newsette; K. D. Wilson Jr., safety; Leland Smith, legislation; Harrington, program; Robert Eby, book club; Beade, library; G. J. Lambert, instructional material; and Harry Roberts, character and spiritual life.

Marin Ballet Group Plans Spring Show

"Spring Into Summer" is the theme of the luncheon-fashion show to be presented by the Marin Civic Ballet Assn. on Thursday.

Mrs. John Degenhardt and Mrs. William O. Weissich are co-chairmen of this first major function of the newly-formed organization, which will be held at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Fashions will be from a Marin shop and will be modeled by Mesdames Conrad Abbett, Walter Coyne, Morrie Mink, John Southmayd, Weissich and Miss Patricia Heynemann. Mrs. Saul Smith, executive director, will do the commentary.

Chairman of the decorations is Mrs. James Heynemann, who is being assisted by Mesdames Preston Jones, Edmund Coyne and Lee Bledsoe.

A surprise booth will be set up under the direction of Mrs. Richard Gladstein. Mrs. Harold Farb is chairman of awards and special effects will be under the supervision of Mrs. Leona Norman, artistic decorator of the association.

Mrs. Degenhardt is in charge of reservations.

VACATION ABOARD A RAFT

An extraordinary spring vacation was that of Mrs. William Peavey and her son, George, of Mill Valley when they spent some eight days aboard a raft on the Pacific.

George, 11, is a student at the Marin Country Day School.

Sponsored by the Sierra Club, the adventure began when the party of 56 aboard two rafts left Puerto Vallarto, Mexico, and cruised down the coast, camping out four nights on tropical beaches.

"There was a full moon," Mrs. Peavey said, "and everything was perfect weatherwise and insectwise, and we didn't lose anybody overboard. There were lots of manta rays and big sea turtles, and we did some fishing — caught mostly Sierra and Yellowtail.

Spouses Can Be Marriage Counselors

RIVERSIDE—Husbands and wives should learn how to act as if they were paid consultants to each other in order to solve martial problems, a University of California sociologist recommends.

By adopting a consultative role, says Dr. Clovis Shepherd of Santa Barbara, your spouse may help you solve problems that could otherwise break up the marriage.

"The difficulty in receiving this kind of help," Dr. Shepherd told more than 200 women attending a recent homemakers' conference at UC Riverside, "is to realize that while only you can solve the problem, it is perfectly all right to find out that you have not considered every angle. Suggesting new angles is one job your spouse-consultant can perform."

But the spouse-consultant system will only work if the person who has the problem is self-conscious, Dr. Shepherd added.

"Many of the problems we have are due to an inability to be ourselves," he said. "When we become more conscious of our feelings, desires and goals and can express them, many of our problems disappear.

Dr. Shepherd also recommended adopting a "diagnostic attitude" in dealing with family problems.

"This means that you avoid reaching a decision or a solution as long as possible. Often it is more difficult to diagnose a situation—that is, find out what the problem is—than it is to find a solution."

Dr. Shepherd suggested three steps for successful diagnosis: 1—direct your attention to the problem, not the solution; 2—gather information and interpret it, but don't evaluate it; 3—concentrate on the action called for rather than merely a verbal decision.

Ahern-Seeger Nuptial Mass Performed At St. Raphael's

St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael was the setting at noon today for the wedding of Stephanie Seeger of San Rafael and Paul John Ahern of San Francisco.

Preceding the bride to the altar in gowns of light blue sheer cotton and daisy headdresses were the bride's sister, Patricia Seeger of San Rafael, as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Patricia Donegan of San Anselmo; Mrs. Laurie Fraser of Mountain View and Mrs. Michael Dowling of Edwards.

Peter Anthony Davey of San Francisco acted as best man. Ushering guests to their seats were Michael Dowling of Edwards, J. Robert Cullen of San Francisco, and Edgar S. Dean of San Jose.

A reception at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club in Marin Bay followed the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended College of Marin and San Jose State College. Mrs. Felix Kramer of San Francisco is her grandmother.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Ahern of San Francisco, was graduated from St. Ignatius High School and Santa Clara University. He is now on military leave from the Pacific Telephone Co., in San Francisco. Mesdames J. R. Cullen of San Francisco and E. S. Dean of San Jose are his sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Yosemite, the newlyweds will make their home in Highland Park, N.J., where the bridegroom is stationed.

Make Home Safety Habits Part Of Child's Training

Help keep your home accident-free by teaching children home safety habits. Not only are children subject to home accidents, but children's carelessness is a major hazard to other members of the family.

1. Teach children to walk, never run in the house. Insist that children keep shoes on. Stocking feet offer no resistance to slippery floors.
2. Provide mats outside the front and back doors and teach children to wipe their feet before entering the house. Snow, mud or sticky substances tracked through the house create dangerous areas.
3. Children's toys left carelessly on the floor are a danger to every member of the family. Insist that toys be picked up and put away immediately after play. You'll make it easier to teach your child to put things away if you provide not just one, but several toy boxes in various parts of the house.
4. When children spill things, train them to wipe up grease, spilled milk or water, fruit peelings immediately. Provide a roll of paper towels, installed at child-height on a wall or cabinet in the kitchen for prompt clean-ups.
5. If a child breaks any glass object, train him to tell you about it immediately and not to touch it himself.

Help keep your home accident-free by teaching children home safety habits. Not only are children subject to home accidents, but children's carelessness is a major hazard to other members of the family.

1. Teach children to walk, never run in the house. Insist that children keep shoes on. Stocking feet offer no resistance to slippery floors.

2. Provide mats outside the front and back doors and teach children to wipe their feet before entering the house. Snow, mud or sticky substances tracked through the house create dangerous areas.

3. Children's toys left carelessly on the floor are a danger to every member of the family. Insist that toys be picked up and put away immediately after play. You'll make it easier to teach your child to put things away if you provide not just one, but several toy boxes in various parts of the house.

4. When children spill things, train them to wipe up grease, spilled milk or water, fruit peelings immediately. Provide a roll of paper towels, installed at child-height on a wall or cabinet in the kitchen for prompt clean-ups.

5. If a child breaks any glass object, train him to tell you about it immediately and not to touch it himself.

Now Hornung Will Be Remembered As Football's All-Time Sucker

Ed Randol, whose "Sidelines" columns grace these pages during the pro football season, has been out of circulation for a few months, but the betting scandal this week brought him out of hibernation.

"The whole mess is getting more publicity than it's worth," says Randol, "but it is probably a good thing for the game in the long run. As for fines, I would rather see men fined for not putting out full effort on the field than for betting on themselves to win.

"Paul Hornung," the ol' Sideliner goes on, "is the tough one to figure. He had everything going for him. Now he will be remembered as an all-time sucker instead of an all-time great. Actually, Hornung was not too well-liked outside of Green Bay or Notre Dame. Too many pretty-boy faces staring at us from too many advertisements. Just male jealousy, I guess."

Randol then turned his attention to another meaty subject. "If someone wants to do some nose-holding," he winked knowingly, "the best general direction would be toward some of the professional playoffs in recent weeks. The way each one has milked the spectators dry, right down to the final game, is too much to swallow. If this keeps up, year after year, some of these pro sports are going to join wrestling as 'exhibitions.' Fans are gullible, but they won't buy a false product forever!"

I think he was referring to pro basketball and hockey, and I'm beginning to wonder myself. Seems as if script writers are calling the plays.

IN PAST YEARS the foursomes representing Nave Lanes and San Rafael Joe's restaurant have dominated the "color" of the Marin Golf Club's Italian Golf Carnevale.

One year the Nave boys won the best costume award; last year Hector Rubini and San Rafael Joe's won the prize.

Tomorrow both those teams will be out again in fancy dress—they won't tell what they'll wear—but they may have some stiff competition.

The costume idea has caught on—it's mandatory tomorrow for the first time—and several teams have been cooking up unique apparel, not necessarily of Italian theme.

A dark-horse entry is the foursome headed by ex-Yankee pitcher Art Schallock. Dante Pareglio of the Tomahawk Lodge also reportedly has a nifty theme for his team.

Everyone's secretive about the costumes, so you'll just have to drive out to the Marin links tomorrow and see for yourself. I'll guarantee you'll get a bundle of laughs. The Carnevale is a mixture of fun and good golf.

KEN FROST of Belvedere recorded some of the nation's fastest breakstroke performances in 1962, according to "Amateur Athlete," the Amateur Athletic Union's official publication.

Frost ranked 13th in the nation in both the 100-meter and 200-meter breaststroke events with clockings of 1:14.0 and 2:42.0, respectively.

WHO'S THE strongest schoolboy in Marin?

Jack McPhee, an expert on the subject, nominates 13-year-old Frank Holton of Cook School in San Anselmo. McPhee, coach of the MarVel Athletic Club weightlifting team, claims Holton can whip most men in arm-wrestling competition. In weightlifting the Hub City lad has done 165 pounds press, 140 snatch and 195 clean and jerk in competition and even better than that in practice.

Lefty Sets Pace In Houston Tournament

HOUSTON (UPI)—Bob Charles, a New Zealand lefty, held a one-stroke lead over a chubby Ohioan and a skinny schoolboy today as a reduced field of 84 professionals and five amateurs went into the third round of the $50,000 Houston Classic golf tournament.

Charles carded a 67-66 for a 133 and the lead at the half-way point. Trailing at 134 were Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and Kermit Zarley of the University of Houston.

Three strokes behind were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., Charles Sifford, Los Angeles, and Homero Blancas, a Houston amateur, all with 136.

Charles, generally regarded as the world's best lefthander golfer after he won the National Lefties' championship by 21 strokes last fall, got off to a great start yesterday with birdies on the first three holes. He wound up with a 66.

Nicklaus, known affectionately as "Jumbo" by his contemporaries, had bogey trouble yesterday after a first round of 65. He took four bogeys in the first 14 holes, then settled down and wound up with a 69.

Zarley, who succeeded Nicklaus as national collegiate champ in 1962, made the best amateur showing of the tour for the past two years with a two-round score of 66-68. The slender 21-year-old blond walked away with the All-American Intercollegiate Tournament in Houston last week.

Idaho University, Idaho State Get 2 New Coaches

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — The Idaho board of regents has unanimously approved Jim Goddard and James L. Nau to coach basketball at rivals University of Idaho and Idaho State College.

Goddard, 33, has been head coach at Lewis and Clark for the past four years and has twice taken his team to National Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. championships.

As a student at Lewis and Clark, he won three letters in basketball and two in baseball despite his diminutive size. He replaces Joe Cipriano at Idaho. Cipriano resigned to accept the head coaching job at University of Nevada.

Nau, also 33, is an Oregon State graduate who has been coaching at Bakersfield Junior College the past five years. His record there shows 103 wins and 46 losses. He replaces John Evans at ISC, who quit after four seasons to become a high school administrator.

Mr. Juan-derful Regains Pitching Peak

A bedboard and a training season that ran a week past the normal deadline have San Francisco's Juan Marichal at his pitching peak.

Marichal won his first game of the year after one loss and went nine innings for the first time last night, stopping the Chicago Cubs 5-1 as the Giants regained first place in the National League.

Marichal agreed after his six-hitter that his training season had indeed extended to last Sunday. He was late reporting to spring camp because he wanted more money and he pitched only 14 innings before opening day.

Houston battered the Dominican right-hander the second day of the season and Marichal lost to Chicago last Sunday though he pitched moderately well.

"But tonight was the first game I felt set," he said after the victory. "I used all my pitches—curve, slider and fast ball—and I had control over all of them."

He walked only three men, struck out eight and had to battle to keep warm when rain delayed the game twice—for 6 and 30 minutes.

Marichal said he is at last having no pain in the left side of his back—a problem which began when he came to the Giants in 1960.

"Five doctors don't know what it is," he smiled. "But I remember how bad it was so now I sleep all the time on a bed with a board under it and that seems to keep the pain away.

"Even when we go on the road all the hotels know I'm coming and they have the board. I even use it during the off-season. Now I'm not having any trouble."

Singles by Willie McCovey, Orlando Cepeda and Tom Haller brought in two more runs. Felipe Alou, who forced Cepeda, scored all the way from first base on Haller's single to short center field when center fielder Don Landrum only lobbed the ball to second base.

Doubles by Marichal and Davenport ignited one-run bursts in the fifth and eighth innings.

San Francisco sought to hold its edge today when it sent Billy Pierce, 1-0, against Bob Buhl, 0-1. The Giants' Jack Fisher and Billy O'Dell will meet Dick Ellsworth and Cal Koonce in a Sunday doubleheader that winds up the Chicago series.

Eagles To Sell NFL Franchise

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles awaited offers today from prospective buyers after stockholders voted to sell the National Football League franchise for a minimum of $4,550,000, with the stipulation it be kept in this city.

The most likely buyer appeared to be a syndicate headed by Paul Brown, who expressed interest in purchasing the club after he was fired as general manager and coach of the Cleveland Browns last January. If the franchise is sold for $4,550,000 it would mean a profit of $47,000 on each share of stock.

Frank McNamee, president of the Eagles who along with Michael J. O'Neill was delegated to carry out the negotiations, said late last night he hadn't heard a thing from Brown after the vote. McNamee said, "I would think he (Brown) would get in touch with us."

WHERE'S BROWN

Brown could not be reached for comment. He has been unavailable to newsmen since his interest in the Eagles was disclosed in an Associated Press story April 5.

McNamee didn't appear too eager about an offer made Friday by Herbert Barness, of Warrington, Pa. Barness, who reportedly operates the largest independent engineering and planning firm in the nation, offered $4.5 million and said a cash deposit would be made within 24 hours if accepted.

"It's $50,000 under the minimum," said McNamee. "We don't have any authority to consider it."

TERRA LINDA JAYVEE HURLS NO-NO GAME

Steve Frazzini, right-handed hurler for the Terra Linda High School junior varsity baseball team, pitched a seven-inning no-hit, no-run game against the Novato javees yesterday as the Trojans nipped the Hornets 2-0 in Novato.

It was a pitching duel between Frazzini and Novato twirler Bill Nichols who only gave up three hits. One of Terra Linda's runs was earned and the other unearned.

Frazzini, a sophomore, struck out eight and walked five. Two other Novato runners got on base via errors. Only one runner for Novato got as far as third base as Frazzini kept mowing the batters down.

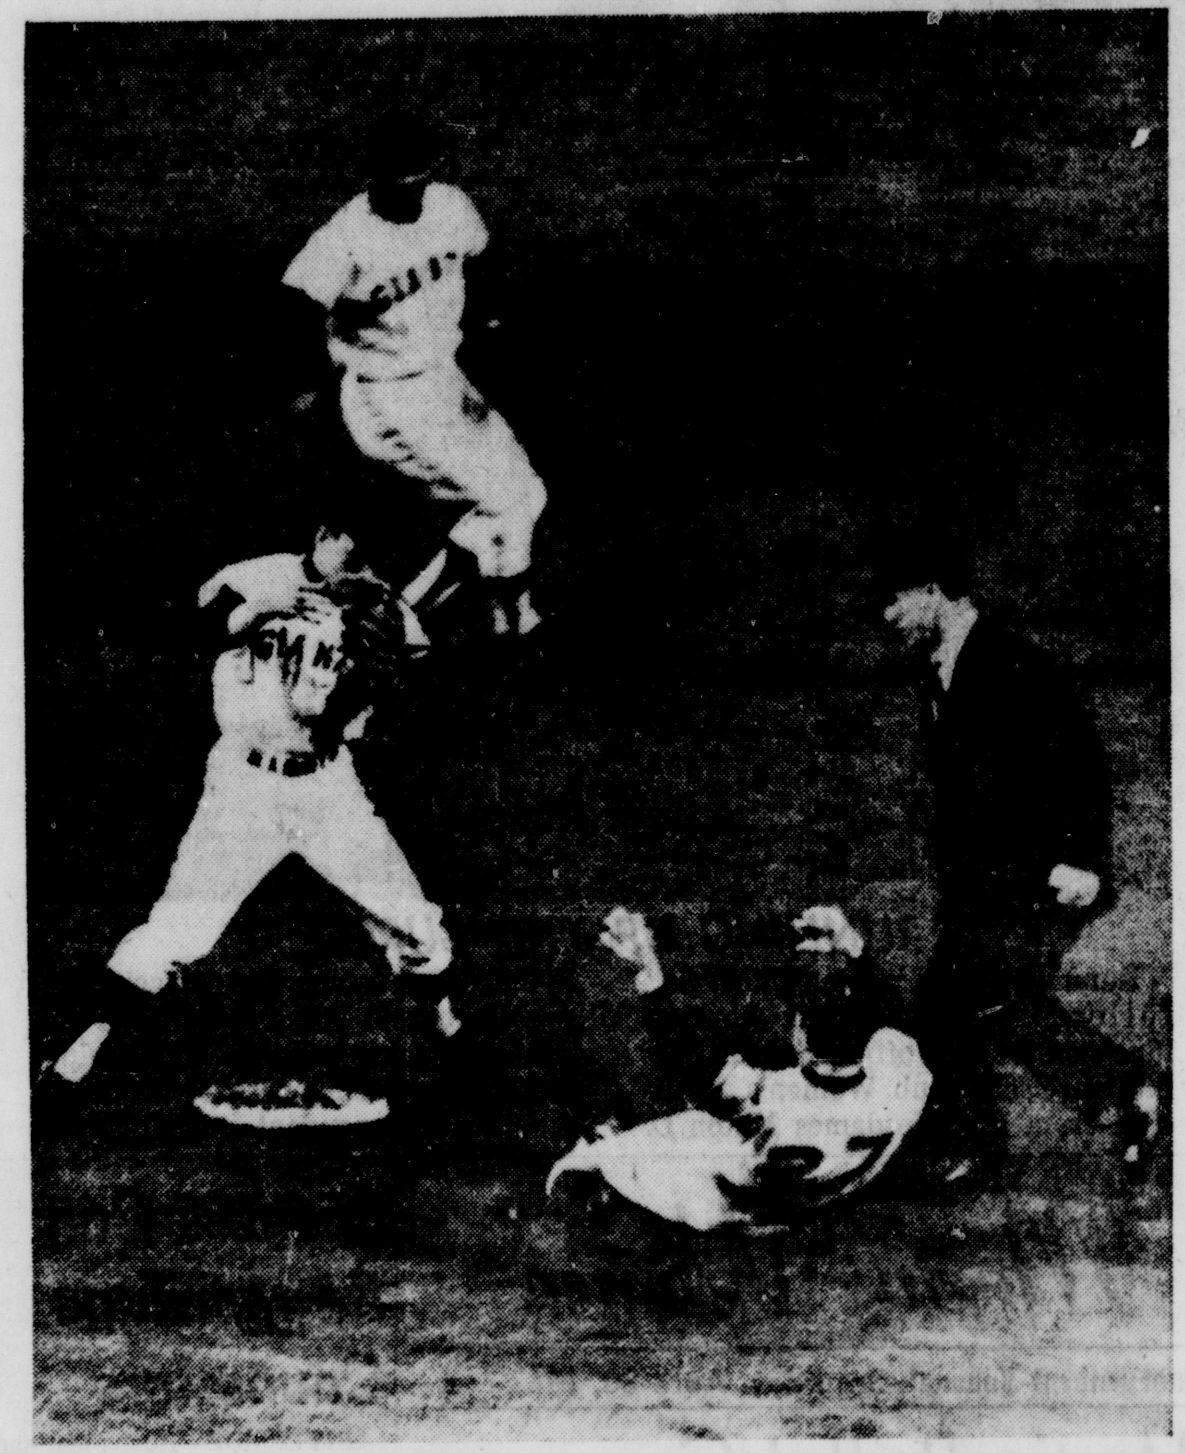
Kite Day, Open House Slated At Muir Woods

Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. will combine an open house, kite day, and distribution of earwig bait in a triple-decker event on May 12.

"People can come visit our clubhouse at the end of Ridge Road, watch youngsters fly their kites in our annual contest, and take home poison to kill the earwigs," said Mrs. Max J. Janoff, publicity chairman.

Date for the event was set at a club meeting last night at which $423 was realized for a painting of Mount Tamalpais by member Ted Christiansen, with the money to go toward hospital bills of member Mildred Corbin. Mrs. Armande Nariage of 11 Central Avenue, Sausalito, got the painting.

Miss Corbin is still in serious condition in San Rafael General Hospital with injuries suffered when her car plunged down the mountainside off Panoramic Highway on Feb. 5.



SUCCESSFUL THEFT — Don Landrum, Chicago centerfielder, slides safely into second base on a steal in the third inning last night at Candlestick Park. The throw to Giant second baseman Chuck Hiller from catcher Tom Haller was a trifle high. Behind Hiller is shortstop Jose Pagan, and the umpire is Shag Crawford. (AP Wirephoto)

Koufax Gives Dodgers Best 1-2 Pitching Punch In N.L.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The most important figures in the National League today—far more significant than the mere standings—show that Sandy Koufax has struck out 28 batters and allowed only 12 hits in 23 innings.

Add 'em up and they mean that the Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw fireballer is fully recovered from the finger injury that cost the Dodgers the 1962 pennant and almost ended Sandy's career. They also mean that despite a faltering start the Dodgers are all set for the long haul with Koufax and Don Drysdale to fire away as the league's best 1-2 pitching punch.

Koufax, sidelined virtually the entire second half of the 1962 season and winless after July 12, struck out 14 batters and pitched a two-hitter last night to give the Dodgers a 2-0 victory over the Houston Colts.

BLINDING SPEED

The ratio of strikeouts to innings pitched has always been the way to judge Koufax because of his blinding speed. He struck out an N.L. record of 269 batters in 256 innings in 1961 and had 216 strikeouts in 184 innings when he had a 14-4 record halfway through the 1962 campaign.

The San Francisco Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, the New York Mets broke into the win column with a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, in other N.L. games. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

HOWARD HOMERS

Koufax walked only two batters and struck out the side in both the fifth and seventh innings. Dick Farrell matched his shutout pitching until the seventh when Jim Gilliam doubled and Frank Howard homered. Howard's drive was the first Dodger homer of the season.

The Mets ended their eight-game season-opening losing streak with a two-run ninth-inning rally climaxed when rookie Ron Hunt singled home Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman. Ed Kranepool homered for the Mets while Hank Aaron hit the 300th circuit of his career for the Braves, whose seven-game winning streak went down the drain.

Curt Simmons beat the Phillies for the 11th time in 12 tries since they traded him in May, 1960, with a nine-hit, seven-strikeout effort. George Altman sent the Cardinals off winging with a three-run triple in the first inning and Curt Flood had three St. Louis hits.

Pa-Am Games Are Underway

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The Pan-American games, involving 24 nations of the Western Hemisphere, opened today but you couldn't tell it in this exploding city of four million.

Booming Sao Paulo can spare 70,000 to fill Pacaembu Stadium and never miss them.

A Brazilian athlete—a star high jumper—trotted into the huge stadium at 3 p.m. with a torch carried safely from the nation's capital, Brasilia, 800 miles away. With it, the Pan-American flame was touched off and the Games officially were under way.

The torch bearer, Jose Telles da Conceicao, epitomizes the oath of good sportsmanship to which 1,600 athletes, speaking four languages, will swear in front of the Olympic-like flame in a five-hour ceremonial pageant.

Gov. Adhemar De Barros of Sao Paulo State officially opened the games at 10:50 a.m., PST, about one hour after smoke-streaming stunt planes whistled over the huge stadium complex.

He watched delegations from participating nations parade onto the manicured playing field in a 50-minute pageant of nearly 2,000 athletes and officials garbed in distinctive blazers.

Conceicao entered the flag-adorned stadium with the torch that lit the flame. Then the mass of performers and flag-bearers grouped in front of the symbolic flame.

UNDER WAY

At that point, the fourth Pan-American games were declared under way.

Things get a bit more exciting tomorrow. There is competition in basketball, baseball, cycling, fencing, tennis, volleyball, shooting, judo, weightlifting and swimming.

SENATE MAY QUIZZ GRIDDERS UNDER OATH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Hornung of Green Bay and Alex Karras of Detroit, National Football League stars suspended indefinitely on Wednesday on betting charges, may be asked to tell their stories to a Senate subcommittee under oath.

Senator John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate's Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, said yesterday, "we might put them under subpoena."

The two stars were suspended by the NFL following a probe by the organization. Both told their stories then to Commissioner Pete Rozelle. However, they were not under oath.

Redwood Is Winner In Swim Meet

Redwood's varsity swim team knocked off Terra Linda 66-29 yesterday in a Marin Athletic League dual meet in the Trojans' pool, but the Terra Linda lightweights came back to nip Redwood's Class B swimmers 44-42.

Varsity winners were:

Double winners for Class B:

Friend, T.L., 200 free (2:09.2) and 50 butterfly (30.0); Cass, T.L., 50 free (25.1) and 100 free (57.5); Crowell, T.L., individual medley—(1:10) and 100 backstroke (1:10.3); Keeler, T.L. diving (94.8) and 100 breaststroke (1:17.8); Redwood won 200 freestyle relay and 200 medley relay.

Deputies in the county clerk's office said the judge may be back on the bench Monday.

'Hot Rod' Missing

Theft of a "hot rod" type 1955 Chevrolet pick-up was reported to San Rafael police yesterday by George S. Burton of San Rafael Auto Sales, 513 Francisco Boulevard. Burton said the theft from the used car lot occurred sometime after 8 p.m. Thursday.

Mr. Juan-derful Regains Pitching Peak

A bedboard and a training season that ran a week past the normal deadline have San Francisco's Juan Marichal at his pitching peak.

Marichal won his first game of the year after one loss and went nine innings for the first time last night, stopping the Chicago Cubs 5-1 as the Giants regained first place in the National League.

Marichal agreed after his six-hitter that his training season had indeed extended to last Sunday. He was late reporting to spring camp because he wanted more money and he pitched only 14 innings before opening day.

Houston battered the Dominican right-hander the second day of the season and Marichal lost to Chicago last Sunday though he pitched moderately well.

"But tonight was the first game I felt set," he said after the victory. "I used all my pitches—curve, slider and fast ball—and I had control over all of them."

He walked only three men, struck out eight and had to battle to keep warm when rain delayed the game twice—for 6 and 30 minutes.

Marichal said he is at last having no pain in the left side of his back—a problem which began when he came to the Giants in 1960.

"Five doctors don't know what it is," he smiled. "But I remember how bad it was so now I sleep all the time on a bed with a board under it and that seems to keep the pain away.

"Even when we go on the road all the hotels know I'm coming and they have the board. I even use it during the off-season. Now I'm not having any trouble."

Singles by Willie McCovey, Orlando Cepeda and Tom Haller brought in two more runs. Felipe Alou, who forced Cepeda, scored all the way from first base on Haller's single to short center field when center fielder Don Landrum only lobbed the ball to second base.

Doubles by Marichal and Davenport ignited one-run bursts in the fifth and eighth innings.

San Francisco sought to hold its edge today when it sent Billy Pierce, 1-0, against Bob Buhl, 0-1. The Giants' Jack Fisher and Billy O'Dell will meet Dick Ellsworth and Cal Koonce in a Sunday doubleheader that winds up the Chicago series.

Eagles To Sell NFL Franchise

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles awaited offers today from prospective buyers after stockholders voted to sell the National Football League franchise for a minimum of $4,550,000, with the stipulation it be kept in this city.

The most likely buyer appeared to be a syndicate headed by Paul Brown, who expressed interest in purchasing the club after he was fired as general manager and coach of the Cleveland Browns last January. If the franchise is sold for $4,550,000 it would mean a profit of $47,000 on each share of stock.

Frank McNamee, president of the Eagles who along with Michael J. O'Neill was delegated to carry out the negotiations, said late last night he hadn't heard a thing from Brown after the vote. McNamee said, "I would think he (Brown) would get in touch with us."

WHERE'S BROWN

Brown could not be reached for comment. He has been unavailable to newsmen since his interest in the Eagles was disclosed in an Associated Press story April 5.

McNamee didn't appear too eager about an offer made Friday by Herbert Barness, of Warrington, Pa. Barness, who reportedly operates the largest independent engineering and planning firm in the nation, offered $4.5 million and said a cash deposit would be made within 24 hours if accepted.

"It's $50,000 under the minimum," said McNamee. "We don't have any authority to consider it."

TERRA LINDA JAYVEE HURLS NO-NO GAME

Steve Frazzini, right-handed hurler for the Terra Linda High School junior varsity baseball team, pitched a seven-inning no-hit, no-run game against the Novato javees yesterday as the Trojans nipped the Hornets 2-0 in Novato.

It was a pitching duel between Frazzini and Novato twirler Bill Nichols who only gave up three hits. One of Terra Linda's runs was earned and the other unearned.

Frazzini, a sophomore, struck out eight and walked five, Two other Novato runners got on base via errors. Only one runner for Novato got as far as third base as Frazzini kept mowing the batters down.

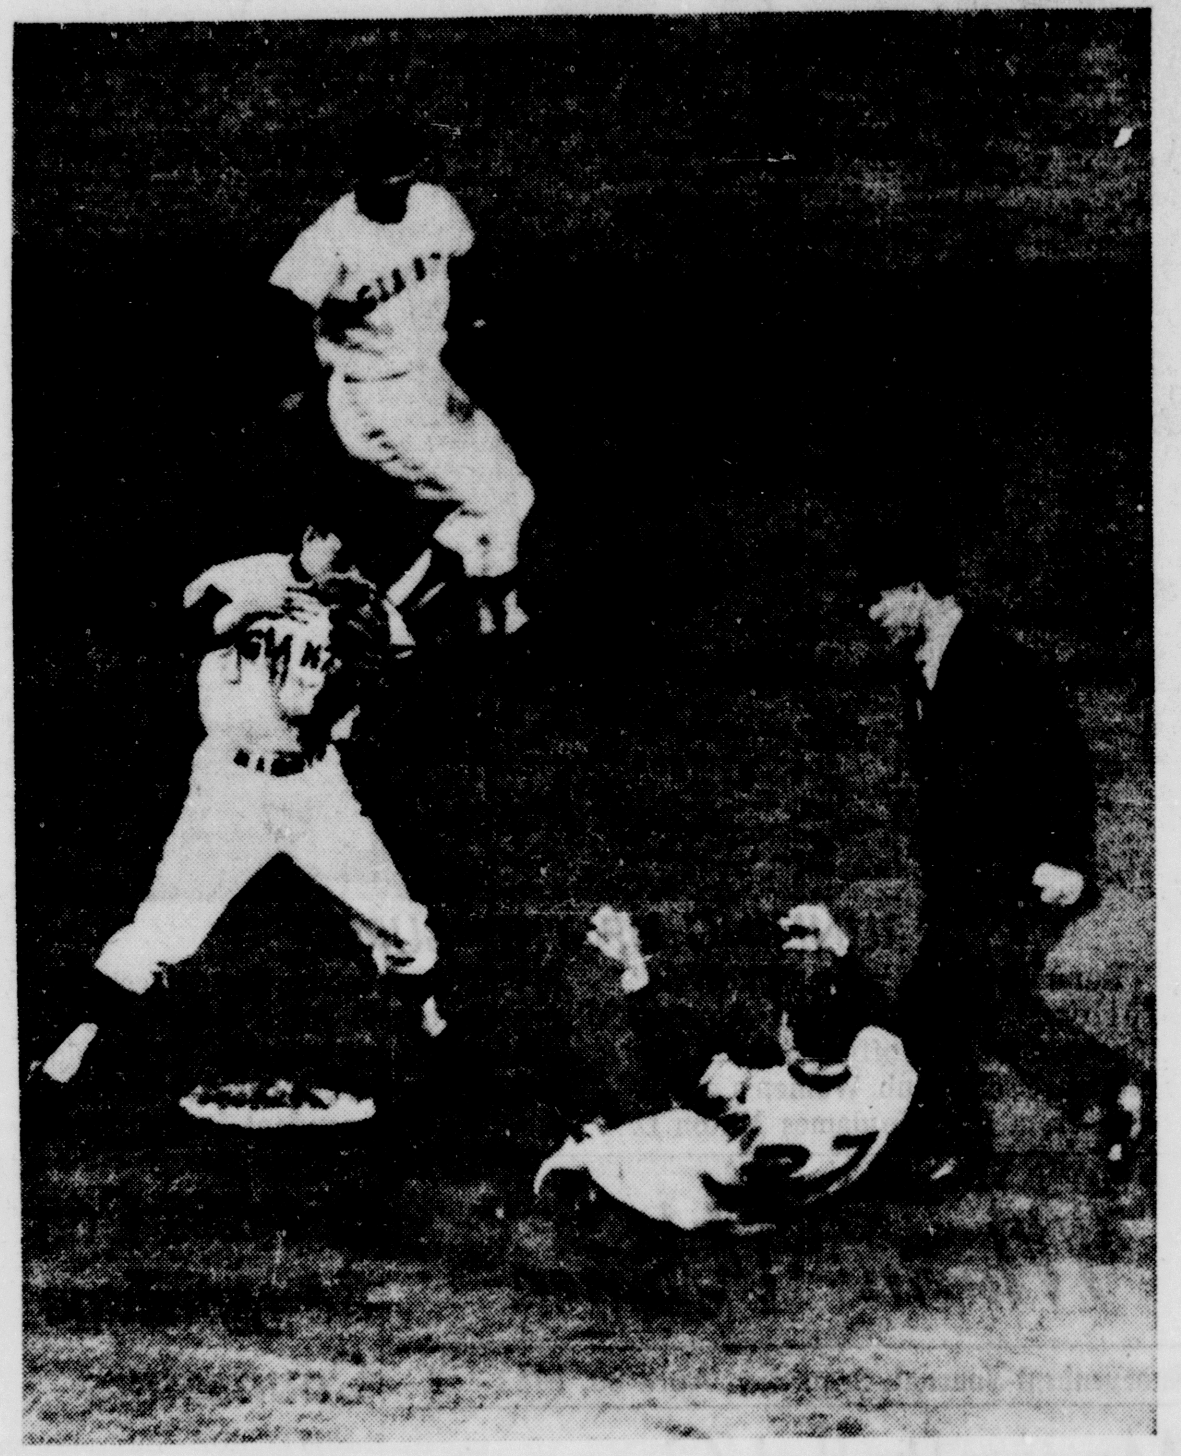
Kite Day, Open House Slated At Muir Woods

Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. will combine an open house, kite day, and distribution of earwig bait in a triple-decker event on May 12.

"People can come visit our clubhouse at the end of Ridge Road, watch youngsters fly their kites in our annual contest, and take home poison to kill the earwigs," said Mrs. Max J. Janoff, publicity chairman.

Date for the event was set at a club meeting last night at which $423 was realized for a painting of Mount Tamalpais by member Ted Christiansen, with the money to go toward hospital bills of member Mildred Corbin. Mrs. Armande Nariage of 11 Central Avenue, Sausalito, got the painting.

Miss Corbin is still in serious condition in San Rafael General Hospital with injuries suffered when her car plunged down the mountainside off Panoramic Highway on Feb. 5.



SUCCESSFUL THEFT — Don Landrum, Chicago centerfielder, slides safely into second base on a steal in the third inning last night at Candlestick Park. The throw to Giant second baseman Chuck Hiller from catcher Tom Haller was a trifle high. Behind Hiller is shortstop Jose Pagan, and the umpire is Shag Crawford. (AP Wirephoto)

Koufax Gives Dodgers Best 1-2 Pitching Punch In N.L.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The most important figures in the National League today—far more significant than the mere standings—show that Sandy Koufax has struck out 28 batters and allowed only 12 hits in 23 innings.

Add 'em up and they mean that the Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw fireballer is fully recovered from the finger injury that cost the Dodgers the 1962 pennant and almost ended Sandy's career. They also mean that despite a faltering start the Dodgers are all set for the long haul with Koufax and Don Drysdale to fire away as the league's best 1-2 pitching punch.

Koufax, sidelined virtually the entire second half of the 1962 season and winless after July 12, struck out 14 batters and pitched a two-hitter last night to give the Dodgers a 2-0 victory over the Houston Colts.

BLINDING SPEED

The ratio of strikeouts to innings pitched has always been the way to judge Koufax because of his blinding speed. He struck out an N.L. record of 269 batters in 256 innings in 1961 and had 216 strikeouts in 184 innings when he had a 14-4 record halfway through the 1962 campaign.

The San Francisco Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, the New York Mets broke into the win column with a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, in other N.L. games. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

HOWARD HOMERS

Koufax walked only two batters and struck out the side in both the fifth and seventh innings. Dick Farrell matched his shutout pitching until the seventh when Jim Gilliam doubled and Frank Howard homered. Howard's drive was the first Dodger homer of the season.

The Mets ended their eight-game season-opening losing streak with a two-run ninth-inning rally climaxed when rookie Ron Hunt singled home Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman. Ed Kranepool homered for the Mets while Hank Aaron hit the 300th circuit of his career for the Braves, whose seven-game winning streak went down the drain.

Curt Simmons beat the Phillies for the 11th time in 12 tries since they traded him in May, 1960, with a nine-hit, seven-strikeout effort. George Altman sent the Cardinals off winging with a three-run triple in the first inning and Curt Flood had three St. Louis hits.

Pa-Am Games Are Underway

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The Pan-American games, involving 24 nations of the Western Hemisphere, opened today but you couldn't tell it in this exploding city of four million.

Booming Sao Paulo can spare 70,000 to fill Pacaembu Stadium and never miss them.

A Brazilian athlete—a star high jumper—trotted into the huge stadium at 3 p.m. with a torch carried safely from the nation's capital, Brasilia, 800 miles away. With it, the Pan-American flame was touched off and the Games officially were under way.

The torch bearer, Jose Telles da Conceicao, epitomizes the oath of good sportsmanship to which 1,600 athletes, speaking four languages, will swear in front of the Olympic-like flame in a five-hour ceremonial pageant.

Gov. Adhemar De Barros of Sao Paulo State officially opened the games at 10:50 a.m., PST, about one hour after smoke-streaming stunt planes whistled over the huge stadium complex.

He watched delegations from participating nations parade onto the manicured playing field in a 50-minute pageant of nearly 2,000 athletes and officials garbed in distinctive blazers.

Conceicao entered the flag-adorned stadium with the torch that lit the flame. Then the mass of performers and flag-bearers grouped in front of the symbolic flame.

UNDER WAY

At that point, the fourth Pan-American games were declared under way.

Things get a bit more exciting tomorrow. There is competition in basketball, baseball, cycling, fencing, tennis, volleyball, shooting, judo, weightlifting and swimming.

SENATE MAY QUIZZ GRIDDERS UNDER OATH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Hornung of Green Bay and Alex Karras of Detroit, National Football League stars suspended indefinitely on Wednesday on betting charges, may be asked to tell their stories to a Senate subcommittee under oath.

Senator John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate's Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, said yesterday, "we might put them under subpoena."

The two stars were suspended by the NFL following a probe by the organization. Both told their stories then to Commissioner Pete Rozelle. However, they were not under oath.

Redwood Is Winner In Swim Meet

Redwood's varsity swim team knocked off Terra Linda 66-29 yesterday in a Marin Athletic League dual meet in the Trojans' pool, but the Terra Linda lightweights came back to nip Redwood's Class B swimmers 44-42.

Varsity winners were:

Double winners for Class B:

Friend, T.L., 200 free (2:09.2) and 50 butterfly (30.0); Cass, T.L., 50 free (25.1) and 100 free (57.5); Crowell, T.L., individual medley—(1:10) and 100 backstroke (1:10.3); Keeler, T.L. diving (94.8) and 100 breaststroke (1:17.8); Redwood won 200 freestyle relay and 200 medley relay.

Celtics Near Record Fifth Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Boston Celtics look today like they've got a lock on their fifth National Basketball Assn. championship and it seems they may want to win it for old Bob Cousy who is retiring.

No team in the history of the NBA has won five championships but the Celtics, sparked by big Bill Russell, beaf the Los Angeles Lakers last night, 108-105, to take a lead of three games to one in the best-of-seven championship series.

A partisan crowd of 15,382 cheered in vain for a Laker victory at the Sports Arena.

One more victory and the Celtics are in, and Cousy can retire to take over as coach of the Boston College team.

The 34-year old Cousy did not have a good night in the Celtic victory—but Russell, Sam Jones and Tom Heinsohn did.

Game No. 5 will be played in Boston tomorrow in the marathon cross-country series and the Celtics may very well sew up their fifth straight title on their home court.

Laker Elgin Baylor tried to be a one-man team and he did revive the locals to some extent and they finished the first half trailing by only six points—58-52. The Lakers made a rush at the finish but it was not good enough to overcome their third quarter collapse when they scored only 18.

Celtic Tom Heinsohn topped scorers with 35 points. Russell broke up numerous plays, scored 22 points and had 19 rebounds.

Wrigley So Rich He Laughs Off The Stagnancy Of His Ball Club

CONNOLLY

P. K. Wrigley, chewing gum magnate, is sole owner and regarded as one of the wealthiest club owners in the National League. He makes so much money in a business his late father William Wrigley Jr., started, he laughs off the stagnancy of an enterprise that year after year is considered one of the doormat clubs in baseball.

The only way one can view the horrible fate of the Cubs is to guess they are an advertising pawn for the Wrigley chewing gum company.

Since 1945 the Chicago Cubs have been sound asleep. That was the last year they won a pennant. And only once since, in 1946, have they finished in the first division. Three times since 1946 they finished in fifth place; twice in sixth place, seven times in seventh place and four times in last place.

The last couple of years the Cubs have been working on a new weird scheme of hiring 10 "teachers" instead of ONE MANAGER. It is the thought of Wrigley that a long range plan, like the one he has in mind, will establish a sound youth program. The idea is to bring youngsters into the majors in three years instead of taking five or six years to develop. Righ now the other club owners think it is too costly, and if it was anybody but a money-bags-owner like Wrigley, they'd go broke before the system paid off.

BUT REGARDLESS of what anybody thinks, Wrigley keeps on fielding a team, paying his bills like a slot machine and refusing to play night baseball, the only item that might help him cut down his losses.

"We don't like night ball," is all he says. And if you don't like it, lump it, is the inference.

It is all a very nice joke for Wrigley, but fun is fun and no one, except Wrigley, wants to die laughing.

The Cubs opened last night at Candlestick Park. They play today and two games tomorrow and are gone until midsummer, when they will come back for more.

THERE IS nothing you can say about the 1963 Cubs that hasn't been said already. They have at least 10 "teachers" and a guy named Bob Whitlow, who is called athletic director. He's been called a lot of other names since he left the Air Academy, but Bob is a great guy and maybe after a whirl will tell Wrigley he'd better get wise to himself and hire one manager and let the chips fall where they may.

There is one thing about the Wrigley family that P. K. has inherited from his dad. That is stubborness. When Wrigley first came into the Pacific Coast League as owner of the Los Angeles club he didn't like William H. McCarthy, the league prexy. So he had McCarthy replaced by the late Harry Williams.

Wrigley thought a stimulant to minor league baseball would be to allow women in free. So he did it at Wrigley Field in L.A. and his fellow club owners couldn't do anything about it, except grin and bear it.

SO TO come back to the 1963 Cubs, let's just say they have some mighty fine pitching, a lot of promising infielders and outfielders and a helluva good HEAD TEACHER like Bob Kennedy, who right now might be installed as permanent manager.

No matter what way you look at the Chicago Cubs they are a provoking aggregation. Most people with the kind of dough Wrigley has would own a team of champions. But instead he fiddles around, doing everything first class excepting LINING UP A BALL CLUB.

And do you want me to let you in on SOMETHING? Ernie Banks, the Cub first sacker, confidently told me he believes the Cubs will win the 1963 pennant. Now you laugh that one off . . . I'm busy.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Everything's 'Roger' With Yankees As Maris Homers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Everything's "Roger" today with the New York Yankees.

Substitute straight baseball language for the Air Force lingo and that simply means that Roger Maris is back in the lineup and the world champions have a "big bomber" look again.

The modern home run king returned to the Yankee batting order last night after missing the first eight games of the American League season and celebrated with a game-winning ninth-inning homer that sent New York on to an 8-4 win over the Washington Senators.

Elston Howard had preceded the blast with a homer and the Yankees went on to score five runs and present relief pitcher Luis Arroyo with his first victory of the season. Arroyo was pitching in relief of Stan Williams, who yielded three runs in 7⅓ innings in his second start as a Yankee.

The Boston Red Sox dealt the Detroit Tigers, 3-1 and 5-1 losses, the Chicago White Sox beat the Minnesota Twins, 3-1, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Cleveland Indians, 8-5, and the Kansas City Athletics swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels, winning both games by 3-2 scores in other American League games.

Howard led off the ninth with a homer that broke a 3-3 tie and Maris, sidelined until last night with a muscle injury, followed with a drive into the left centerfield bullpen. The homer became the decisive blow of the game when the Senators railied for a fourth run in their half of the ninth. Reliever Jim Duckworth was the loser.

Eddie Bressoud hit two homers in the first game and Ike Delock pitched a two-hitter in the second as the Red Sox won their Patriots' Day morning and afternoon contests with the Tigers. Gene Conley went 7⅔ innings to win the opener for the Sox. Dick Stuart's double and Lu Clinton's triple were the big blows of a four-run sixth-inning rally that won the second game. Phil Regan and Frank Lary were the losing pitchers.

Norm Siebern and George Alusik hit homers for Kansas City in the first game as Orlando Pena went seven innings for his second win. The Athletics won the nightcap when Ed Charles' single with the bases filled drove in Gino Cimoli. Bo Belinsky and Bob Turley were the losing pitchers.

Schoolboys Prefer Football, Track-Field, Survey Shows

More high school boys participating in sports in the North Coast section of California, which includes Marin County, choose football, according to a survey made by the California Interscholastic Federation.

Out of a total 54,003 boys competing in sports in the North Coast—including 158 high schools—14,244 competed in football. Next in line was track and field, in which 10,015 boys from 143 schools competed.

Basketball was third with 8,230 boys from 158 schools, followed by baseball with 6,350 youngsters from 155 high schools. Some 4,437 youngsters from 94 schools participated in team swimming, 3,217 out of 75 schools which offer wrestling, and 3,162 out of 95 schools which have cross country track teams.

Only other sports to top the 1,000 mark in participants in North Coast high schools were tennis, with 1,753 participants in 95 schools, and golf, with 1,089 participants out of 90 schools.

On a state wide basis, 632 schools compete within the CIF with 238,130 boys performing in 22 different sports, from lacrosse to skiing.

Heaviest concentration of CIF schools, of course, is southern California with 240 schools and 86,992 boys participating in athletics. The North Coast section is next in number of schools.

Nation-wide, 11-man football leads in participation with 718,702 youngsters competing on high school teams. Basketball is second with 637,519 participants. Then comes track and field, 475,147, and baseball, 358,561.

Squaw Valley: Year-Around State Park

MONTEREY (UPI) — Squaw Valley will be a year-around state park under a long-term contract approved by the state commission here yesterday.

Under the agreement, Alex Cushing of the Squaw Valley Development Co. will invest $1 million or more in a tramway, ski lifts and other public facilities on 1,029 acres of U.S. forest land the state has had under lease since the 1960 Olympics.

The state will receive commissions ranging from 2 to 50 50 per cent of gross realized by Cushing on various services.

The initial contract will run for 25 years.

The agreement will open the high country known as Siberia Bowl for camping, picnicking, hiking and sightseeing in addition to the winter skiing.

Two ski lifts now serve the area in winter. Tramways will eventually carry gondolas with up to 30 persons per load into the area the year around, according to a commission spokesman.

Indian Gridders Open Drills Today

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford football coach John Ralston and his Indian gridders were due for their first look at each other when spring training opened today.

Twenty-five lettermen were expected to be among the 100 or so athletes who turned out. Stars back next season include lineman Frank Patitucci, Al Heldebrand, Marv Harris and Frank Dubofsky and quarterback Steve Thurlow.

Race Series Set For Lipton Trophy

By ALFRED MATSON

Forgotten for over 40 years and recently discovered in an Olympic Club locker, the Sir Thomas Lipton Trophy will be the object of plenty of action from here on in.

Donated to the Pacific Inter-Club Yachting Assn., this cup will be the object of a series of three races next weekend. The races, on a three-boat team basis, will be for yachts eligible for class racing.

The initial match brings together teams of the Corinthian and Richmond yacht clubs and will be in boats of the Triton class. Two races will be held April 27, and if a third is necessary it will be held on the following day.

Comparatively short windward and leeward courses will be used with starts and finishes off the St. Francis Yacht Club. The Corinthians have chosen Dr. Anthony Souza, Benno Nell and Charles Weaver as the men to bring home the bacon in this initial series.

ACCORDING TO the latest news release, the Trans-Pacific Yacht Races claims but a modest 25 starters for this year's Trans-Pacific Yacht Race from Los Angeles to Honolulu.

The club lists only three boats from this area, Tim Moseley's Orient, Aldo Alessio's Mistress and Dr. Emmett Rixford's Annie Too. Yet, according to our scuttlebutt, there are several more definite entries.

Other starters should be Chris Kiskaddon's Spirit, Gary Rees' Brigadoon, the Harlander brothers' brand new Isobar and a Mercer 44 recently finished by Roy Elliott and yet unnamed.

So, by the deadline of June 5, the entry list should reflect a far more impressive fleet.

Celtics Near Record Fifth Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Boston Celtics look today like they've got a lock on their fifth National Basketball Assn. championship and it seems they may want to win it for old Bob Cousy who is retiring.

No team in the history of the NBA has won five championships but the Celtics, sparked by big Bill Russell, beat the Los Angeles Lakers last night, 108-105, to take a lead of three games to one in the best-of-seven championship series.

A partisan crowd of 15,382 cheered in vain for a Laker victory at the Sports Arena.

One more victory and the Celtics are in, and Cousy can retire to take over as coach of the Boston College team.

The 34-year old Cousy did not have a good night in the Celtic victory—but Russell, Sam Jones and Tom Heinsohn did.

Game No. 5 will be played in Boston tomorrow in the marathon cross-country series and the Celtics may very well sew up their fifth straight title on their home court.

Laker Elgin Baylor tried to be a one-man team and he did revive the locals to some extent and they finished the first half trailing by only six points—58-52. The Lakers made a rush at the finish but it was not good enough to overcome their third quarter collapse when they scored only 18.

Celtic Tom Heinsohn topped scorers with 35 points. Russell broke up numerous plays, scored 22 points and had 19 rebounds.

Wrigley So Rich He Laughs Off The Stagnancy Of His Ball Club

CONNOLLY

P. K. Wrigley, chewing gum magnate, is sole owner and regarded as one of the wealthiest club owners in the National League. He makes so much money in a business his late father William Wrigley Jr., started, he laughs off the stagnancy of an enterprise that year after year is considered one of the doormat clubs in baseball.

The only way one can view the horrible fate of the Cubs is to guess they are an advertising pawn for the Wrigley chewing gum company.

Since 1945 the Chicago Cubs have been sound asleep. That was the last year they won a pennant. And only once since, in 1946, have they finished in the first division. Three times since 1946 they finished in fifth place; twice in sixth place, seven times in seventh place and four times in last place.

The last couple of years the Cubs have been working on a new weird scheme of hiring 10 "teachers" instead of ONE MANAGER. It is the thought of Wrigley that a long range plan, like the one he has in mind, will establish a sound youth program. The idea is to bring youngsters into the majors in three years instead of taking five or six years to develop. Righ now the other club owners think it is too costly, and if it was anybody but a money-bags-owner like Wrigley, they'd go broke before the system paid off.

BUT REGARDLESS of what anybody thinks, Wrigley keeps on fielding a team, paying his bills like a slot machine and refusing to play night baseball, the only item that might help him cut down his losses.

"We don't like night ball," is all he says. And if you don't like it, lump it, is the inference.

It is all a very nice joke for Wrigley, but fun is fun and no one, except Wrigley, wants to die laughing.

The Cubs opened last night at Candlestick Park. They play today and two games tomorrow and are gone until midsummer, when they will come back for more.

THERE IS nothing you can say about the 1963 Cubs that hasn't been said already. They have at least 10 "teachers" and a guy named Bob Whitlow, who is called athletic director. He's been called a lot of other names since he left the Air Academy, but Bob is a great guy and maybe after a whirl will tell Wrigley he'd better get wise to himself and hire one manager and let the chips fall where they may.

There is one thing about the Wrigley family that P. K. has inherited from his dad. That is stubborness. When Wrigley first came into the Pacific Coast League as owner of the Los Angeles club he didn't like William H. McCarthy, the league prexy. So he had McCarthy replaced by the late Harry Williams.

Wrigley thought a stimulant to minor league baseball would be to allow women in free. So he did it at Wrigley Field in L.A. and his fellow club owners couldn't do anything about it, except grin and bear it.

SO TO come back to the 1963 Cubs, let's just say they have some mighty fine pitching, a lot of promising infielders and outfielders and a helluva good HEAD TEACHER like Bob Kennedy, who right now might be installed as permanent manager.

No matter what way you look at the Chicago Cubs they are a provoking aggregation. Most people with the kind of dough Wrigley has would own a team of champions. But instead he fiddles around, doing everything first class excepting LINING UP A BALL CLUB.

And do you want me to let you in on SOMETHING? Ernie Banks, the Cub first sacker, confidently told me he believes the Cubs will win the 1963 pennant. Now you laugh that one off . . . I'm busy.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Everything's 'Roger' With Yankees As Maris Homers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Substitute straight baseball language for the Air Force lingo and that simply means that Roger Maris is back in the lineup and the world champions have a "big bomber" look again.

The modern home run king returned to the Yankee batting order last night after missing the first eight games of the American League season and celebrated with a game-winning ninth-inning homer that sent New York on to an 8-4 win over the Washington Senators.

Elston Howard had preceded the blast with a homer and the Yankees went on to score five runs and present relief pitcher Luis Arroyo with his first victory of the season. Arroyo was pitching in relief of Stan Williams, who yielded three runs in 7⅓ innings in his second start as a Yankee.

The Boston Red Sox dealt the Detroit Tigers, 3-1 and 5-1 losses, the Chicago White Sox beat the Minnesota Twins, 3-1, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Cleveland Indians, 8-5, and the Kansas City Athletics swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels, winning both games by 3-2 scores in other American League games.

Howard led off the ninth with a homer that broke a 3-3 tie and Maris, sidelined until last night with a muscle injury, followed with a drive into the left centerfield bullpen. The homer became the decisive blow of the game when the Senators rallied for a fourth run in their half of the ninth. Reliever Jim Duckworth was the loser.

Eddie Bressoud hit two homers in the first game and Ike Delock pitched a two-hitter in the second as the Red Sox won their Patriots' Day morning and afternoon contests with the Tigers. Gene Conley went 7⅔ innings to win the opener for the Sox. Dick Stuart's double and Lu Clinton's triple were the big blows of a four-run sixth-inning rally that won the second game. Phil Regan and Frank Lary were the losing pitchers.

Norm Siebern and George Alusik hit homers for Kansas City in the first game as Orlando Pena went seven innings for his second win. The Athletics won the nightcap when Ed Charles' single with the bases filled drove in Gino Cimoli. Bo Belinsky and Bob Turley were the losing pitchers.

Schoolboys Prefer Football, Track-Field, Survey Shows

More high school boys participating in sports in the North Coast section of California, which includes Marin County, choose football, according to a survey made by the California Interscholastic Federation.

Out of a total 54,003 boys competing in sports in the North Coast—including 158 high schools—14,244 competed in football. Next in line was track and field, in which 10,015 boys from 143 schools competed.

Visit To Public Schools Certain To Prove Beneficial

The never-ending drive of rival ideological factions to capture the minds of men—which seems to be gaining in intensity, brings into focus the importance of education — education for everyone, as conducted in Marin County and the nation.

It has been aptly stated that "education forms the common mind, and as the twig is bent, so inclines the tree."

This is the time of year when Marin will join the other California counties in observance of Public School Week—the time of year when the school makes an effort to tell its story to the parent and public—and the time when we can individually find out what goes on in our public schools—what makes them tick.

In Marin, as in many other counties around the state, the schools will hold open house, and conduct special programs in the schools for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Taxpayer.

Much has been said and written about our schools, including an avalanche of criticism. Some of this is, perhaps, justified. Conversely, there is much misinformation going the rounds. All of which may confuse the citizen-taxpayer in general, and the parent in particular.

So, the observance gives all an opportunity to go, see, and ascertain the true state of affairs in our schools, which have been heralded as the symbols of freedom—the hope of the future—so vital in a democracy, the schools must be kept above reproach.

We can and should visit one of Marin's public schools during the week, ask questions, find out, first hand, the whys and wherefores of the present trends in education.

Education is our most important product, and the principle of free education for every child must not be placed in jeopardy. But, by the same token, the functions of the educators must be kept in true perspective, and, in accordance with guide lines which citizens must set for their elected school boards to follow.

The annual observance of public school week was established almost a half century ago by the California Grand Lodge of Masons, so that the public could know, first hand, how they function.

And, as the cost of operating schools in Marin County equals the total expenditure of our city and county governments combined, it behooves each and every one of us to take time to visit and inspect our schools next week.

Bouquets And Brickbats

A BOUQUET to the Larkspur School district trustees on permitting teachers to spank unruly students, and to circumvent the "you can't touch me" attitude of children in open defiance of classroom discipline.

A BRICKBAT to a San Francisco daily newspaper on establishing a "boiler room" in Marin and using a questionable charity program as a "gimmick" to obtain subscriptions from Marin residents.

A BOUQUET to Carl W. Gabrielson, business executive, on his appointment to the Sausalito city council, succeeding Philip E. Erlich Jr., resigned.

A BRICKBAT to the Corte Madera authorities who censured Fire Chief Nelson for utilizing city equipment to extinguish a fire in a restaurant a couple of hundred feet beyond the city limits—and a BOUQUET to Nelson for his initiative in answering the alarm, above and beyond his official call of duty.

JFK Propaganda On Defense, A-Test Ban Pact Confuses Public

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The intelligent citizen urgently needs guidance on national defense and a nuclear test ban, just as he recently needed guidance on foreign aid and what should be done about it.

Non-partisan, responsible guidance is what the intelligent citizen urgently needs. President Kennedy provided that kind of guidance on foreign aid when he named the Clay Committee to investigate. Kennedy commissioned Clay's committee because the taxpayers seemed to be making up their minds to cut foreign aid down to size, very small size.

It is the consensus here that Gen. Lucius Clay's temperate report will protect the 1963 foreign aid appropriation against meat axe surgery, under which it might have expired altogether.

IT PROBABLY is fair to say that the Clay Committee restored much public confidence in foreign aid and in the administration's explanations as to why it is necessary.

Now, mounted against the Kennedy administration on national defense policy in general and a nuclear test ban in particular is the kind of formidable opposition that almost brought foreign aid down to defeat. Regularly published here is a pamphlet, "Washington Report," sponsored by the American Security Council.

It is frightening reading. The latest issue says the United States is hastening toward a technological Pearl Harbor.

"BY HOOK OR CROOK," the report says, "we are abandoning the nuclear race. Frantically we pursue the nuclear test-ban treaty. Instead of catching up, we continue to negotiate. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, during more than two years in office, has not authorized a single new weapons system. He is slowing down our technological process deliberately. All things considered, it does not look as though, under the stewardship of Mr. McNamara, the United States is being equipped to forestall a nuclear and technological Pearl Harbor."

What is the intelligent citizen to make of that? It's not as if the Security Council could be rushed off as a council of nobodies. It is not. The national strategy committee of the Security Council includes: Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, Ret.; Adm. Ben Moreel, Ret.; Dr. Robert Morris; Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Ret.; Adm. Felix B. Stump, Ret.; Dr. Edward Teller; Adm. Chester C. Ward, Ret., and Gen. Albert C. Wedemyer, Ret. It is not possible to laugh off, brush off or disregard such men.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS have set up a committee on nuclear testing of which Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.), is chairman. Hosmer is a member of the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. On April 16, Hosmer circulated a news release captioned "Administration test ban proposals blueprint for national suicide."

That is mighty strong language. But Hosmer cannot be laughed off or brushed off, either. He is a responsible member of Congress. Moreover, his blasty attack on administration test-ban policy conforms generally with the position of the American Security Council.

THEREFORE, it is not enough to say that Hosmer is making a partisan issue of the test ban. Hosmer, in fact, is reflecting some responsible military opinion and some responsible civilian judgment, too.

The intelligent citizen cannot have access to the facts nor has he the background knowledge to form any intelligent opinion in all of this although his very life may depend on what policy prevails.

It would be helpful to the intelligent citizen, therefore, if a committee enjoying public confidence could be named to study this nuclear-test ban problem. The citizens urgently need guidance.

HOBBY FILLS HIS HOUSE

After 45 years of whittling, an Oklahoma man has filled his house, basement, and barn with coffee tables, guitar cases, chests, a model log wagon complete with oxen, and numerous other pieces, all carved out of blocks of wood.

The persistent man, now 65, estimates that he has spent 11,700 hours in the pursuit of his hobby. "I can sit down and just start whittling and half a day is gone before I know it," he said.

Despite the fact that the whittler considers his work only a pastime, he has been offered $1,100 for one intricate cedar chest, consisting of 10,263 pieces.

Hobbies invariably bring out many hidden human qualities in those who pursue them. One of the most valuable is that of stick-to-it-iveness.

The cultivation of this trait can influence a person's entire destiny. You are not likely to falter for lack of stamina to follow through if you set big goals for yourself, by daring to lead a worthwhile life here below and in achieving the unending rewards of heaven.

State Liberty Amendment Hit

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

State Assemblyman Badham introduced a "Liberty Amendment" to reestablish State's rights. Considering the present mode of our government, this ranks in importance with the Declaration of Independence . . .

Unfortunately, it also has a rider for the elimination of income tax . . . This is pure wack . . . works to defeat the amendment . . . violates basic intent . . . Laws are the outcome of independent local support for each basic subject. Doing for the people as a whole that which the individual cannot do for himself.

Our Constitution has no provision for selling the public "package deals" . . . Nor advocates Presidential "politbureaus" and vested interest "lobbying" to dictate policies . . .

If Khrushchev . . . arrives at our shores with that threatened shovel, he will find the only reason he made it is that such undemocratic practices have already buried us.

One Way Bridge Tolls Favored

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

There is no reason why toll on the Golden Gate Bridge cannot be collected from traffic moving in one direction.

It is quite simple to charge the whole fare of a round trip at the northbound toll gates, there would be no single crossing fare.

In other words, traffic going north would be charged 50 cents or two commute tickets but there would be no charge or toll gate for traffic moving south on the bridge.

We should rid the bridge of as much delay as possible at the toll gates.

If three lanes of highway in each direction will carry the traffic with ease to the bridge, is it not reasonable to expect that three lanes of traffic in each direction on the Golden Gate Bridge will serve equally well?

Action In Nelson Case Deplored

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In regards to Frank L. Nelson's possible suspension for 10 days without pay, because he happened to feel that the saving of property and possibly human lives, were more important than "who got there first," please allow me to have my say:

It may be that the Corte Madera firemen are not covered by insurance when they answer a "county" call. But, evidently these men answered the call to Marin Joe's in the interest of getting the fire out, even though they stood to pay their own medical bill if injured. Inasmuch as they are volunteers, it would appear that no one forced them to go.

If this insurance (or lack of it) be such a thorn in the side of Mr. Brandow, let him and his colleagues take steps to see that these men are provided with same.

I live in Sleepy Hollow, and before we had the services of the firehouse at Arroya and Butterfield Road, I had occasion to call on the San Anselmo Fire Dept. several times for assistance, i.e., baby locked in bedroom, burning trash . . . which they contacted the County Fire Dept. at White's Hill.

If Mr. Brandow ever has cause to call on these gallant and ever-helpful fellows for their assistance, I hope it isn't at 3 a.m., nor do they keep him waiting while they decide who feels like getting up to answer the call, or whether or not their medical bills, if need be, will be paid for by insurance.

. . . No fireman considers these things when the old gong rings.

Thefts and vandalism, especially on parked cars, are exasperating. And, that type of crime seems to be on the increase in the county.

With good picnic weather coming up, and motorists driving to Mt. Tamalpais, Muir Woods and the beaches, the local gendarmes will, no doubt, have their hands full guarding against break-ins. But they can't always watch all cars.

As we see it, the only way to curb such crimes is for each driver to watch out for his own property. Lock your car, even for a few minutes' walk. Don't leave valuables in the car, and if you do have to, lock them up in the trunk, where they won't be a temptation. And a happy picnicking to you all.

CITY ATTORNEY AL Bagshaw has had his reserved parking spot at the city hall for so many years, it's going to be awful hard to break the habit of parking there, now that he's retired from the city post. Every morning, notice how his car, by force of habit, just naturally turns into the old reserved spot.

If you want your child to be a chess champ, better move to Larkspur and send him to Henry Hall School. A group of about 20 youngsters in the sixth grade have formed a chess club and are going full blast with tournaments during noon hours and every spare time. They're getting to be a whiz at the difficult game.

IMAGINE checking into a hotel in Moscow. You're escorted into your room, drop your baggage and decide to shave for dinner. You pick up the bar of soap in the medicine cabinet and read this advertisement: "Litchfield's Bermuda Palms, San Rafael, Calif."

That's what happened to a San Rafael businessman who took that Soviet junket last winter. "M'gosh," he gasped. "Does Litchfield have a comrade behind the Iron Curtain!"

But the joke was on him. A fellow junketeer from San Rafael had packed a bagful of soap from Bermuda Palms before leaving the U.S., then had neatly planted them in the hotel room before his buddy had got to the bathroom to shave.

IT'S BAD enough to have to feed the meters in town every hour. But, you feel worse when you get back and find a ticket on the windshield, even though the meter has not run out.

For the casual shopper, it may not be too evident. But the one-hour parking sign (or two-hour sign) means just that. After an hour, you've gotta move to give the next shopper a chance to move into the spot. You might get away by feeding the same meter hour after hour, but you lay yourself open for a ticket.

And the worst part of it is, a run-out meter costs you only a dollar, but overtime parking costs $3. If the townsfolk want to keep their shoppers contented, something's gotta be done about parking.

Brown Eyes Move To Evade Pledge, Sign Gas Tax Boost

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — From all indications at the present time, it looks like Senator Randolph Collier's penny gasoline tax, to be distributed to cities and counties, will be passed by the Assembly, and go to the governor for his final decision on the tax increase.

The measure already has cleared the Senate, by an overwheling vote of 32-5, and now is awaiting assignment to a committee in the Assembly. It could go either to the transportation committee or the revenue and taxation committee.

Normally, the cent a gallon additional tax would boom through the Legislature without too much controversy. But it's different in 1963, Governor Edmund G. Brown, during his campaign last fall, promised California there would be no new or increased taxes this year. And the governor has indicated his opposititon to the proposed increase in the gas tax.

JUST WHETHER the governor can stand up to the pressure for this additional tax remains to be seen. As proposed at the present time, the tax would go into effect October 1, 1963. And if the governor signed the bill in its present form, he would in effect, be breaking his faith with the California public.

The scuttle-butt has it that Governor Brown is counting on his friends in the Assembly to keep the bill from reaching his desk. However, there is also the question of how many friends he has in the Assembly, and how far these friends can go in opposition to their own home towns.

For support in favor of the new gas tax seems unanimous insofar as the cities and counties of California are concerned.

HOWEVER, the governor may have a fine "out," in case the bill reaches his desk. A simple amendment, making the tax effective January 1, 1964, instead of October 1, 1963, would let him off the hook. He could keep his promise to the people of no new taxes in 1963, and at the same time make officialdom of the cities and counties happy by costing the public more money.

Governor Brown no doubt garnered a lot of votes last year on the strength of his promise not to increase taxes. But the promise was good only for 1963, and if the governor should sign the gas tax bill effective in 1964, he could not be accused of breaking faith with the people.

On the other hand, he might have a lot of explaining to do if the bill reaches him on an effective October 1 basis. He could then be accused of breaking faith with the people.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Visit To Public Schools Certain To Prove Beneficial

The never-ending drive of rival ideological factions to capture the minds of men—which seems to be gaining in intensity, brings into focus the importance of education — education for everyone, as conducted in Marin County and the nation.

It has been aptly stated that "education forms the common mind, and as the twig is bent, so inclines the tree."

This is the time of year when Marin will join the other California counties in observance of Public School Week—the time of year when the school makes an effort to tell its story to the parent and public—and the time when we can individually find out what goes on in our public schools—what makes them tick.

In Marin, as in many other counties around the state, the schools will hold open house, and conduct special programs in the schools for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Taxpayer.

Much has been said and written about our schools, including an avalanche of criticism. Some of this is, perhaps, justified. Conversely, there is much misinformation going the rounds. All of which may confuse the citizen-taxpayer in general, and the parent in particular.

So, the observance gives all an opportunity to go, see, and ascertain the true state of affairs in our schools, which have been heralded as the symbols of freedom—the hope of the future—so vital in a democracy, the schools must be kept above reproach.

We can and should visit one of Marin's public schools during the week, ask questions, find out, first hand, the whys and wherefores of the present trends in education.

Education is our most important product, and the principle of free education for every child must not be placed in jeopardy. But, by the same token, the functions of the educators must be kept in true perspective, and, in accordance with guide lines which citizens must set for their elected school boards to follow.

The annual observance of public school week was established almost a half century ago by the California Grand Lodge of Masons, so that the public could know, first hand, how they function.

And, as the cost of operating schools in Marin County equals the total expenditure of our city and county governments combined, it behooves each and every one of us to take time to visit and inspect our schools next week.

Climbing Mt. Everest For Science

By TOM HENSHAW
A.P. Newsfeatures Writer

An American team of 18 mountaineers and 36 Sherpa porters currently is inching its way to the 29,028-foot summit of Mount Everest, the highest in the world, more in the spirit of science than adventure.

The team, led by Swiss-born Norman G. Dyhrenfurth of Santa Monica includes a psychologist, a sociologist and a glaciologist — and they're working at their trades, too.

A New Zealander, Sir Edmund P. Hillary, and a Sherpa, Tenzing Norkay, members of a British expedition, first reached the summit on May 29, 1953, on man's eighth recorded assault on the peak.

A Swiss expedition also reached the top in 1956 and a Red Chinese team claimed to have conquered the heights in 1960, leaving behind a plaster bust of Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung.

It remains for the Americans to stage the most massive attack on the roof of the world.

Sometime during May, the best climbing season in the high Himalayas, they hope to conquer not only Everest but its sister peaks, Lhotse, 27,923 feet, fourth highest in the world, and Nuptse, 25,726 feet.

And, even while climbing, the American team has transformed Everest's ice and rock slopes into a vast laboratory for scientific study.

Dr. James T. Lester Jr., a clinical psychologist from Berkeley is studying the behavior of the climbers themselves while they are under the extreme stress and stimulus conditions of high altitude climbing.

Dr. Richard M. Emerson, a University of Cincinnati sociologist, is investigating the social relations of the "isolated, highly motivated group under stress conditions."

Dr. William Siri, the deputy leader and a University of California physicist, is studying the physiological responses of the climbers as they reach and surpass the limits of endurance.

Dr. Maynard M. Miller of Michigan State is collecting samples of snowfall up to 40 years old and also studying the effects of climatic changes on the massive Khumbu Glacier, the gateway to Everest.

Barry C. Bishop of Washington, a staff member of the National Geographic Society, will study solar radiation at 26,000 feet, the highest such studies have ever been made on the surface of the earth.

The American climbers are following essentially the same route traveled by their British and Swiss predecessors, moving up the mountain by way of a series of camps.

The base camp has been established on the Khumbu Glacier at 17,800 feet. The base camp height is surpassed by only five peaks on the North American continent.

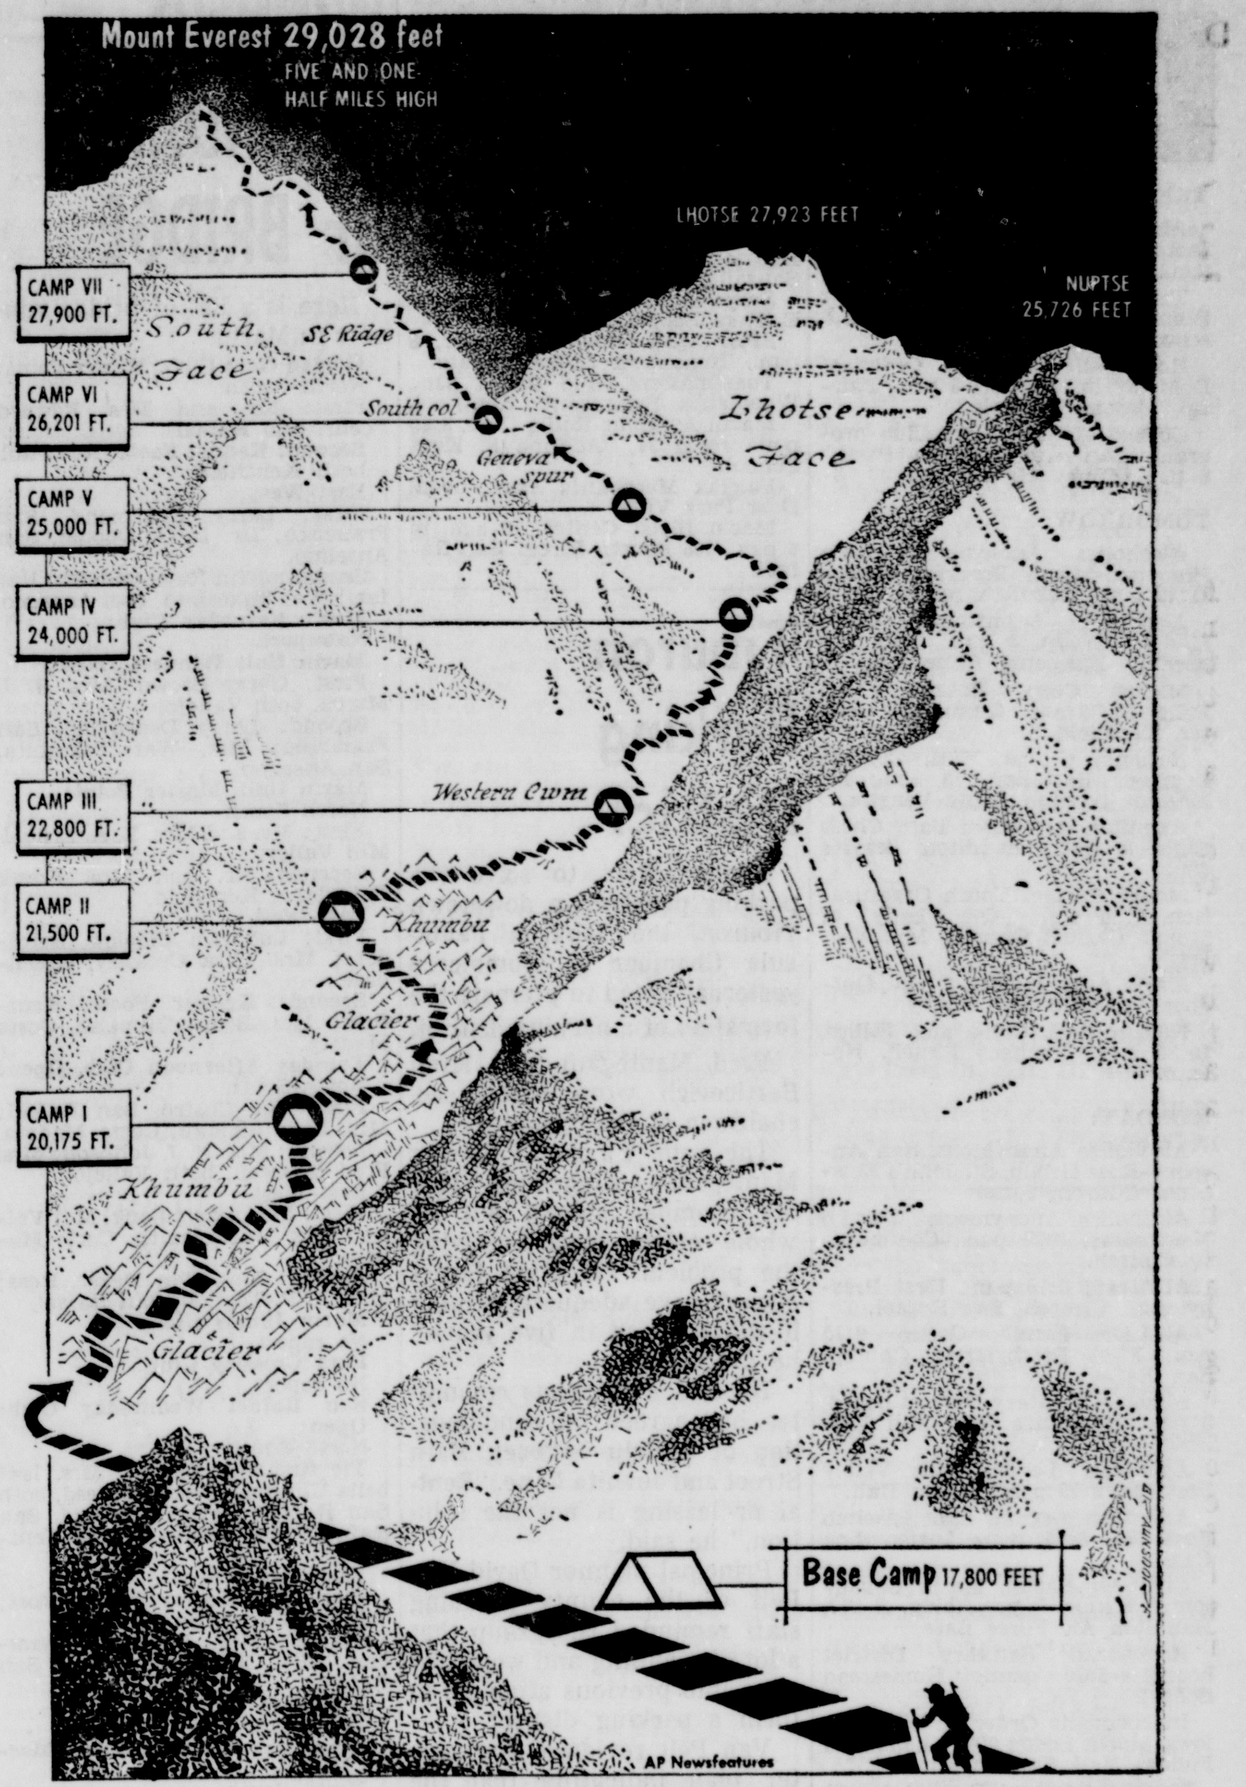
From the base camp, the trail leads up the Khumbu Glacier to the Western Cwm (pronounced kum), a vast ice bowl nestled between the three peaks, Everest, Lhotse and Nuptse.

Right now, according to plan, the climbers are busy establishing camps on Lhotse Face, 22,800 to 25,000 feet high, and reconnoitering campsites up to 27,900 feet on Everest's Southeast Ridge.

The assaults on the 29,028-foot peak of Everest are scheduled to begin May 2 by three teams of two men each. Simultaneously, other two man teams will attempt to scale Lhotse and Nuptse.

Even though all three peaks have been scaled before, the American expedition's chances of success are rated only about 50-50. Conquered mountains retain the hazards that can thwart even the best of climbers.

The Dyhrenfurth expedition started out with 19 American climbers. One, John E. Breitenbach of Jackson, Wyo., was killed in a massive icefall last month even before the expedition was fairly started.



Larry Margolis—$1,250-A-Month Unruh Aide

He's The Man Behind Man You Want To See If You Want Something

By BILL BOYARKSY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Larry Margolis is the man to see if you want to see the man to see in California.

He's a chubby, intense, scholarly person who is paid $1,250 a month as chief assistant to Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, (D-Los Angeles).

And in the legislature, you'd better see Unruh if you want something done.

As assistant to the speaker, Margolis is the highest paid of a growing cadre of consultants and administrative aides who have influence—powerful in some cases—on the lawmaking process of the nation's most populous state.

Few people know their names and that's the way they like it.

But where once legislators relied on intuition or advice from a smooth-talking lobbyist, they now call upon these young men and women to help them judge a bill.

Or, as someone else put it: "We can't be sure that every legislator will be of top quality, but we can at least give them assistants."

Dr. William Schmelze, a University of California professor, receives $1,100 a month for advising the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee. His opinions will play a big part in whether the legislature approves Gov. Brown's tax withholding plan.

Lou Angelo, a $1,000-a-month consultant to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and trusted adviser to its chairman, Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) helps with decisions on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's 3.25-billion-dollar budget.

He has a great passion for anonymity and once got mad at a reporter who used his name—instead of Crown's — in a story.

Margolis has been with Unruh since September, 1960. Before that, the 39-year-old political science graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles was in labor relations, managed political campaigns, and worked in public relations and advertising. From 1954 to 1958, he was a regional director of the American Council for Judaism.

The legislature began looking for expert advice after World War II when the problems of a growing state began to overwhelm a body often dominated by lobbyists and held back by antiquated methods of doing business.

First, the Senate formed 12 fact-finding committees equipped with experts and gave each senator an administrative assistant to help him draw bills, advise him and act as a general political handyman.

The Assembly began by assigning an "intern" to each committee. He, or she, was usually a bright college graduate whose salary was split by the legislature and the Ford Foundation. Soon, the committees hired consultants and this year, each legislator, was given permission to hire an administrative assistant at a salary of up to $600 a month. Forty-four of the 80 assemblymen have done so.

Unruh views the use of experts as a method of assisting a part-time legislature pass laws for a state with full-time problems.

In past years, he said, committees haven't been able to come up with the answers that California needs, often wasting their time on fruitless studies of unimportant proposals.

"With the understaffed and underpaid legislature, we are constantly at the mercy of the third house," Unruh said. The "third house" is what lobbyists are called in Sacramento.

Back in 1955, Unruh recalled, legislators buckled under heavy lobbyist pressure and passed a bill sharply limiting the amount of money the state could receive from tidelands oil leases.

Between sessions, the lawmakers studied the leases and eventually passed another law giving the state a bigger financial share.

"Take educational financing," Unruh said. "We've gotten into a mess on that because the legislature has never had a staff to come up with unbiased answers. We're taken advantage of by pressure groups and the Education Department."

Unruh already has begun a stepped up plan of giving the committees more consultive help, including experts from the academic world.

A consulting firm has been given a contract of at least $20,000 to identify areas where committee study is needed and to suggest ways of revamping the between-session study program.

Leaders of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee plan to spend a weekend at the University of California at Berkeley with tax experts. The Municipal and County Government Committee will have a similar session.

DELAY TO FIRE SEASON

State Officials Appear Pleased Over Benefits Of Heavy Rains

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The northern California April rains —which may have dampened a few Easter bonnets—have happily had the opposite effect on officials of a number of state agencies.

Perhaps the most heartened by the recent rains was the state division of forestry.

"These rains are saving us thousands of dollars a day for the summer fire fighting crews we may not have to hire this year," one official said. "Every drop of water that comes down delays the beginning of this year's fire season, and every day this is delayed is a savings."

The foresters spoke with natural caution—there still will be big fire dangers this year and the public cannot relax its fire prevention efforts — but still said the forests and ranges should be in better shape this year than they have for several years.

During some springs, late rains have been greeted with a lack of enthusiasm by the forestry people, as they have said the moisture merely would cause the growth of more grass and brush to act as igniters for fires. This year, however, they said the fuel already is there to start the fires and any moisture that can be added will be beneficial.

"The dead brush and grass won't be helped," the official said. "But the brush that has been weakened and would have died without rain will now become more vigorous and take more calories of heat to burn."

The division noted this also will be true for trees which should be strengthened by the spring rains and less susceptible to fires.

As a by-product of the rain, the more vigorous trees also will become more disease resistant. This could have a beneficial effect in halting a disease which has been spreading through the mid-Sierra Nevada.

The foresters are not ready to put their enthusiasm down into actual figures yet. Recently, the board the fire danger this season would be from six to 100 times as bad as it was during the dry years during the 1930s. The board plans to re-evaluate this forecast, probably lowering it.

Forestry officials emphasized, however, that most of the benefits from the rain are confined to northern California.

Meanwhile, officials of the U.S. bureau of reclamation in Sacramento indicated they had no concern about capacities of such big dams as Shasta, Folsom, Monticello, Trinity and Friant to hold the new runoff. The bureau had announced recently that reservoirs were well above normal and that a number of them were expected to fill this year—some for the first time and others for the first time in several years.

Officials of the bureau said there still is sufficient capacity left in the reservoirs for flood control purposes. Releases from the dams will not have to be increased appreciably to to handle the new runoff, they said.

In the department of fish and game, Ben Glading, chief of game management, said the late rains will produce more feed for deer. Glading cautioned of course, that most of the benefits from better feed conditions will not be as apparent this year as they will in the next couple of years when deer may be more plentiful because of a higher fawn survival.

German Rockets For Cairo Triggers Wave Of Violence

By RICHARD H. GROWALD

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —The cloak is lifting and the daggers are showing in the twilight world of Germans making rockets for Egypt.

An attractive blonde secretary in Cairo opens a letter from Hamburg and loses one of her pretty blue eyes in an explosion.

Dr. Wolfgang Pilz. who helped Werner von Braun send V1 and V2 rockets exploding on Britain, picks up a specially equipped camping automobile at Munich and vanishes for six months, turning up later in Cairo.

Dr. Hans Kleinwaechter, who tells newsmen he would rather not say exactly what he is working on, drove his automobile toward his Black Forest villa on a side road where the sentinel trees block out even the moonlight. Three men danced out into his path, their waving arms silhouetted in his headlights.

Kleinwaechter jerked his car to a stop. It was carnival time and the scientist smelled a joke. He began to roll down a window to banter with the trio, then a bullet crashed trhough the glass.

It is Feb. 20, 1963, 30 years since Eugen Saenger, an Austrian, became the Einstein of rocketry.

After Hitler grabbed Austria in 1936, the Nazis put Saenger to work building their rocket flight development institute near Hamburg.

They went to work for Egypt.

Saenger said United Arab republic president Gamel Abdel Nasser wanted the rockets for prestige since Israel has developed such rockets.

Israel, perhaps the most delicate point in West Germany's international relations, began protesting against Germans developing Egyptian military rocketry.

"I stopped working for Egypt in October, 1961, when the federal government asked me to," said Saenger. He said, however, his aides refused to cut their ties to Egypt.

The began intrigue and violence.

Dr. Pilz disappeared with his special Volkswagen, equipped with shortwave radio equipment. Only recently Bonn revealed Pilz went to Cairo. It was Pilz's secretary who lost an eye in the exploding letter last November.

The rocket scientist realized it was no carnival joke when the bullet smashed his car window. He jerked to one side and slugged the hand that held the revolver. The weapon clattered to the roadway. The three waylayers fled.

"I would like to say we have seen the end of this thing," said a German police official. "But I can't."

Climbing Mt. Everest For Science

By TOM HENSHAW

An American team of 18 mountaineers and 36 Sherpa porters currently is inching its way to the 29,028-foot summit of Mount Everest, the highest in the world, more in the spirit of science than adventure.

The team, led by Swiss-born Norman G. Dyhrenfurth of Santa Monica includes a psychologist, a sociologist and a glaciologist — and they're working at their trades, too.

Around The World Around The Week

Vientiane — Pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops were reported to be making gains in the Plain of Jars in Laos. The new offensive by the Communists is a violation of the truce agreement reached at Geneva and neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma has appealed to Britain and Russia to intervene.

Omaha — Henrietta Wallenda of the tragedy-plagued circus family, was killed in a fall from a balancing pole during a performance. In 1961 two members of the Wallenda troupe were killed in a fall from a human pyramid on the high wire during a circus performance in Detroit.

Portsmouth, N. H. — The Navy reported more debris was found in the area where the nuclear submarine Thresher sank last Wednesday. At an inquiry earlier this week an officer of the Thresher who missed the sub's final journey because he had an emergency leave of absence, testified that the Thresher had many mechanical problems.

Ottawa — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker resigned and Liberal Party leader Lester Pearson will become the head of government on Monday. Diefenbaker's Progressive Conservative Party was defeated in Canada's parliamentary election after one of the dominion's hottest campaigns in years.

Tiburon Parking District

In an effort to solve the parking problem in downtown Tiburon, the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday voted to promote the formation of a parking district.

Fred Mantegani and Mimi Berticevich were named co-chairmen of the committee.

The vote came following Mantegani's suggestion that the chamber should put its whole effort toward solving the problem. "If Main Street doesn't have adequate parking it will be dead in five years," he predicted.

He said a previous committee had agreed on condemnation of a strip between Main Street and Juanita Lane. "Rental or leasing is not the solution," he said.

Principal planner David Van Pelt of the county planning staff reminded the group that a lot of planning and work had gone into previous attempts to form a parking district.

Van Pelt reviewed the master plan indicating that the only change had been the moving of the high school site, which he called an improvement.

Tiburon Parking District

In an effort to solve the parking problem in downtown Tiburon, the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday voted to promote the formation of a parking district.

Fred Mantegani and Mimi Berticevich were named co-chairmen of the committee.

The vote came following Mantegani's suggestion that the chamber should put its whole effort toward solving the problem. "If Main Street doesn't have adequate parking it will be dead in five years." he predicted.

He said a previous committee had agreed on condemnation of a strip between Main Street and Juanita Lane. "Rental or leasing is not the solution," he said.

Principal planner David Van Pelt of the county planning staff reminded the group that a lot of planning and work had gone into previous attempts to form a parking district.

Van Pelt reviewed the master plan indicating that the only change had been the moving of the high school site, which he called an improvement.

4 BEDROOM HOME PLUS EXTRA LAND

A long curved driveway leads to the house where trees are in profusion. Here is true country atmosphere with plenty of land surrounding the home itself. The huge patio actually provides a private playground for the children. Two baths serve the 4 bedrooms and there is a breakfast area and large dining area which are wonderful for the large family. Best of all, the EXTRA land is a LEGAL BUILDING SITE which you can sell off or hold for appreciation. You will agree that value is here at $30,750.

DEAR MR. SPECULATOR:

Some years ago you had a chance to buy a 10-acre spread with a little white house and a horse corral, but you thought $15,000 was too high. The property is now being offered for $40,000. With that new development starting nearby, I wonder what this property will bring a few years from now. Yours truly, TOP PROPERTIES — William Bell, 456-7330; eves. 892-2798.

Liturgical Art Show Will Run 3 Days At Inverness

The Fifth Annual Liturgical Art Show and Silver Tea at St. Columba's Episcopal Church, Inverness, will be held from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Friday through April 27.

It is the first time that the show, featuring many ancient relices gathered from throughout the Bay Area, has been extended over three days. Previous shows have been one afternoon only.

The show is sponsored by the St. Mary's Altar Guild of the church. Chairman is Mrs. Robert L. Bruckman of Inverness, retired art teacher and wife of a master bookbinder.

Mrs. Bruckman, who has done graduate work in art, has assembled similar shows for Grace Cathedral and Church of the Advent in San Francisco.

Theme of this year's show is Stations of the Cross. Rev. Richard V. Barron has loaned the Stations of the Cross that were installed in St. Mary Magdalene's Catholic Church in Bolinas many years ago and another from his rectory installed in 1911.

Artist Warren Chase Merritt of Olema will show his series of murals that are to be installed in St. Aidan's Episcopal Church, Bolinas. Mrs. David McClure of Point Reyes will show a statue of St. Francis, and Mrs. Thomas T. Storer of Inverness Park will display a triptych entitled "Peace Bird."

A 19th Century Russian Gospel, encased in silver which is carved in high relief, and an 11th Century Byzantine Icon, laid with gold leaf after mosaic technique, has been loaned by Spyros Vontetsianos.

Artist Viktor Ries has loaned several examples of his work which has recently been displayed at the DeYoung Museum in San Francisco. DeYoung and the San Franicisco Museum of Art also have loaned works for the exhibit.

Rev. Demetri Egoroff of the Russian Orthodox Retreat at Inverness Park has loaned several icons. There will be a display of Bibles from the collection at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, and a display of archeological items from the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley.

Evensong services will be held at 4:30 p.m. each day of the show, lead by Dr. Francis W. Reed, vicar of St. Columba's.

Mission Giving Will Get Specific Meaning

U. P. INTERNATIONAL

It's hard for the average church member to feel any sense of personal involvement in the world mission of the church when he merely contributes a few dollars indirectly to the total missionary budget.

Recognizing this fact, the Presbyterian U.S. Board of World Missions has come up with a new plan for "personalized giving."

The board has published a long list of specific items which are urgently needed by Presbyterian missions overseas. Each item carries a definite price tag. The "personalized giving" catalog also includes the cost of specific services which contributors may underwrite.

The prices range from $1 (for a Bible printed in Portugese to be distributed in Brazil to $21,000, for an airplane to reach frontier settlements in Latin America. One month's care for a tuberculosis patient in Korea costs $20. You can provide a surgical operation for a charity patient in The Congo for $30, or pay an entire year's salary for a Chinese Evangelist in Taiwan for $360.

Inter-Faith Breakfast Saturday At Seminary

An inter-faith breakfast sponsored by the Marin County Council of Churches will be held at 8 a.m. Saturday at Alexander Hall in San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo.

Representatives of all religious groups of the county are invited.

Missionary Will Speak

Dr. William A. Chisholm, board representative for World Presbyterian Missions and a medical missionary in Korea since 1923, will speak at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the Marin Evangelical Free Church tomorrow. Services are held in the San Rafael Improvement Club at the corner of H Street and Fifth Avenue.

Martin Luther Film

"Martin Luther," the movie film, will be shown in the Fellowship Hall of the Redwoods Presbyterian Church, Larkspur, at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. It is sponsored by the junior high department of the church school. The public is invited.

Right Wing Flutters Yet Over Church

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

But the radical right is still causing trouble for churches in some communities. And even in areas where its influence has declined sharply, church leaders are wary of a possible resurgence.

It asked state and local church councils in all sections of the country whether they have detected any change in rightist pressures, such as the "Communists-in-the clergy" charges which sowed widespread confusion and discord among U.S. religious bodies in 1962.

Of the 96 state and local councils responding to the survey, 52 reported a decrease in such attacks. Fifteen others said they never had experienced any serious trouble.

Fifteen council said things are about the same, and 14 felt there has been some increase in rightist pressure during the past year.

Among the areas reporting a notable improvement were several communities in Southern California and Arizona, where churches were perhaps more seriously demoralized by controversy than anywhere else in the nation.

In Phoenix, for example, several congregations which were split wide open a year ago are now reported to be reunited. Some people who cancelled their memberships in major protestant churches are quietly returning.

In Texas, another main center of rightist activity, a church leader said extremist groups "are not as blatant now, and are working with less fanfare." He cautioned, however, that "in a few sizeable communities, the extreme right remains a powerful force."

Many of the respondents said that rightest groups are trying as hard as ever to stir up distrust of the clergy and the national council of churches, but church members are not listening to the attacks as uncritically as they once did.

A report from Denver spoke of "a more sane and balanced view by many church lay people" as the major factor in a generally calmer climate. A church official in Long Beach said responsible church members are "wiser now about right wing tactics than they were a year ago."

"More of the people at the grass roots level are beginning to see through the fallacies of these attacks," said a report from Wichita Falls, Tex.

"People in our churches seem more willing to look at the overall picture for themselves rather than take someone's word as authority," said a church leader in Spokane, Wash.

Not all of the reports were optimistic, however. From Miami, Fla., the word was: "Little change here . . . Miami still remains a dangerous place to mention 'National Council of Churches.'"

From Michigan came a warning that rightist groups, while "dormant" at present, "would spring to life again if given the right issue or impetus."

That appraisal was supported by reports from several cities, where specific incidents have triggered a local increase in rightest activity during recent months.

In Atlanta, for example, a church leader said that right wing elements really strutted their stuff" when a delegation of Russian churchmen visited the city during March.

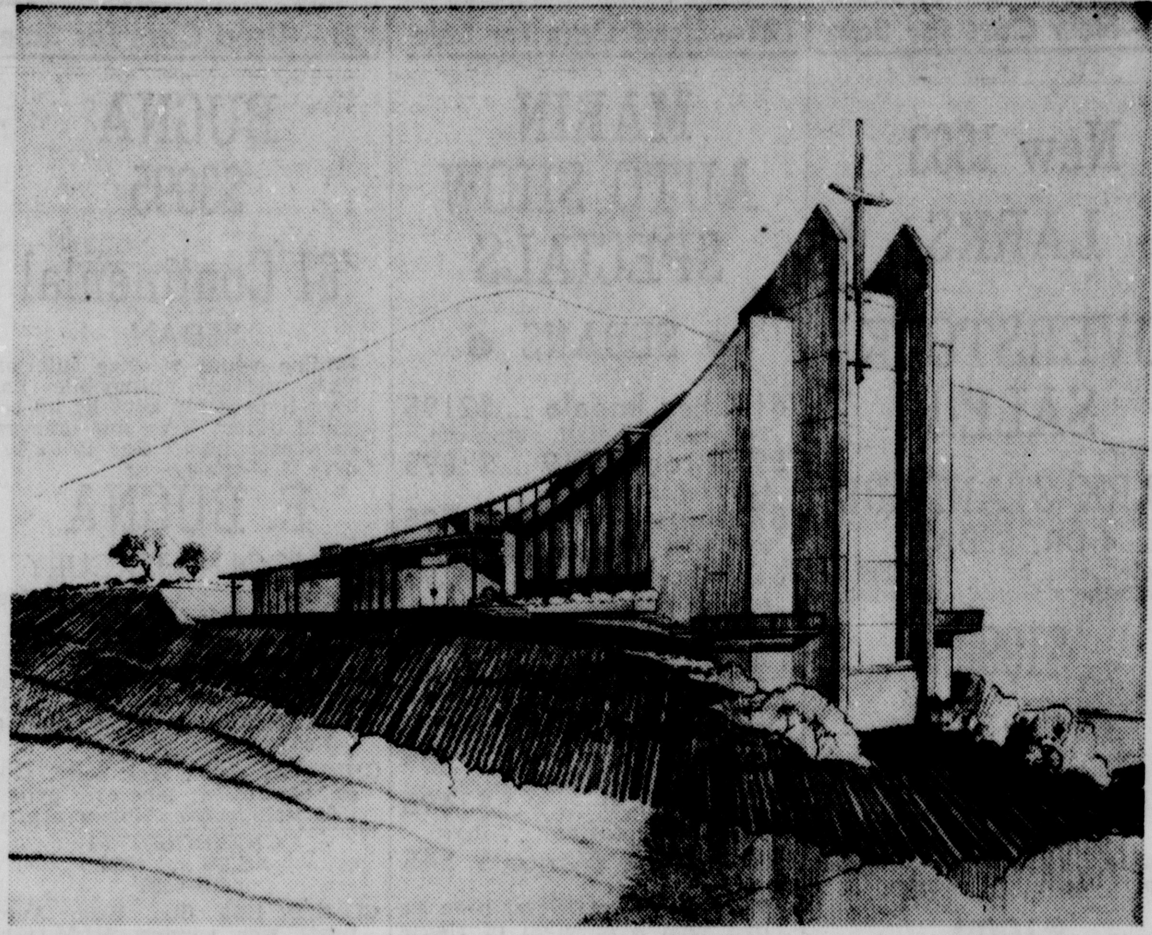
"The minute our council takes a stand on race relations or some other controversial social issue, the right wing pressures are just as strong as ever against us," said a report from Oklahoma.

Taken as a whole, the responses to the survey seem to corroborate a conclusion voiced earlier in the year by the Anti-defamation League of B'nai B'rith:

"The radical right movement reached its peak some time in mid-1962 and then began to decline. But reports of its death are exaggerated and premature. It remains a meaningful force on the American scene."

Corte Madera Speaker

Guest speaker at Marin Lutheran Church, Corte Madera, at 8:30 and 11 a.m. tomorrow will be Rev. Elmer Laursen of San Francisco, a member of the staff of Lutheran Welfare Service of Northern California. He is the first full-time Protestant chaplain at the University of California Hospitals, San Francisco Medical Center.



NEW SHAPE—Plans for the Community Congregational Church will give a new shape to Tiburon hilltop. ·Plans for the church, soon to be built, were drawn by San Francisco architects Don Hatch and Bolton White.

Tiburon Church On Hilltop Will Command Wide Vistas

The Community Congregational Church of Belvedere - Tiburon will be built on 4.5 acres on a knoll above Hawthorne Terrace which commands a view of Belvedere, Sausalito, Mount Tamalpais and the towers of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Architects Don Hatch and Bolton White of San Francisco have designed the building with a sweeping roof curving upward from a single-floor social room at one end to the towering chancel of the sanctuary facing southwest at the brow of the hill. Two tall textured concrete piers will enclose a cross. Windows on either side of the nave will view and yet restrict sun and sky glare in the interior.

Construction is expected to begin shortly on the first of three units. The first unit is a 7,000 square feet comprising the social hall, fellowship room, kitchen, classrooms and offices.

The second 6,000 square foot unit will be the sanctuary, and the final, of 2,500 square feet unit, is to consist of additional classroom space, for a total of 15,500 square feet.

The first unit will serve temporarily as a complete church with the congregation meeting in the social room.

When completed the sanctuary will seat 300. There will be parking for 70 cars.

Exterior materials will generally be stained wood and textured concrete with a steeply sloping roof of metal. An interior landscaped court will connect the first and second units.

Dr. Benton S. Gaskell is minister of the community church which was organized as a congregation of the United Church of Christ with 46 members almost three years ago. It has grown to 120 members and meets for Sunday services at the Tiburon Playhouse. Church school classes are held at the Boardwalk.

Wednesday night at a dinner at the San Francisco Yacht Club, members reviewed the plans for the building. Samuel Fordyce is general chairman of the building project. Committee members are George Sherman and Russell Baum, construction; Arthur D. Talbott, Martin Bredsteen and Mrs. Harold Green, publicity; Robert D. Evans and Allan Littman finance and Jay D. Cason and Mrs. Herbert Spilman, furnishings.

A fund raising drive to support construction costs is being planned under the direction of John Hoffmire. David Kilmer and Robert G. Smith will assist him.

Construction costs for the first unit are $118 000 which will be met by loans, a grant, the sale of lots and pledges.

Churchmen Ponder New Wording For Old Law

U. P. INTERNATIONAL

There's fresh talk in some Protestant circles of a drive to rewrite the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution if the Supreme Court holds that it forbids prayer and Bible reading in public schools.

The Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, Episcopal bishop of California, says the court has been interpreting the First Amendment's ban on an establishment of religion in a more sweeping way than the founding fathers ever envisioned. He thinks that the wording of the amendment should be changed to make clear that the government is barred only from "recognizing any particular denomination or sect" as an "established" or official state church.

Dr. George L. Ford, executive director of the National Association of Evangelicals, predicts that many conservative Protestants will support suchc a "clarification" of the First Amendment if the Supreme Court's forthcoming ruling bars all religious exercises from public schools.

McGUCKEN TO DEDICATE MARIN CHURCH

The Most Rev. Joseph Thomas McGucken, archbishop of San Francisco, will dedicate the new Our Lady of Loretto Catholic Church on Novato Boulevard and Seventh Street in Novato at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow.

A Solemn Mass will follow the dedication ceremonies.

The new $254,000 church was opened for its first mass on Palm Sunday, said Rev. Charles Farrell, pastor.

The former church on Grant Avenue at Second Street will still be used occasionally for religious services, Rev. Farrell said. The building is up for sale.

Christian Science Talk

Arnold H. Exo of Evanston, Ill., a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the First Church of Christ, Science, San Rafael.

Korean Missionary Due

Chang Ho Lee, a young Christian convert from Korea sent to the United States as a missionary from his Presbyterian church, will be guest speaker at 8 p.m. services Thursday at Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church, Corte Madera.

Artist Viktor Ries has loaned several examples of his work which has recently been displayed at the DeYoung Museum in San Francisco. DeYoung and the San Franicisco Museum of Art also have loaned works for the exhibit.

Rev. Demetri Egoroff of the Russian Orthodox Retreat at Inverness Park has loaned several icons. There will be a display of Bibles from the collection at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, and a display of archeological items from the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley.

Evensong services will be held at 4:30 p.m. each day of the show, lead by Dr. Francis W. Reed, vicar of St. Columba's.

Mission Giving Will Get Specific Meaning

U. P. INTERNATIONAL

It's hard for the average church member to feel any sense of personal involvement in the world mission of the church when he merely contributes a few dollars indirectly to the total missionary budget.

Recognizing this fact, the Presbyterian U.S. Board of World Missions has come up with a new plan for "personalized giving."

The board has published a long list of specific items which are urgently needed by Presbyterian missions overseas. Each item carries a definite price tag. The "personalized giving" catalog also includes the cost of specific services which contributors may underwrite.

The prices range from $1 (for a Bible printed in Portugese to be distributed in Brazil to $21,000, for an airplane to reach frontier settlements in Latin America. One month's care for a tuberculosis patient in Korea costs $20. You can provide a surgical operation for a charity patient in The Congo for $30, or pay an entire year's salary for a Chinese Evangelist in Taiwan for $360.

Inter-Faith Breakfast Saturday At Seminary

An inter-faith breakfast sponsored by the Marin County Council of Churches will be held at 8 a.m. Saturday at Alexander Hall in San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo.

Representatives of all religious groups of the county are invited.

Missionary Will Speak

Dr. William A. Chisholm, board representative for World Presbyterian Missions and a medical missionary in Korea since 1923, will speak at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the Marin Evangelical Free Church tomorrow. Services are held in the San Rafael Improvement Club at the corner of H Street and Fifth Avenue.

Martin Luther Film

"Martin Luther," the movie film, will be shown in the Fellowship Hall of the Redwoods Presbyterian Church, Larkspur, at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. It is sponsored by the junior high department of the church school. The public is invited.

Right Wing Flutters Yet Over Church

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

But the radical right is still causing trouble for churches in some communities. And even in areas where its influence has declined sharply, church leaders are wary of a possible resurgence.

It asked state and local church councils in all sections of the country whether they have detected any change in rightist pressures, such as the "Communists-in-the clergy" charges which sowed widespread confusion and discord among U.S. religious bodies in 1962.

Of the 96 state and local councils responding to the survey, 52 reported a decrease in such attacks. Fifteen others said they never had experienced any serious trouble.

Fifteen council said things are about the same, and 14 felt there has been some increase in rightist pressure during the past year.

Among the areas reporting a notable improvement were several communities in Southern California and Arizona, where churches were perhaps more seriously demoralized by controversy than anywhere else in the nation.

In Phoenix, for example, several congregations which were split wide open a year ago are now reported to be reunited. Some people who cancelled their memberships in major protestant churches are quietly returning.

In Texas, another main center of rightist activity, a church leader said extremist groups "are not as blatant now, and are working with less fanfare." He cautioned, however, that "in a few sizeable communities, the extreme right remains a powerful force."

Many of the respondents said that rightest groups are trying as hard as ever to stir up distrust of the clergy and the national council of churches, but church members are not listening to the attacks as uncritically as they once did.

A report from Denver spoke of "a more sane and balanced view by many church lay people" as the major factor in a generally calmer climate. A church official in Long Beach said responsible church members are "wiser now about right wing tactics than they were a year ago."

"More of the people at the grass roots level are beginning to see through the fallacies of these attacks," said a report from Wichita Falls, Tex.

"People in our churches seem more willing to look at the overall picture for themselves rather than take someone's word as authority," said a church leader in Spokane, Wash.

Not all of the reports were optimistic, however. From Miami, Fla., the word was: "Little change here . . . Miami still remains a dangerous place to mention 'National Council of Churches.'"

From Michigan came a warning that rightist groups, while "dormant" at present, "would spring to life again if given the right issue or impetus."

That appraisal was supported by reports from several cities, where specific incidents have triggered a local increase in rightest activity during recent months.

In Atlanta, for example, a church leader said that right wing elements really strutted their stuff" when a delegation of Russian churchmen visited the city during March.

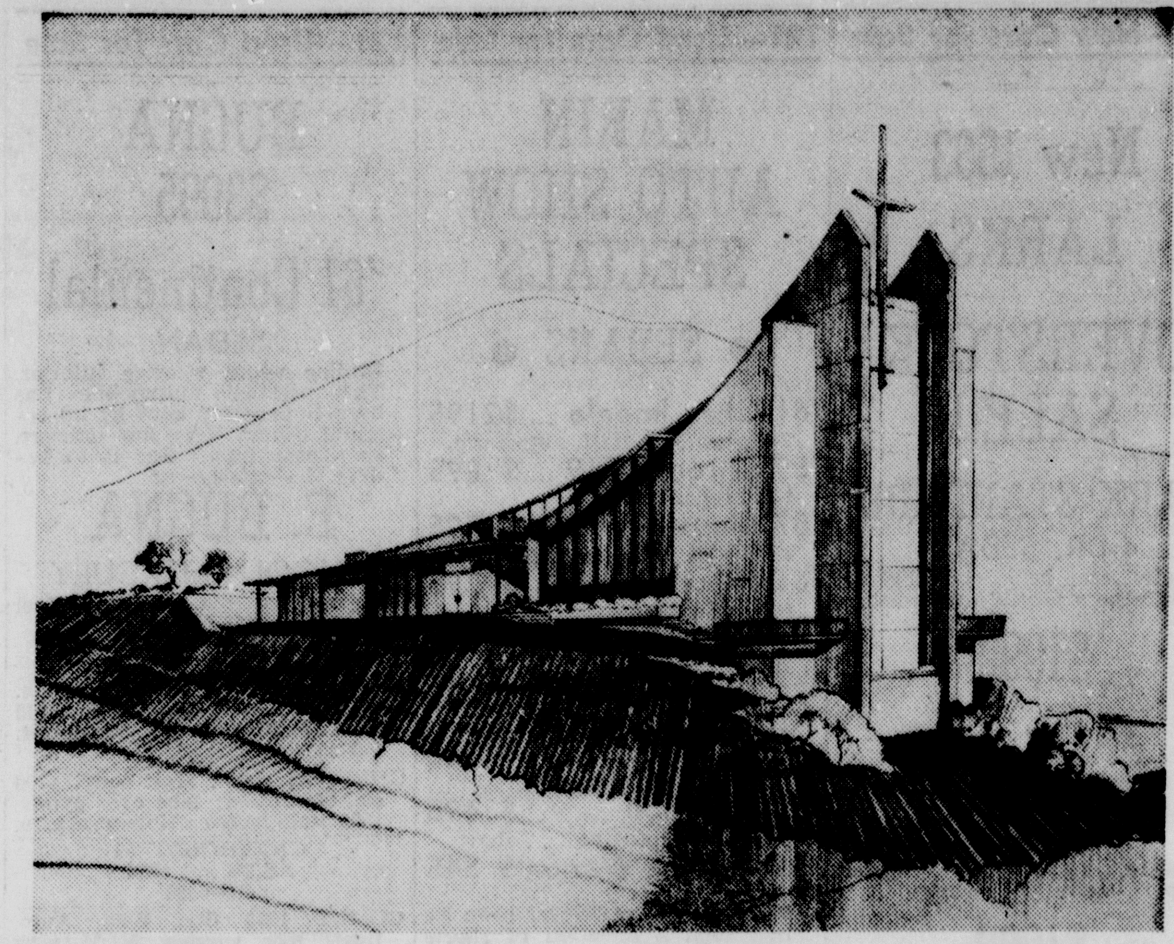
"The minute our council takes a stand on race relations or some other controversial social issue, the right wing pressures are just as strong as ever against us," said a report from Oklahoma.

Taken as a whole, the responses to the survey seem to corroborate a conclusion voiced earlier in the year by the Anti-defamation League of B'nai B'rith:

"The radical right movement reached its peak some time in mid-1962 and then began to decline. But reports of its death are exaggerated and premature. It remains a meaningful force on the American scene."

Corte Madera Speaker

Guest speaker at Marin Lutheran Church, Corte Madera, at 8:30 and 11 a.m. tomorrow will be Rev. Elmer Laursen of San Francisco, a member of the staff of Lutheran Welfare Service of Northern California. He is the first full-time Protestant chaplain at the University of California Hospitals, San Francisco Medical Center.



NEW SHAPE—Plans for the Community Congregational Church will give a new shape to Tiburon hilltop. ·Plans for the church, soon to be built, were drawn by San Francisco architects Don Hatch and Bolton White.

Tiburon Church On Hilltop Will Command Wide Vistas

The Community Congregational Church of Belvedere - Tiburon will be built on 4.5 acres on a knoll above Hawthorne Terrace which commands a view of Belvedere, Sausalito, Mount Tamalpais and the towers of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Architects Don Hatch and Bolton White of San Francisco have designed the building with a sweeping roof curving upward from a single-floor social room at one end to the towering chancel of the sanctuary facing southwest at the brow of the hill. Two tall textured concrete piers will enclose a cross. Windows on either side of the nave will view and yet restrict sun and sky glare in the interior.

Construction is expected to begin shortly on the first of three units. The first unit is a 7,000 square feet comprising the social hall, fellowship room, kitchen, classrooms and offices.

The second 6,000 square foot unit will be the sanctuary, and the final, of 2,500 square feet unit, is to consist of additional classroom space, for a total of 15,500 square feet.

The first unit will serve temporarily as a complete church with the congregation meeting in the social room.

When completed the sanctuary will seat 300. There will be parking for 70 cars.

Exterior materials will generally be stained wood and textured concrete with a steeply sloping roof of metal. An interior landscaped court will connect the first and second units.

Dr. Benton S. Gaskell is minister of the community church which was organized as a congregation of the United Church of Christ with 46 members almost three years ago. It has grown to 120 members and meets for Sunday services at the Tiburon Playhouse. Church school classes are held at the Boardwalk.

Wednesday night at a dinner at the San Francisco Yacht Club, members reviewed the plans for the building. Samuel Fordyce is general chairman of the building project. Committee members are George Sherman and Russell Baum, construction; Arthur D. Talbott, Martin Bredsteen and Mrs. Harold Green, publicity; Robert D. Evans and Allan Littman finance and Jay D. Cason and Mrs. Herbert Spilman, furnishings.

A fund raising drive to support construction costs is being planned under the direction of John Hoffmire, David Kilmer and Robert G. Smith will assist him.

Construction costs for the first unit are $118 000 which will be met by loans, a grant, the sale of lots and pledges.

Churchmen Ponder New Wording For Old Law

U. P. INTERNATIONAL

There's fresh talk in some Protestant circles of a drive to rewrite the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution if the Supreme Court holds that it forbids prayer and Bible reading in public schools.

The Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, Episcopal bishop of California, says the court has been interpreting the First Amendment's ban on an establishment of religion in a more sweeping way than the founding fathers ever envisioned. He thinks that the wording of the amendment should be changed to make clear that the government is barred only from "recognizing any particular denomination or sect" as an "established" or official state church.

Dr. George L. Ford, executive director of the National Association of Evangelicals, predicts that many conservative Protestants will support suche a "clarification" of the First Amendment if the Supreme Court's forthcoming ruling bars all religious exercises from public schools.

Christian Science Talk

Arnold H. Exo of Evanston, Ill., a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the First Church of Christ, Science, San Rafael.

Korean Missionary Due

Chang Ho Lee, a young Christian convert from Korea sent to the United States as a missionary from his Presbyterian church, will be guest speaker at 8 p.m. services Thursday at Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church, Corte Madera.

McGUCKEN TO DEDICATE MARIN CHURCH

The Most Rev. Joseph Thomas McGucken, archbishop of San Francisco, will dedicate the new Our Lady of Loretto Catholic Church on Novato Boulevard and Seventh Street in Novato at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow.

A Solemn Mass will follow the dedication ceremonies.

The new $254,000 church was opened for its first mass on Palm Sunday, said Rev. Charles Farrell, pastor.

The former church on Grant Avenue at Second Street will still be used occasionally for religious services, Rev. Farrell said. The building is up for sale.

It's A New Idea In Automobile Shows

By HARRY CRAFT

The concept of a "Showroom Auto Show" is without precedent in Marin County, and promises to surpass any other form of concentrated effort that some 25 Marin new car dealers could use to display their latest models to full advantage.

It is ideally suited to Marin for one very simple reason: There is no under-roof location in the county large enough to hold all the many types of vehicles now available to potential buyers. And if dealers were limited to two or three models each in a central exhibiting area, the automobile market would be only partially represented.

ONE OF THE virtues claimed for the automobile industry's multiple model output today is its ability to supply "a car for every pocketbook, purpose or whim." This can best be demonstrated in each dealer's own showroom where color choices, option combinations and special features are there for the "looking" and need not be limited entirely to selecting from brochure illustrations and specification tables.

Demonstrator models are also on hand for immediate use.

An example of this is in the statement of dealer Larry Brink, who expects to have one of every model on display at his two Mill Valley showrooms.

"There will also be multiple variations on many of them," he promises. "Whereas, if we had to limit our display to a few cars we'd probably feature the new Mercury Marauder and maybe one or two others."

THE SHOW, scheduled to continue through next week with all dealers keeping open tomorrow for this one special event only, is timed to coincide with the spring surge of automobile interest that always takes place at this time of year.

"Winter sales have been exceptionally brisk compared to previous years," notes James C. Scripture, San Rafael Oldsmobile dealer and vice president of the Northern California Automobile Dealers Assn., "but the second half of the model-season is even more active. Mid-year factory shipments bring new options, body styles and appointments that weren't available last October."

Some automobile manufacturers describe these recent additions as "1963½ models." Many of them will be featured highlights of the "Showroom Auto Show."

CARRYING OUT the carnival spirit that generally pervades auto shows, dealers in many parts of the county are expected to arrange special events. Ames Ford Sales in San Rafael will give away balloons to the youngsters and free cans of "Spare Tire" to adults taking demonstration rides.

"We'll also make special deals on station wagons and convertibles," sales manager Lou Concilio said. "And in several other ways we'll try to keep up the tempo of the week in auto show style."

Similarly in Larkspur, Hil Probert Motors will be handing out presents to persons taking demonstration rides in the Toyota Landcruiser, and a drawing for a gun case and fishing rod and reel will be held next Saturday.

Other showrooms will have featured attractions, stepped-up trade-in allowances or demonstration conveniences.

THE NOVELTY of a decentralized auto show, with all dealers in the county participating, is expected to draw thousands of visitors to salesrooms tonight and during the coming week.

"There is no reason why this shouldn't be just as effective and interesting as having cars displayed in one location," he commented. "If it lives up to expectations, we'll repeat the program next year."

EVERYONE IS INVITED TO VISIT CAR DEALERS

Marin County's new car dealers will be holding their first "Showroom Auto Show" opening tonight and continuing through next week.

They are inviting you to visit their showrooms and admire the fine 1963 models that are on display there.

The list below tells you where Marin dealers are located—and the names of the automobiles which they handle, most of which will be on display during the auto show.

You'll find the always friendly dealers and their employees even friendlier during this special event. And you'll be impressed with the quality automotive products which they are offering in their 1963 models.

But first, for an advance "preview" of many of those fine 1963 automobiles, turn through the pages of this special section of your Independent-Journal Marin Magazine. You'll find dozens of pictures of these outstanding cars along with special features on car maintenance, the selection of a new automobile, safe driving and other subjects important to every motorist.

You will also find advertisements from automobile dealers, garages and other automotive firms telling you what is new in their lines.

Facts And Figures On Cars And Owners

Since 1896, U.S. manufacturers have produced 165 million cars and 35 million commercial vehicles.

Passenger car registrations have increased by 49 percent in the past decade, reaching 65,644,000 in 1962 along with 13,016,000 trucks and buses for a grand total of 78,660,000. California leads the nation in motor vehicle ownership with 7,229,000 cars registered.

A TOTAL OF 7,900,000 American households now own two or more cars.

All these—and many more statistics—can be found in the 1963 edition of "Automobile Facts & Figures," published by the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. Inc., 320 New Center Building, Detroit, 2, Mich.

You also learn from the booklet that 38 per cent of the sales of U.S. manufactured passenger cars in 1962 were four-door sedans.

That 61 billion gallons of highway motor fuels were consumed in this country in 1962.

That the U.S. accounted for 46 percent of the world's motor vehicle production in 1962.

THAT THE value of U.S. motor vehicles and automotive components exported in 1961 totaled $1,300,000,000.

That the average age of passenger cars in use in the U.S. is six years and trucks eight years.

That 21.6 per cent of American households still own no automobiles.

That special motor vehicle taxes collected in 1962 reached an all-time high of $11,400,000,000.

THAT MEMBER countries of the European Common Market produced 26 percent of the world's total output of vehicles in 1962.

That 63 percent of all metropolitan workers use private automobiles to get to work, and that 74 percent of those living outside the central city use cars for their home-to-work transportation.

That the U.S. continues to lead the world in per capita ownerships of vehicles with 2.4 persons per vehicle in 1962.

CHANGES IN ROOF design gave the 1963 Cadillac Coupe de Ville this new silhouette —a combination of a more sporty look with the traditional Cadillac air of formality. The rear deck is seven inches longer, adding to the appearance of great length, although in actuality in total dimensions the 1963 Coupe de Ville is only one inch longer than last year's model. The framed-in back window is 38 per cent smaller in over-all area.

The Women Have Their Say

Automobile manufacturers are paying more and more attention to what the distaff side of the market has to say.

All this comes about because about one-third of the automobile drivers in the United States today are women and women seem to be taking an even greater interest in the buying of the family car.

THIS PAYING attention to the distaff side of the market, however, is really nothing too new. From the beginning, women have been having something of a say and the original glove compartment, assist straps, inside lighting, carpeting on the floor, and more ample luggage space all found their way into the automobile fairly much at the suggestion of women.

Women, moreover, have been insistent in their demand for an automobile that was easier to handle and of recent years this demand has led manufacturers to develop cars that are lighter, lower slung and leaner looking, cars that have many power assists to make steering, braking, adjusting of seats and raising and lowering of windows easier for the driver.

Automatic transmissions have been brought in to eliminate the shifting of gears and the working of the clutch pedal.

IN MANY ways you will find the fine influence of women at work.

It is largely they who have been responsible for the introduction of larger back-up lights, wider doorways for more graceful entry and exit, more adjustable sun visors and mirrors on the back of these visors, glove drawers, "picture windows" for better vision, the grouping of instruments on the dashboard for easier reach, and linen for the covering of seats.

Auto Insurance—Highly Competitive

It's A Big Business, But Not Always Profitable For Firms

By JOHN SCHUCK

Last year nearly 400 stock, mutual and reciprocal insurance companies wrote an estimated $825,000,000 in premiums on automobiles.

But their incurred losses of some $475,000,000 plus operating expenses, which include commissions, taxes, payrolls, and loss investigation and settlement costs, just about equalled their premium income.

Break-even results — or worse—and in individual company instances, frequently much worse—have characterized this important line during the past 15 years.

Most insurance people foresee equally poor prospects for the future, yet competition continues unabated because automobile business constitutes nearly half of the state's total premium volume for insurance other than life.

FANTASTIC competition exists for "good" automobile business, expressing itself in many ingenious formulae calculated to produce low cost for the drivers considered to fall in this category. These rating plans, conversely, develop discouragingly high premiums for undesirable risks. And underwriters decline a sizable percentage of offerings as unacceptable at any price, unless forced upon them through the "Assigned Risk Plan."

Drivers over age 25 and under age 65, with a record of citation-free safe driving, are eagerly sought out at lower-than-normal premiums. By the same token, young drivers—particularly the unmarried males—and the elderly are rated-up or, as frequently happens, turned down.

Soldiers, itinerant workers, persons in the entertainment world or connected with retail sale of liquor, those with physical impairments or limited in ability to speak or understand English also encounter difficulty.

VIEWED AS most undesirable are persons reputed to use alcoholic beverages to excess or who have been convicted of driving while intoxicated, the hit-runners, and the chronically accident-prone.

The "Safe Driver Insurance Plan" introduced several years ago in California as the initial experimental area has now been adopted by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters in most states. Some companies employ variations of minor nature, but in all cases the attempt is to differentiate between the most and the least desirable private passenger automobile risks.

The past record of motor vehicle operation by all members of the insurance applicant's immediate family determines the graduation of the premium for liability and collision in a range from 80 per cent to 200 per cent of normal (so-called "manual") premium.

Those who can't manage to buy insurance at any price through normal sales channels can turn to the "Assigned Risk Plan."

ALL INSURANCE companies licensed to write automobile insurance in California are obliged to participate in this "bad risk" pooling arrangement. Applicants are assigned, in rotation, to insurance companies who are required to provide only the minimum of liability insurance protection, and must do so unless their investigation shows the applicant to fall into one of the numerous categories of ineligibility described in the legalistic language of Section 2431 of Article 8, Chapter 5 of California Administrative Code Title 10.

The man who is there disqualified had better get a chauffeur or become a pedestrian.

THE EXCLUSIVE CHRYSLER New Yorker series offers the ultimate in a luxury car. With its 413-cubic-inch V-8 engine with single four-barrel carburetor, the 1963 Chrysler combines full-size elegance with outstanding performance. Luxury of the Chrysler is expressed in large doors and distinctive town car appeal of its roof and rear window design. This is the New Yorker hardtop.

Auto Firms Also Make Other Things

Although members of the automotive industry turn out each year about 75 per cent of the world's passenger cars and half its trucks, they don't carry all their eggs in one basket.

They play a not inconsiderable part in every field of mechanized transport and in many other industries too.

THEY MAKE diesel locomotives and parts, journal boxes and bearings for railroad cars, transmissions for heavy-duty rail cars, and railroad electrical equipment. They build marine power units ranging from the fisherman's trolling motor to huge diesels. Both airframes and aircraft engines come from their plants.

Millions of American homes contain appliances made by automotive firms: Refrigerators, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, food freezers, electric stoves, heating units, water heaters, automatic washers, clothes dryers, ironers, kitchen cabinets and sinks, garbage disposal units, ventilating fans, power lawn movers. Children have bicycles, miniature automobiles, baby strollers, and lawn gymnasium built by auto workers.

A full line of farm tractors and other farm equipment is provided, plus such things as bonding cements, building panels, cigaret lighters, earth-moving equipment, mobile power generators, electric water systems for rural homes, water coolers, frozen food display cases, hydraulic pumps, two-way radio equipment.

HOW WOULD you like a miniature soda fountain for your recreation room? That's right. The automotive companies make these too.

An Expert Offers Some Advice For Fleet Managers

'Be Safety-Minded' Is Message From Traffic Institute Chief

Many top managements fail to give motor fleet safety their attention until accumulated costs of vehicle accidents "explode in red ink on the loss side of the ledger," Bernard R. Caldwell, director of the Traffic Institute, Northwestern University, says.

Caldwell urges top-level management to recognize fleet safety operations as directly affecting a company's public image, the availability of its products and services, and the morale of its employees—as well as profit and loss.

"WHEN FLEET safety programs are being discussed," he says, "many managements know the music, but few know the words." Too often, he stresses, fleet accident prevention is given a low priority among problems competing for management's attention, and he adds:

"Chief executives are not always made fully aware of vehicle-use hazards and the possibility of accidents prior to the time accidents occur. One reason for this is traceable to the fleet supervisor who is so concerned with mechanical aspects of transportation he neglects his important responsibility as a safety adviser."

Caldwell says fleet safety "is a major area of business activity requiring the same positive direction and control provided other functions or activities by management policy. Effective fleet safety can be developed only from a plan that centers repsonsibility and that provides an adequate system for communicating essential information on progress and problems."

URGING THE administrators to check their companies' views on traffic safety, he asks:

"Are guidelines established on highway safety and have these guides been published? If not, urge your executives to endorse the needed statements. Also, does safety engineering influence personnel employment practices, training and supervision? An example will illustrate this latter point:

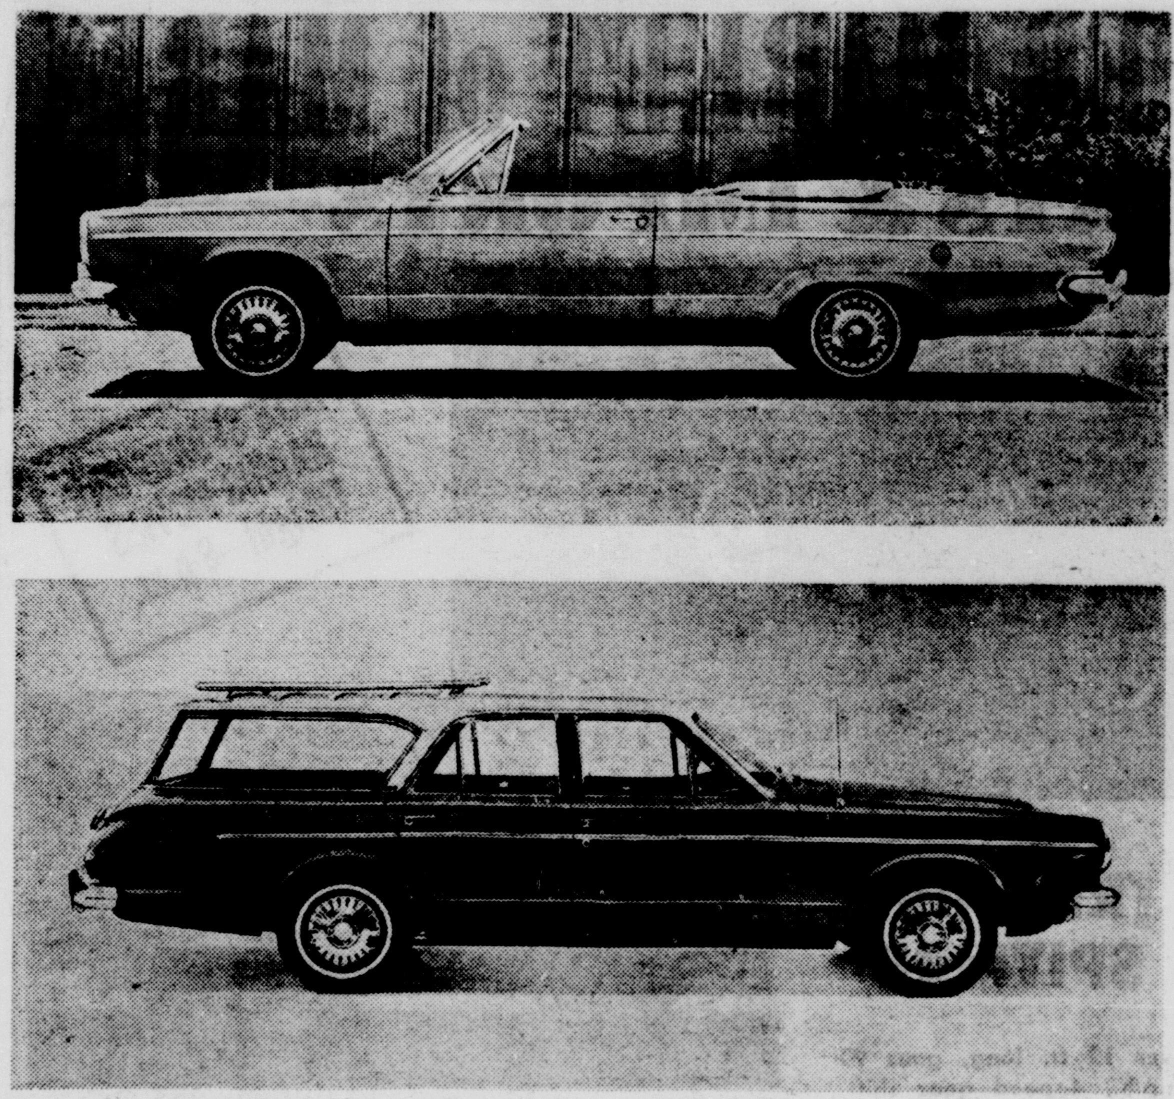
"A company employing 7,000 persons enrolled a man in a Traffic Institute fleet supervisor course. During class discussion, this company representative realized that his firm was hiring new employees with little or no inquiry as to their driving ability and experience. Literally, new employees were learning on the company's time how to drive—and they were learning by trial and error.

"Subsequent follow-up with this Traffic Institute student disclosed that his company changed its procedures for hiring new employees, required more information about past driving experience, and incorporated tests and driver training in the induction period."

MOTOR FLEET administrators, says the Traffic Institute director, should become identified with public safety programs and "participate in cutors, traffic and city engimaximum of (their) knowledge and available time. Yours is a service that can reduce compensation claims, preserve the skills of valued employees, eliminate waste of resources, help prevent unfavorable publicity for a company, and, most important, create a safe traffic environment for employees and citizens alike."

The Traffic Institute, Northwestern University, now in its 28th year, is a non-profit, service organization. Those utilizing its services include police officials, judges, prosecutors, traffic andc ity engineers and planners, fleet supervisors, driver license personnel, members of the armed forces, and others concerned with street and highway traffic safety.

THE NEW RENAULT R-8 is a compact sedan featuring comfort for five adults plus economy of operation. The R-8 also offers disc brakes on all four wheel and a sealed liquid cooling system. Mileage is up to 37 miles to the gallon with a 48 horsepower engine.



THE COMPACT DART line by Dodge includes nine sedan, hardtop, station wagon and convertible models. Shown above are the all-new Dart "270" convertible, and the spacious "270" station wagon. Literally, new employees were learning on the company's time how to drive—and they were learning by trial and error.

"Subsequent follow-up with this Traffic Institute student disclosed that his company changed its procedures for hiring new employees, required more information about past driving experience, and incorporated tests and driver training in the induction period."

MOTOR FLEET administrators, says the Traffic Institute director, should become identified with public safety programs and "participate in cutors, traffic and city engimaximum of (their) knowledge and available time. Yours is a service that can reduce compensation claims, preserve the skills of valued employees, eliminate waste of resources, help prevent unfavorable publicity for a company, and, most important, create a safe traffic environment for employees and citizens alike."

The Traffic Institute, Northwestern University, now in its 28th year, is a non-profit, service organization. Those utilizing its services include police officials, judges, prosecutors, traffic andc ity engineers and planners, fleet supervisors, driver license personnel, members of the armed forces, and others concerned with street and highway traffic safety.

THE NEW RENAULT R-8 is a compact sedan featuring comfort for five adults plus economy of operation. The R-8 also offers disc brakes on all four wheel and a sealed liquid cooling system. Mileage is up to 37 miles to the gallon with a 48 horsepower engine.

Why Drivers Head The Wrong Way On Our Freeways

Study Shows Some Of Them Are Doing It Deliberately

One of the five wrong-way drivers on freeways and expressways is knowingly and deliberately driving against oncoming traffic, and 60 per cent of the wrong-way driving incidents resulted from entering the freeway via an off-ramp.

These were the conclusions from a study of 500 wrong-way drivers cited by the California Highway Patrol in the first nine months of 1962. The study, carried out by the Division of Highways, was made public by G. A. Hill, traffic engineer.

Other findings revealed were:

Almost one third of these drivers had been drinking.

An equal number of violators pleaded "honest confusion".

A greater percentage of men past 49 and women past 39 were involved than their proportion of the State's registered drivers would indicate.

Only one in 10 occurred in bad weather—rain, snow or fog.

Traffic volume was light when 44.3 percent occurred; heavy for 7.8 percent.

Illiteracy, or the inability to understand signs, was responsible for only two percent of the incidents.

THE STUDY was one of several research projects on traffic safety being administered by the Highway Transportation Agency and conducted by the Division of Highways, the California Highway Patrol and the Department of Motor Vehicles under a $100,000 grant by the Legislature in 1961. The Division of Highways had the lead responsibility for this particular study.

"Since the average driver who encounters adverse conditions of lighting, weather, traffic, and even occasionally, confusing highway signing and design, still manages to drive in the proper direction, Hill said, "it seems that the most important cause of wrong-way driving is the mental condition of the driver himself."

The study classified drivers in each incident as either under the influence of alcohol (in four sub-classifications); confused; careless; deliberately violating the law; or illiterate; although it was recognized that in many incidents a combination of factors was possible.

Of the 31.5 percent of the offenders who had been drinking, one-half of these were so obviously intoxicated that they could give no explanation for their behavior to the arresting officer.

ANOTHER LARGE group, equal in number to the drinking drivers, were motorists who claimed they were confused by unfamiliarity with the freeway, misleading signing, transitions from undivided roads to freeways involving detours or barricades, and confusing interchange or ramp designs.

"Drivers' complaints regarding confusing situations were carefully investigated by highway engineers," Hill said. "Such complaints may well offer the best leads to improved highway design and signing."

The study indicates that confusion as a cause of wrong-way driving was more prevalent among the elderly offenders.

Te deliberate violators comprised the third largest group.

"One wrong-way driver in six is just plain careless," Hill said. "His typical statements to the arresting officer are, 'I didn't see any signs. I was looking at the ocean' or 'I had been having an argument with my wife and was upset'."

THE SERIOUSNESS of the wrong-way driving problem is indicated by accident statistics. During 1961, there were 13 head-on collisions on urban and rural freeway that resulted in death for 19 persons. There were more in the first eight months of last year with 17 killed and 17 injured.

As 60 percent of the wrong-way driving incidents resulted from entering a freeway via an off-ramp, a second phase of the study is in progress at the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at the University of California, Los Angeles, to measure the effectiveness of various signs in preventing improper entry.

This study employs a "driving simulator" technique developed by the institute in which driver reaction to highway features is tested by projecting a motion picture of the highway onto a curved screen in front of and behind an automobile mounted on blocks and rollers.

Unlike freeways, expressways have intersections at grade. The study revealed that nearly half the wrong-way movements on expressways were caused by drivers entering the intersection and making left turns into the nearest lanes, or by making right turns after proceeding through the opening between opposing lanes. This tendency is aggravated where there are service roads adjacent and parallel to the expressway.

ACCORDING TO the traffic engineer, "with a four-lane expressway and two two-lane frontage roads, for a total of eight roadway lanes—the outer frontage roads permitting driving in both directions and the center divided expressway one-way roadways—some drivers become confused trying to relate the various lanes with the correct direction of travel. They get in trouble by not keeping track of the lanes they have crossed."

A SLEEK SILHOUETTE and increased engine power of the MG represent the first major all-out changes in that popular sports car in seven years. A product of British Motor Corp., the MG also has other innovations in its 1963 model including roll-up windows, hinged side vents, a wrap-around windshield and wide-opening, lockable doors with outside handles.

A Pair Of Compacts

THE VALIANT, Chrysler Corp.'s economy compact, underwent for 1963 its first major styling change since its introduction in the fall of 1959. It is two inches longer and available for the first time as a convertible. A large back window extends down to the belt line to provide superior rearward vision. Improvements include finer interiors in all models, added corrosion resistance, better ventilation at traffic speeds. At top is the V-200 four-door sedan, at bottom the Signet 200 two-door hardtop.

ATTRACTING TREMENDOUS interest in trade papers, newspapers and consumer magazines is Studebaker's new high-performance, four-seater sports type Avanti, equally at home on the desert, in the city, our suburbs or on the open highway. The Avanti was created by Sherwood H. Egbert, president of Studebaker, and styled by designer Raymond Loewy.

OFFERING EYE-CATCHING appeal in a springtime setting is Studebaker's 1963 Lark Daytona convertible. New, tapering exterior trim mouldings and grille treatment coupled with low-silhouette styling gives a feeling of movement to the car, even when standing still. A complete new instrument board featuring all direct-reading gauges is a major feature in the interiors of all Studebaker Lark and Cruiser lines for 1963. The Avanti engine lineup, both supercharged and non-supercharged, and caliper disc brakes are available as options.

Most Motorists Enjoy Driving

Someone is always probing into the mind of the average this or the average that, and now they've got around to the motorist.

One of the htings they've found, according to the National Automobile Club, is that the average motorist likes to drive. Seventy-two per cent of the men interviewed and 81 per cent of the women said they enjoyed driving. Most of them seemed to get from driving a feeling of power and control, found it relaxing, enjoyed the rhythm of a moving car.

Another thing the probers found out is that the average motorist feels that the other driver is not only capable but also courteous.

Eighty-six per cent of the motorists interviewed said they preferred to use their own cars rather than buses, trains, or planes when making a long trip.

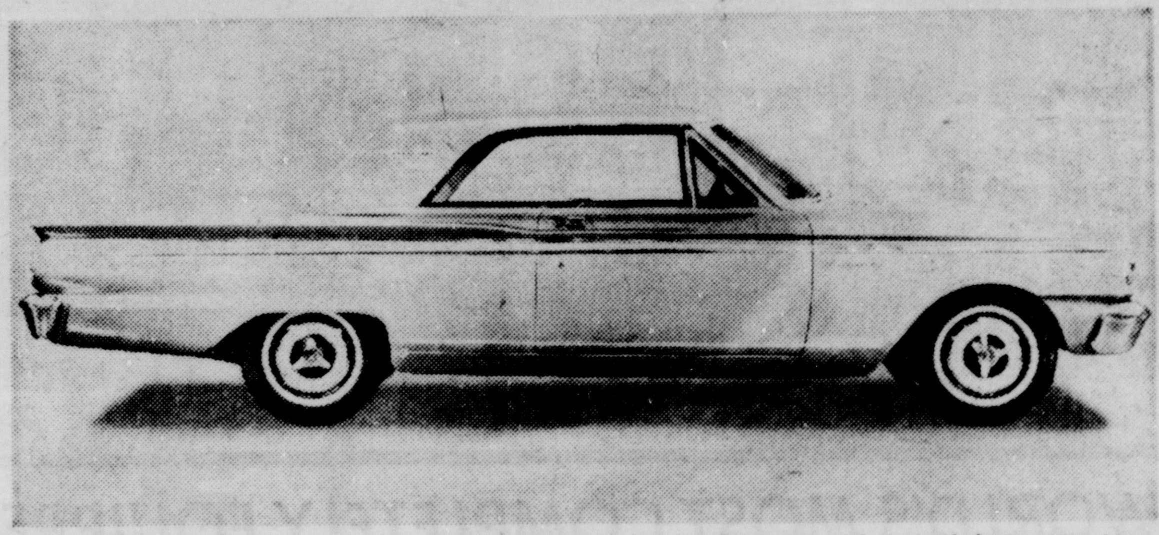
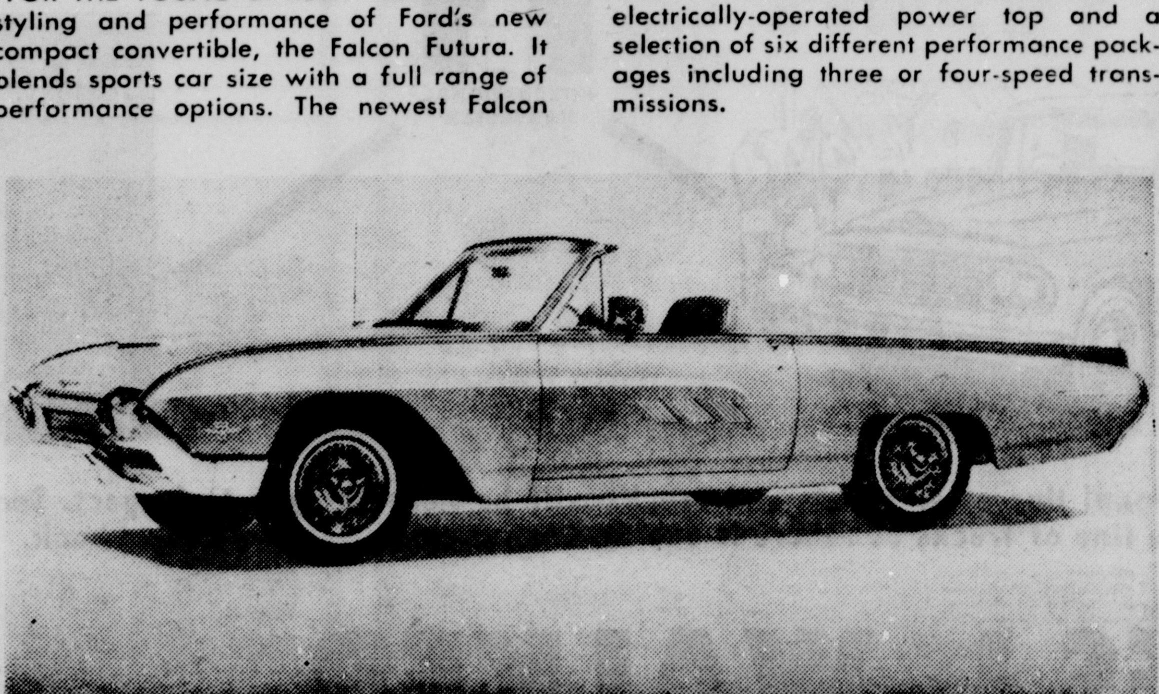
FASTBACK HARDTOP styling is featured in the new 1963½ models of Ford Motor Co. Shown above is the new sporty Falcon Spring Sports Hardtop, powered by a 260-cubic-inch V-8. In lower photo is the top-of-the-line Ford Galaxie, the aerodynamically-styled fastback sports hardtop, which offers an optional 427-cubic-inch engine, most powerful ever produced by Ford.



THIS FAIRLANE 500 sports coupe with its Thunderbird-styled roofline, features a full-length console separating luxury-styled bucket seats, and a color-keyed interior. Engineering advancements have eliminated the need for a 1,000-mile inspection and increased major chassis lubrication intervals to 36,000 miles with minor lubrication intervals of 6,000 miles. Ford's Fairlanes series is also offering two completely new hardtops and three new station wagons for 1963.

"FOR THE YOUNG at heart" describes the styling and performance of Ford's new compact convertible, the Falcon Futura. It blends sports car size with a full range of performance options. The newest Falcon offers either divan or bucket seats, an electrically-operated power top and a selection of six different performance packages including three or four-speed transmissions.



A UNIQUE EXPERIENCE in "top down" driving is offered by the 1963 Thunderbird sports roadster. With its automatic convertible top gliding back completely out of sight into the trunk with a touch of a dashboard switch, the sports roadster, like the convertible, retains its classic silhouette, even with the top down. A tonneau cover over the entire rear portion of the passenger compartment transforms the four-seat Thunderbird into a sporty two-seater. The roadster features head-rests, wire spoke wheels and an assist bar for passenger convenience.

A Book Of Help To Buyer

Guide Provides Complete Data On '63 Models

1963 AUTOMOBILE BUYER'S GUIDE by Mel Martin, Mel Martin Enterprises, 100 pages, softcover, $2.

Mel Martin, editor and publisher of the "1963 Automobile Buyer's Guide" is a Houston, Tex., automotive writer and engineer. His guide is planned to assist the automobile-buying public—to provide the basic pertinent information concerning this year's models, both American and imported, that will help you to make a decision in picking the car that fits your needs.

Each of the major makes is covered individually in a test drivers' report.

In this report can be found such data as a description of styling changes, special features, available optionals, general discussion of such attributes as riding qualities, etc. All the general technical data including car weight, wheelbase and other measurements, diameter of turning circle, torque, etc., are given.

Finally, the car is given a comparative rating as to acceleration, top speed, safety, comfort, handling, economy, maintenance, resale value, appearance quality—and an overall rating.

There is a quick reference guide giving the vital statistics of the 1963 automobiles in handy tabular form.

Some driving and car maintenance hints complete the contents.

In addition to its value for the consumer in quest of a new car, the guide is also certain to prove useful as a reference book for engineers, writers, students, police officials, etc.

Martin has done a thoroughly professional job of compiling and presenting his material in a polished and well-organized form that is easy to read and digest. For that reason car enthusiasts not now in the market for a new buy may, too, enjoy perusing the book. They are certain to learn something new on every page.

Fog And Speed

Low driving visibility leads to high driving fatalities, warns the National Automobile Club. When the fog is dense, keep your speed low. Make sure that your life isn't lost in a fog.

His guide is planned to assist the automobile-buying public—to provide the basic pertinent information concerning this year's models, both American and imported, that will help you to make a decision in picking the car that fits your needs.

Each of the major makes is covered individually in a test drivers' report.

In this report can be found such data as a description of styling changes, special features, available optionals, general discussion of such attributes as riding qualities, etc. All the general technical data including car weight, wheelbase and other measurements, diameter of turning circle, torque, etc., are given.

Finally, the car is given a comparative rating as to acceleration, top speed, safety, comfort, handling, economy, maintenance, resale value, appearance quality—and an overall rating.

There is a quick reference guide giving the vital statistics of the 1963 automobiles in handy tabular form.

Some driving and car maintenance hints complete the contents.

In addition to its value for the consumer in quest of a new car, the guide is also certain to prove useful as a reference book for engineers, writers, students, police officials, etc.

Martin has done a thoroughly professional job of compiling and presenting his material in a polished and well-organized form that is easy to read and digest. For that reason car enthusiasts not now in the market for a new buy may, too, enjoy perusing the book. They are certain to learn something new on every page.

Fog And Speed

Low driving visibility leads to high driving fatalities, warns the National Automobile Club. When the fog is dense, keep your speed low. Make sure that your life isn't lost in a fog.

THIS SPORTY S-33 is one of two new two-door hardtops offered for the first time in 1963 in the Mercury Meteor. It features bucket seats and a full-length console. Other Meteor advances include refined styling, reduced maintenance, additional accessories and improved engine-transmission characteristics.

Meet The Typical New California Car Owner

He will likely settle in Southern California, and chances are good he came from one of only 10 other states.

This statistical profile of a new resident comes from a Department of Motor Vehicles research report containing data on 31,358 families that registered out-of-state vehicles in California between Jan. 1 and April 30, 1962.

The report, titled "Migration to California" was presented to Gov. Edmund G. Brown by Director Tom Bright of the motor vehicle department.

THE STUDY was made to help the department forecast future workloads. Some sidelights of the basic information are:

Average age of new resident males was 22.9 years, compared to 29.1 years average age for all California males. For females in the new-arrival group, the average age was 22, compared to 30.8 for California females generally.

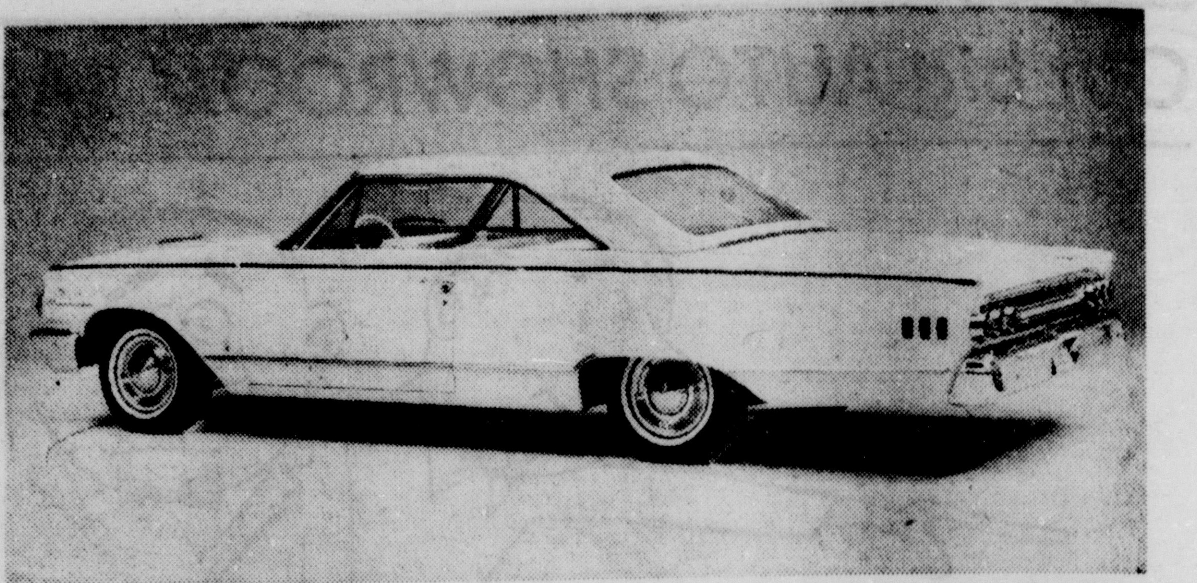
One out of every two of this group of newcomers, or 52.2 per cent, settled in Los Angeles, San Diego, or Orange counties. Los Angeles County received the largest share, about one-third of these new residents.

THE STUDY group represents one out of every five families who registered an out-of-state vehicle during the first four months of 1962. Migrants came from 49 other states and several foreign countries and settled in every California county except Alpine and Mono.

Half of the new residents came from one of 10 states, the report noted, with Arizona, Ohio, Illinois, Texas and Washington accounting for 30 per cent of the total. These states, plus New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Colorado and Florida, were listed as former home states by more than 50 per cent of the newly arrived households.



TWO NEW FASTBACK hardtop models—the Mercury Marauder and the Mercury Marauder S-55—went on sale at Mercury dealerships in March as mid-year additions to the Mercury series. The Marauder, above, has as standard equipment a 390 cubic-inch displacement V-8 engine. The Marauder S-55 features bucket seats and console-mounted gear-shift. A 300 horsepower 390 CID V-8 engine and Multi-drive Merc-O-Matic are also standard on the S-55. Two optional high performance 427 CID V-8 engines also are available as mid-year improvements on all Mercury Marauders and Montereys.

THE MERCURY MONTEREY, Mercury's big car entry, has been completely restyled for 1963. It features a unique rear window and roof line that sets it apart from all other American cars. The window slants inward, virtually eliminating visibility problems caused by rain, snow, ice and frost. The window is power operated and provides excellent ventilation when opened. A 390 V-8 Marauder engine is standard on the Monterey now.

MAJOR COST REDUCING maintenance items developed originally for the big car field have been incorporated into the 1963 Mercury Comet. The major lubrication cycle has been extended from 1,000 to 36,000 miles with minor lube intervals of 6,000 miles, and the initial checkup period extended from 1,000 to 6,000 miles. The Comet is available in 12 models, with the Comet custom four-door sedan pictured above.

THE NEW CROWN IMPERIAL Limousine by Chrysler has doors which extend into the roof to provide easy access to the passenger compartment. The body is custom built by Ghia craftsmen of Turin, Italy. It's Important For Driver To Use Eyes To Best Advantage

Alertness Is The Answer For Avoiding Trouble On Highway

"I didn't see the other car."

This is the most common excuse given for a collision and unfortunately it is true, according to Robert W. Kirby of the National Automobile Club's district office in San Francisco.

SEEING CORRECTLY is the most important single function successful driving requires, he says.

"Many drivers do not use their eyes to best advantage. They are looking at the wrong thing. Instead of looking at the center of their driving path they are watching the white line just in front of their car. This tends to cause their automobile to travel too closely to the on-coming traffic, and they are setting themselves up for a head-on collision or a jarring side swipe.

"On the other hand some drivers watch the right side of the road. This puts them too close to parked cars, and those hidden danger points where pedestrians may step into the stream of traffic. These drivers are not using space to its best advantage."

Drivers who make these mistakes are road hazards, but there is something they can do, something they should do, he adds.

"THEY SHOULD look up. Look at their target. Their target is one block ahead in town; on the highway it is one half mile ahead. Look at the center of the intended driving path. This keeps you in the center of your lane, and gives you maximum safety margins.

"A great many people have said his is far too simple. They do this kind of thing already. Safe driving has to be more complicated. But one trucking company using paid instructors installed this program of eye training, and reduced their accident rate by 70 per cent.

"So the eyes have it. Watch your target, but don't stare at it. Eyes focused on one point tend to freeze on that point, and there is where the trouble begins. You fail to see other moving objects. Move your eyes every two seconds. Know where the other cars on the road are.

"LEARNING TO SEE all of the cars on the road, what they are doing, and the thousand and one things that are happening requires practice. That practice is eye movement. Keep your eyes moving. Keep checking what is happening. Not recognizing a hazard in time to avoid it accounts for a large majority of collisions, and those famous words, 'I didn't see the other car.' "

Kirby said that Americans drive 725 billion miles per year, every year, and "if you translate this fantastic mileage into numbers of intersections crossed, stop signs, traffic lights, freeways, and country roads, it is easy to recognize the number of times a potentially dangerous situation exists. From that point we come back to the proposition that you must know what the traffic picture is. Keep your eyes moving."

Spending Rises

Consumer expenditures on autos and services coincident to owning them have increased 71 per cent in the last 10 years, according to the National Consumer Finance Association.

THE POLICE MARSHAL (Studebaker Lark) for 1963 features the high performance of Avanti Jet-Thrust engine and caliper disc brakes as optional equipment. It is especially built for heavy duty and pursuit use.

Driving With Windows Fogged Is Dangerous

Motorists who forget to clear fogged rear windows of their cars are setting the stage for an accident, warns the Allstate Motor Club.

The view of other motorists becomes obstructed, and this can be critical when turning, approaching intersections or when following cars in a line of traffic.

Skidding Causes

Both overinflation and underinflation of your tires will increase your chance of skidding.

THE JEEP WAGONEER is a new Jeep station wagon series featuring passenger car styling and comfort, and offering automatic transmission with four-wheel drive for the first time in the automotive history. The Wagoneer was developed for all-purpose station wagon service.

The specifications for 1963 automobiles as listed on these pages provide the answers to the questions most frequently asked by prospective car buyers—wheelbase, length, width, cylinders, horsepower and tire size. In each series there are many models and these are indicated in the tables as follows: Sedans—2, 4-door; HT—hardtops (either 2 or 4-door); W—station wagons (2 or 4-door, 6 or 9-passenger), and C—convertible. Some manufacturers now list hardtops as sports coupes. These are listed here as HT unless specified.

The specifications for 1963 automobiles as listed on these pages provide the answers to the questions most frequently asked by prospective car buyers—wheelbase, length, width, cylinders, horsepower and tire size. In each series there are many models and these are indicated in the tables as follows: Sedans—2, 4-door; HT—hardtops (either 2 or 4-door); W—station wagons (2 or 4-door, 6 or 9-passenger), and C—convertible. Some manufacturers now list hardtops as sports coupes. These are listed here as HT unless specified.

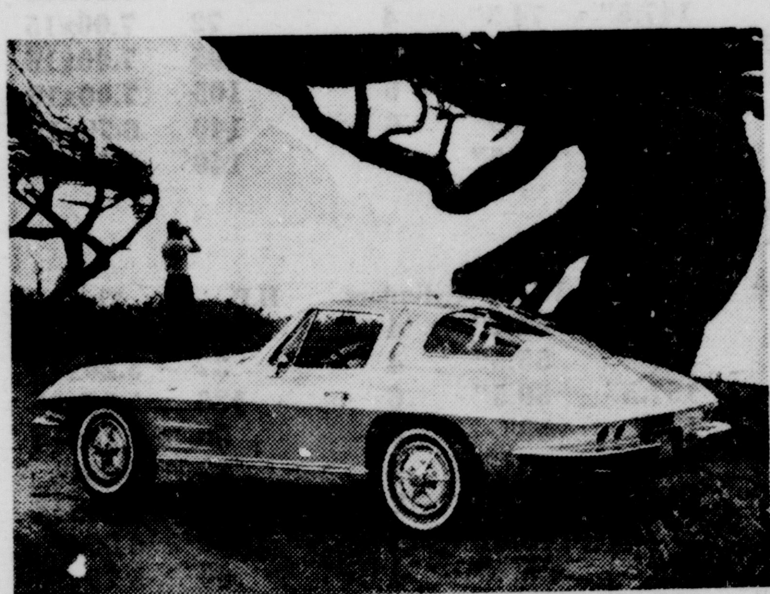
THE NOVA station wagon is one of 10 Chevy II models in three series offered for 1963. Along with styling advances, the Chevy II offers mechanical improvements that include self-adjusting brakes, Delcotron generators and longer-life mufflers. Improvements have also been made in the optional four and six-cylinder engines.



REFLECTING major styling and engineering changes, the 1963 Corvette's dramatic "fast back" coupe design is one of two models introduced this year. The 1963 Corvette features new frame, new fiberglass body and a new suspension system to improve handling, ride and performance. Retractable headlamps and doors which wrap into the roof (on the sport car model) are other refinements.

THE BIG PARADE of 1963 Chevrolet models includes the luxurious Impala sports coupe, bottom; Chevy II four-door sedan, left center; Corvair Monza club coupe, right center, and the new and startling Corvette Sting Ray sports coupe—all new products of General Motors.

TWO NEW modern and more efficient six-cylinder engines led a long list of improvements in the 1963 Chevrolet truck line. Other features include a new front axle and spring design in medium and heavy-duty series for excellent ride and durability; generally heavier frames; easy-riding independent front coil springing in light-duty models; narrower front sheet metal width for easier handling in close quarters on many models, and improved body and sheet metal mounts for softer ride.

CHEVROLET'S DISTINCTIVE small car, the Corvair, continues the classic styling that is part of its unique personality. The series 700 two-door coupe is one of eight models in the rear-engine Corvair line, designed for those who want a sports car feel in a less expensive car. Mechanical improvements for 1963 have included self-adjusting brakes, more durable exhaust system and engine refinements.

SS

Chevy's got four entirely different kinds of bucket-seat coupes and convertibles to get your spring on the road right now—the Super Sports! With a choice of extra-cost options like electric tachometers, 4-speed shifts and high-performance engines, they're as all out for sport as you want to go!

First, the Jet-smooth Impala Super Sport with your choice of 7 different engines that range up to 425 hp and include the popular Turbo-Fire 409* with 340 hp for smooth, responsive driving in city traffic. Optional at extra cost equipment, such as its new Comfortilt steering wheel that you can easily adjust to your convenience, gives you a wide range of luxury, too.

Want something even easier on your family's budget? That's the Chevy II Nova 400 Super Sport. Special instrument cluster, front bucket seats, full wheel discs, three-speed shift or floor-mounted Powerglide automatic* and other sporty features, sure—but easy on operating cost and upkeep, too.

Two more cures for spring fever—the Corvair Monza Spyder with full instrumentation and a turbo-supercharged six air-cooled rear engine that makes it a bigger kick to drive than before. And if you want to pull out the stops, the Corvette Sting Ray, winner of the "Car Life" 1963 Award for Engineering Excellence.

Have a go at a Super Sport at your Chevrolet dealer's. If the promise of spring is getting to you, one of these surely will, too!

Headlight Advances Have Been Major

Get out in a modern car on the highway at night and you will find the road quite brilliantly lighted for a considerable distance ahead.

The cars that come towards you are equipped with the same brilliant lights, and yet, with their down beams on, they don't bother you at all, you can see quite serenely and safely.

THIS HAPPY state of affairs is a fairly recent development, according to the National Automobile Club, and it wasn't too many decades back when a headlight would let a man see if a car was coming, but would hardly offer enough light to let him see where he was going.

Kerosene lamps, the lamps that were mounted on the very earliest of horseless carriages, offered only this kind of illumination. By 1903 these lamps had begun to give way to the self-contained carbide gas lamps and these in turn were equipped with fender mounted tanks to give a greater fuel supply.

From 1905 to 1911 acetylene lamps that used the carbide burners brought their brilliant beams to the highways, began to give the motorist a much better "look see" at where he was going, but gave the other fellow a lot of trouble with their blinding glare.

WITH THE advent of the electric lamp on the automobile, something that began to get under way around 1908, effective control of this blinding glare became a possibility.

At first the engineers tried using a variable-resistance dimmer to control the glare but this was superseded in 1915 when they introduced the tilt-beam headlamp and prism lens. In the early versions of this lamp, two separate bulbs were used and these had to be focused each time they were replaced.

By 1924 the inventors had brought out the two-filament fixed-focus bulb, which gave a more stable light.

When, in 1940, engineers came up with the sealed-beam headlamp, in which filaments and reflectors were hermetically sealed inside an envelope of glass, truly modern motor-car lighting was here and driving at night became a considerably safer proposition.

Testing Grounds Play A Vital Role In Automotive Industry

Ten thousand times around the world . . . a total of more than 255 million miles

It may sound like a mighty space achievement, but the figures are more down to earth.

Since General Motors began operations at its proving grounds in 1924, its test drivers have covered a total of 255,541,316 miles—the equivalent of 10,262 trips around the earth at the equator.

ALL THE AUTO firms have proving grounds to test cars under all kinds of conditions.

GM's biggest proving ground—also the longest in the industry—is located at Milford, Mich., 40 miles northwest of Detroit. GM also has a proving ground near Mesa, Ariz., for hot weather testing, and another at Pike's Peak in Colorado for high altitude mountain runs.

Ford's biggest proving ground is located near Romeo, Mich., about 60 miles north of Detroit. Ford has another big test track next to its engineering center in suburban Dearborn, and one in Chrysler has its proving ground near Chelsea, 60 miles west of Detroit. Studebaker's is outside South Bend, Ind., and American Motors is in Wisconsin near its plants there.

It wasn't always so. Before 1924, GM and other firms tested their cars on the public roads, an uncertain operation because roads were constantly being changed and improved, so it was impossible to run comparative tests of one car against another for any length of time.

DRIVERS ALSO were a problem, since it was impossible to tell if they had actually taken a car over a prescribed course, or just gone fishing and filled out their reports while lying under a tree.

Hence, the firms decided to build proving grounds where they had some control over things.

GM's layout at Milford is laced by more than 65 miles of road, constructed on different types of terrain and surfaced with a wide variety of materials. It has 37 buildings housing testing laboratories and engineering shops. All the GM divisions use the 4,011 acre grounds.

Maximum security is enforced, since cars tested there daily won't be seen on the streets for a year or more. The entire area is fenced. Security cars patrol the perimeter. Good outside vantage points are screened from prying eyes by metal fences.

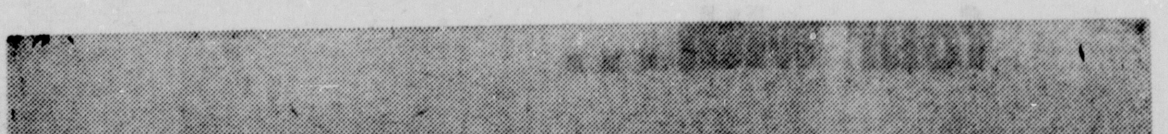
Besides testing advanced products, the engineers examine current production models for any design or assembly flaws.

With the start of each new model year, the proving ground staff purchases a fleet of more than 100 cars built by GM and its competitors. The cars are brought through regular dealers, not sent directly from the factory, to ensure that each is just as a customer would buy it.

Don't Spin The Wheels When Stuck In Mud

In getting out of mud or sand, motorists should know that it is important to avoid spinning of the wheels, to prevent them from digging in deeply.

While it may be necessary to use low gear, do not open the throttle any more than is absolutely necessary.



SUBTLE STYLING refinements, increased roominess, a higher performance engine and more luggage space are features of the luxurious 1963 Lincoln Continental. The car's appearance is modified only slightly to continue its classic styling theme. And the air of handcrafted quality is very much there.

They Are Making The New Cars Safer

We all know that the automobile has undergone some considerable changes in both appearance and power since it first appeared on the American scene, but not too many of us are aware of the quite considerable changes that it has undergone to make it a safer means of transportation.

When the transition from the carriage with a horse to the carriage without a horse was first being made, points out the National Automobile Club, the coachmakers went to work with a will to turn out some very fancy bodies made entirely of wood or, a little later, of wood with sheet metal nailed over it. All this looked very fine, but if you happened to hit a tree or even an extra large bump in the road you were apt to end up sitting in the middle of a jumbled heap of sheet metal and quite badly bruised and cut to boot.

TODAY'S ALL steel on steel bodies will take a much greater beating with much greater grace.

Some important steps, too, have been taken to cut down on driver fatigue, that contributor to catastrophic accidents.

Insulation has all but done away with the noise of the motor. The grouping, simplifying, or eliminating of controls has made driving an easier chore.

Consider how the hand controlled spark has gone, and the hand controlled throttle has become foot controlled, how the gear shift has moved from the floor to the steering wheel, and then to nowhere at all.

THE GROUPING and lighting of instruments on the dashboard has made it much easier for the driver to read them and get his eyes back on the road ahead.

Safety refinements inside the body have come along apace: seats wider for more elbow room, doors hinged at the front to prevent the wind from taking them if they should begin to open, handles curved in or replaced by buttons to prevent snagging of clothing, locks made more inaccessible to children to prevent them from falling out, and no-draft ventilation to keep the driver free from drowsiness.

Such are just some of the ways that the engineers have worked to make the automobile safer for you and for me.

Wise Driver Obeys All The Laws

Speed laws, right-of-way laws, parking laws. Whenever you climb behind the wheel of an automobile you will find that you are obliged to live within a whole new set of rules and regulations.

When you applied for your driver's license, you were obliged to learn these laws, to learn them so well that you could answer many questions about them and answer these questions correctly. And now that you are a licensed driver you are expected to know these laws and to live up to them consistently. They are founded on common courtesy. They are founded on the laws of safety. They have been designed to help keep you out of trouble.

Although our streets and highways are patrolled by traffic officers whose job it is to see that you drive within these laws, if you're a wise motorist you won't need the officer to remind you of the rules of the game, to see that you play it squarely. If you're a wise motorist, points out the National Automobile Club, you'll know the law and live up to it yourself. You'll know that by obeying the law, you will help to keep yourself safe.

What's Behind?

Look at your rear-view mirror frequently and keep posted on the traffic situation behind you. Consider the whole traffic pattern, not just the cars immediately ahead.

If you want economy you've got to pay for it.

There's only one way to build an economical automobile. You build it by putting things into it—not by leaving things out of it.

You don't strip the engine of power and strength and stamina. You don't make the car so small the family has to draw straws for a seat. And you don't skimp on those finishing touches that make an automobile a pleasure to own and to drive (that's austerity, not economy).

To build an automobile that gives over 25 miles to the gallon, travels fast, stays out of repair shops, lives a long life and returns a good share of its original cost at trade-in time, you do this:

Put dual carburetors on the engine. Not the gas-gulping kind, but special carburetors that open and close like a camera shutter to adjust to the driver's demands.

You put five main bearings in the engine instead of the usual three. This gives the crankshaft greater support, keeps vibration way down, stretches engine life way out.

You cast the engine block from charcoal iron. Charcoal iron is costly to produce but it's purer and stronger than regular alloy irons.

You stamp the body panels from heavy-gauge Swedish steel. Then you weld them into a rock-like unit so the car will feel solid and be strong when you drive it.

You rust-proof the entire body, then apply six—that's right, six—coats of paint.

You install 15-inch wheels because big wheels make fewer revolutions to get you where you're going. Consequently, the engine makes fewer revolutions and lasts longer. Tires last longer, too.

Then you add such pleasantries and practicalities as bucket seats, vinyl upholstery, padded dash and sun visors, white sidewall tires, undercoating, heater-defroster, etc., etc., and call them standard equipment.

Now what have you got? You've got a Volvo. A compact that out-accelerates other popular-priced compacts in every speed range, gets over 25 miles to the gallon like the little import cars, carries five in comfort, is virtually indestructible and proves it at trade-in time. Economy? Isn't it worth paying for?

You cast the engine block from charcoal iron. Charcoal iron is costly to produce but it's purer and stronger than regular alloy irons.

You stamp the body panels from heavy-gauge Swedish steel. Then you weld them into a rock-like unit so the car will feel solid and be strong when you drive it.

You rust-proof the entire body, then apply six—that's right, six—coats of paint.

You install 15-inch wheels because big wheels make fewer revolutions to get you where you're going. Consequently, the engine makes fewer revolutions and lasts longer. Tires last longer, too.

Then you add such pleasantries and practicalities as bucket seats, vinyl upholstery, padded dash and sun visors, white sidewall tires, undercoating, heater-defroster, etc., etc., and call them standard equipment.

Now what have you got? You've got a Volvo. A compact that out-accelerates other popular-priced compacts in every speed range, gets over 25 miles to the gallon like the little import cars, carries five in comfort, is virtually indestructible and proves it at trade-in time. Economy? Isn't it worth paying for?

Good Eyesight— Absolute 'Must' For The Driver

Your eyes and how you use your eyes in seeing have a very important bearing on everything that you do when you're driving.

For that reason, there are several pointers about the eyes and seeing that you should always keep in mind if you would keep yourself safe.

If you feel that you should wear glasses while driving, wear them. Your eyes may have been all right when you first took out your driver's license several decades ago, but time changes everything, including your eyes.

IT ALSO HELPS to know of any vision defects that you might have, so that you might compensate for them. Some people have extremely dominant right or left eyes, and the vision on the other side is uncertain. Some people have poor side vision and are not aware of something approaching from the side until it is right on topof them. In others, their ability to see declines very rapidly as speed increases.

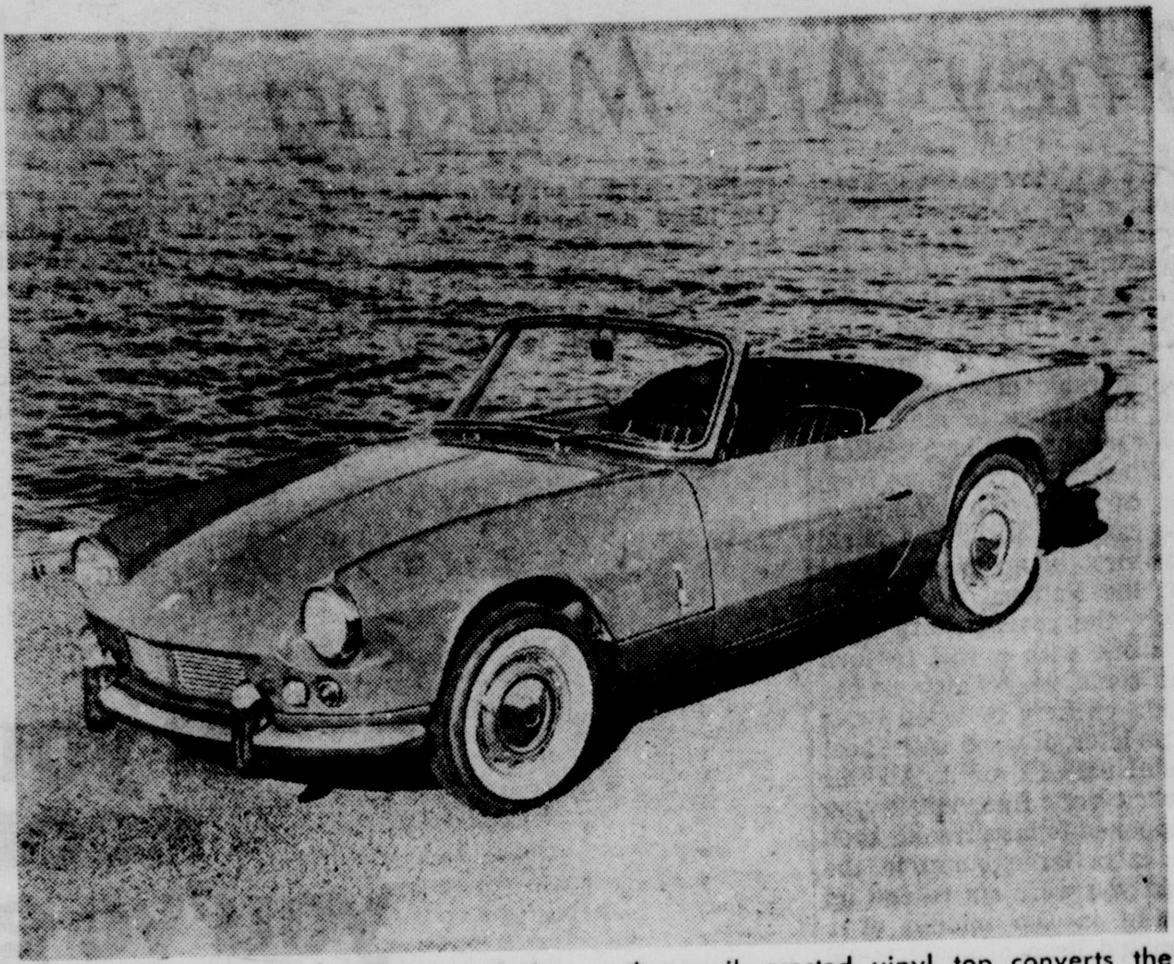
Find how you stand in matters like that.

One vision defect that we all have in a greater or lesser degree is that of inability to adjust to seeing the dim light after being exposed to bright light. After leaving a brightly lighted room, the average person will take 10 to 15 minutes to become adjusted to seeing in the night.

After passing another car, especially if the glaring headlights have not been dipped, you may take several minutes before you can see clearly again. Remember that these are times of comparative blindness, and drive accordingly.

THE LIGHT of twilight is always dim and deceiving, so that is a time in which to slow down. And, if at the end of a long day's driving your eyes are tired and sleepy, don't try a nip of liquor to wake them up. It will only make them wobble and blur, and then comes disaster.

With your eyes in good condition and your windshield clean, you are in a position to drive safely, if you will keep your eyes on the road. That's an important "if", for things happen fast at 50 or 60 miles per hour and a moment of inattention can mear a lifetime of regret.



THE TRIUMPH SPITFIRE 4 is the latest in the Triumph line of British sports cars. Billed as "the first full-size sports car in the popular price range," the Spitfire 4 features low, sleek body styling by Michelotti of Italy. Roll-up windows and foam-cushioned bucket seats add to driving comfort, and the easily-erected vinyl top converts the Spitfire into a snug all-weather car. The four-speed gearbox controls a twin-carburetor, four-cylinder engine that develops 63 horsepower. Front-wheel self-adjusting caliper-type disc brakes are standard equipment.

Padding Protects Motorists

By 1964 padded dashboards will be standard equipment on most American cars.

And by 1970, if the trend continues, it will be almost impossible for a car passenger to bump his head or crack an elbow on anything more solid than a hunk of foam.

EVANS BELIEVES the car of the future will be something like a traveling padded cell. By 1970, he believes driving a car will be similar to lounging around in a rubber pocket.

That is mostly in the interest of safety. "Studies have revealed that most injuries resulting from auto accidents come from passengers being thrown against hard or sharp objects in the car," Evans said.

Consequently, padded instrument panels were introduced as optional safety devices in some cars back in 1954. Their use has grown steadily until, Evans predicts, they will be standard on most cars by next fall.

Evans, whose firm makes safety pads and other padded interior trim for today's autos, said the material is designed so that people who hit it won't bounce around like a rubber ball.

"THE FOAM used by Goodyear in interior trim is designed to give, or depress, when something hits it, but not to spring back at the hitter," Evans said.

Evans said that besides the safety value, automen regard the rubber padding as a part of the interior trim.

The Women Just Don't Like To Wash The Car

Don't think your wife is any different.

Eighty per cent of today's women drivers use their car every day. But only about 30 per cent of them ever take time to get it washed.

And, according to a survey by auto laundry companies, a woman's car—when it is washed—usually has an accumulation of debris far in excess of a man's auto.

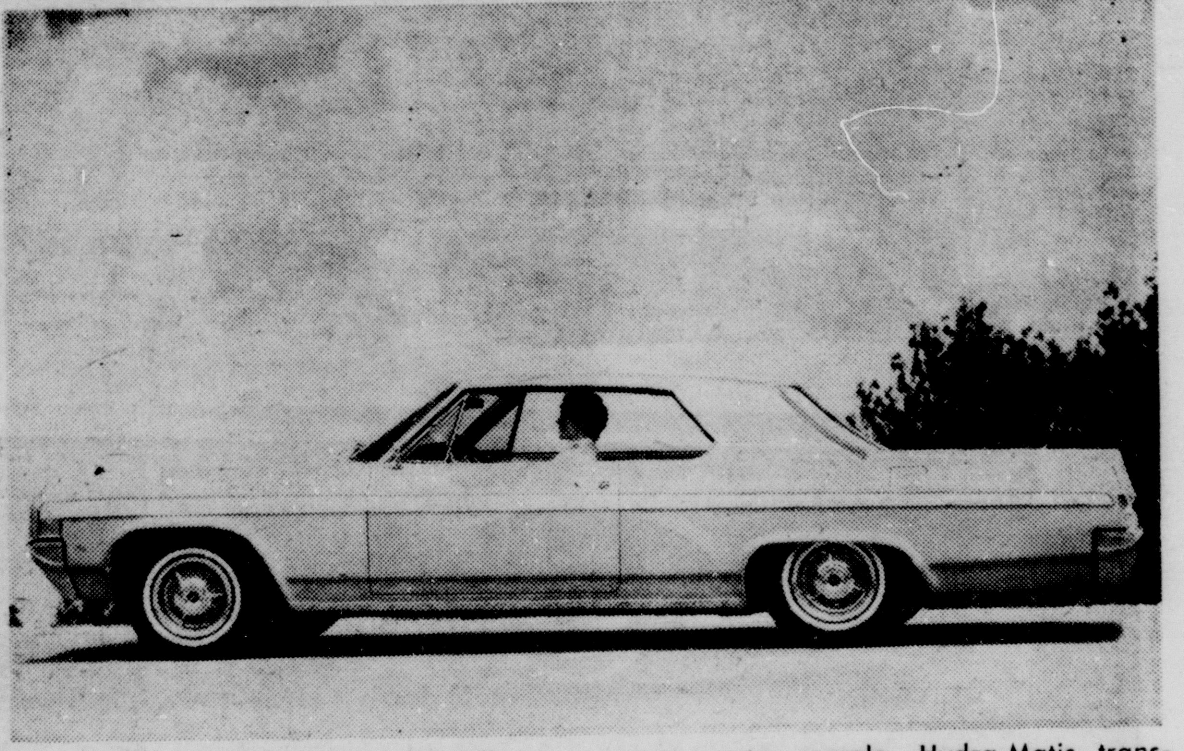
THE SURVEY also says that the average housewife will take better care of a $40 chair in her home than she will of a $2,000 to $3,000 automobile.

While all of this has little, if any, effect on milady's driving habits, a general awareness of car maintenance can often come in handy. All she really needs is some guidance in keeping her car in tip-top condition.

Automobile engineers advise having the family car washed at least once each week, rain or shine. This will remove salts, chlorides and road silt which attack both paint and chrome.

THE ENGINEERS also have some other general tips for the ladies. Here's what they suggest:

1. Have the oil checked each time you fill up with gas. Every second gas fill, while the hood is up, have the battery water checked. Also, after the engine has cooled a little, have the water level checked in the radiator.
2. About every two weeks, have the tire pressures checked and every 6,000 miles, have the tires switched. This distributes the wear more evenly and will increase tire life by as much as 25 per cent.
3. Change engine oil and oil filter at intervals recommended by the car manufacturer.
4. When the brake pedal goes more than two-thirds of the way to the floor on a hard stop, have the brakes checked by an expert. Have the brake fluid checked each time the car is lubricated.
5. The engine should be tuned every 12,000 miles and spark plugs should be changed according to the car manufacturer's recommendations.



THIS IS THE STARFIRE, Oldsmobile's full-size sports car for 1963. With its crisp, youthful styling theme, fresh new roofline and concave rear window, the Starfire is further identified by the tailored aluminum band along the sides. It has its own grille. Bucket seats, center console, Hydra-Matic transmission, power brakes and power steering are standard equipment. The Starfire is powered by Oldsmobile's ultra-high compression 345 horsepower Starfire engine equipped with dual exhausts.

Seat Belts Must Be Used Right

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden advises motorists this week that the proper positioning of seat belts can be an important factor in preventing injury if a collision occurs.

"The belt should be fastened snugly over the hips and pelvis, so that any shock will be transmitted through these heavy bone structures.

"Placement of the belt over the upper abdomen can transmit the shock of a collision to the internal organs, unnecessarily increasing the chances of injury."

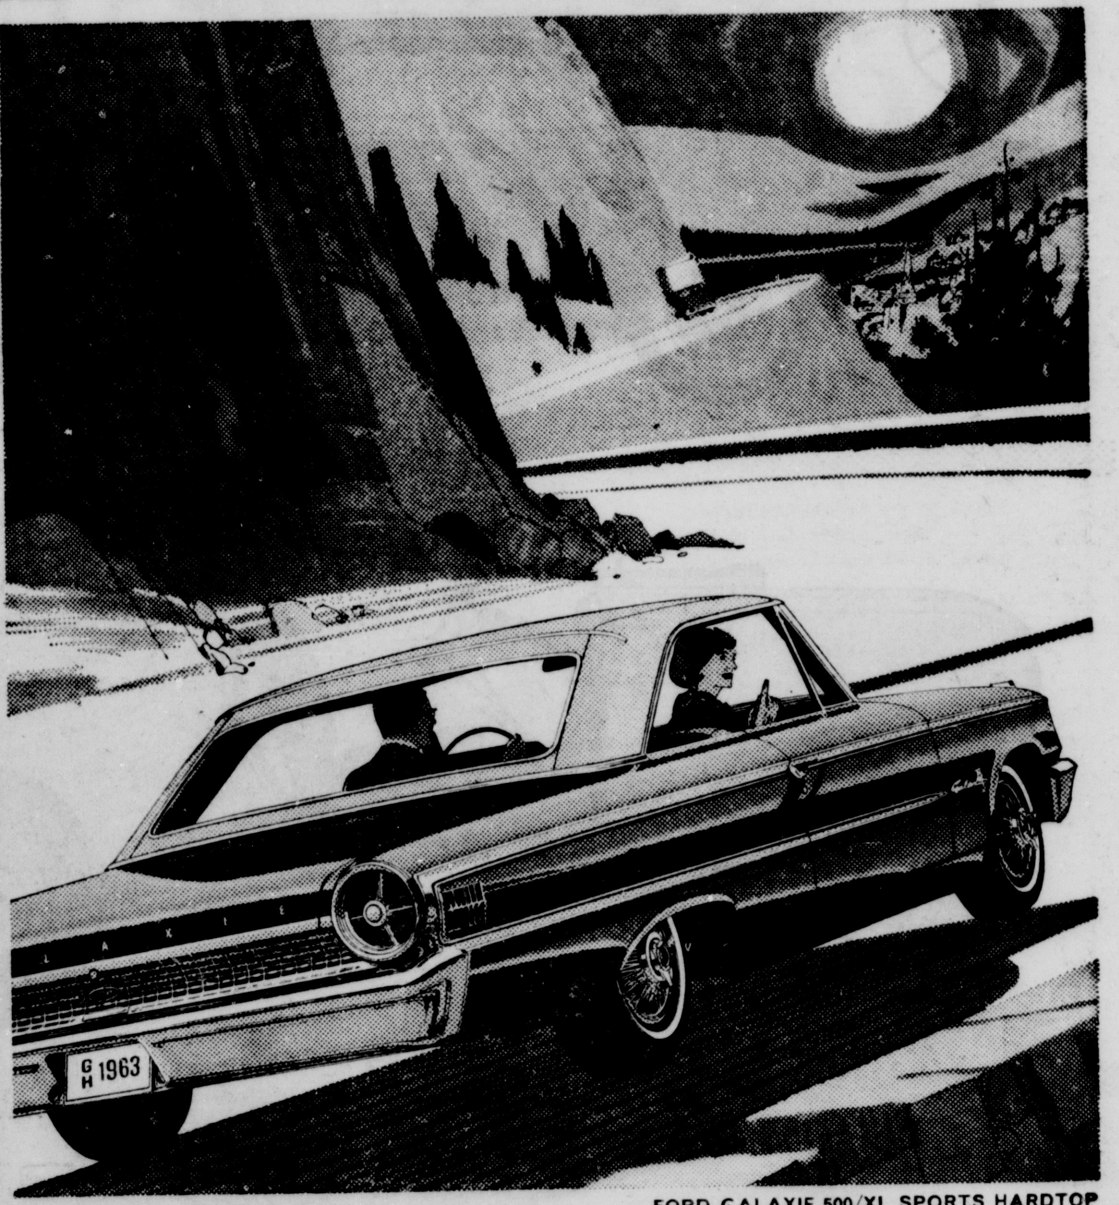
The commissioner points out that more and more belts are coming into usage, and proper positioning techniques are necessary if maximum potential of the belts is to be realized.

He says that in one reported case where a passenger had fastened the belt loosely around her upper abdomen, the shock of an ensuing collision had ruptured her spleen.

Signs Have Purpose

The Automobile Club of Southern California reminds drivers that traffic signs are there for a purpose. It's a sign of good judgment when you obey all traffic signs and signals.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:



FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW $10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system . . and added road-hugging weight.

It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road.

We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride.

But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance . . . total performance.

THE PROPER STEPS

Here's What To Do In Case Of Wreck

A motorist gets in an accident. What should he do to protect himself and his car?

Here are some suggestions from insurance company experts:

1. If anyone has been injured, get medical help quickly and then get the name of the doctor attending and the hospital to which the injured are taken.

2. Don't make any comments concerning liability for the accident, such as "It's my fault." Give information only to the police, and don't sign any statements except those prepared for you by your insurance agent.

3. Get the make, model and year of the other car and the name, address and license registration number of the other driver.

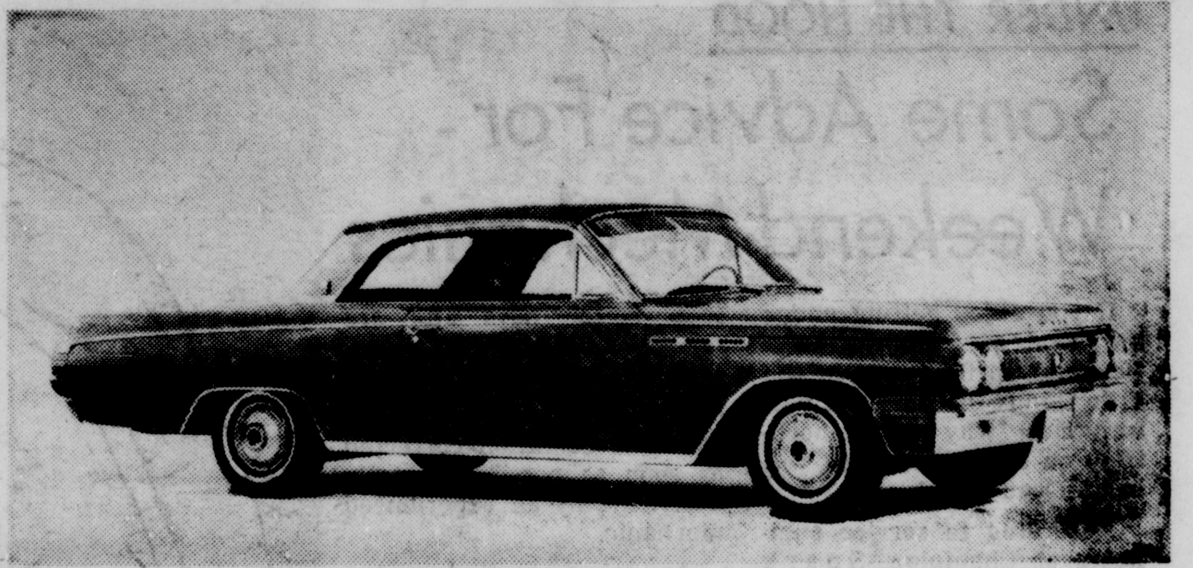
4. Note as fully as possible the damage to your car and to the other car. Secure the names, addresses and phone numbers of witnesses.

5. Get the name, badge number and precinct location of the police officer when he arrives.

6. Write down the location of the accident. Note the side of the street you were driving on, the direction you were driving, whether or not your lights were on and whether you blew your horn.

7. Note the day, date and hour of the accident. Note also the weather and the condition of the street or highway at the time.

8. Report all of the information you noted to your insurance company and to your state's Motor Vehicle Bureau within 48 hours.



MANEUVERABILITY AND LUXURY are combined in the Buick Skylark of 1963 with its neatly-tailored lines and the more massive front end styling. The Skylark comes in two body styles, a two-door hardtop and a two-door convertible. Powered by an aluminum V-8 engine with a four-barrel carburetor, the Skylark has increased in size by adding nearly four inches to the rear fenders to achieve a big car look. Smart interiors come in either all-vinyl or a combination of vinyl and cloth.

Be Sure Cyclists Are Safe

With summer vacation coming, children will be roaming the streets and highways again on their bicycles.

And if they don't know the proper, safe way to handle their bikes, they can be a dangerous traffic hazard. Last year, 550 lives were lost in bicycle accidents, the most since 1949, according to the National Safety Council.

MOST BICYCLE deaths fall in the 5-to-14 school-age group, adds the council, so parents should be especially certain that they remind their children about safe bicycling habits before letting them ride to school.

The most important thing to remember is that in most places, a bicycle is considered a vehicle and must obey the same traffic regulations as cars.

Cyclists should ride on the right side of the road, obey all the traffic control signals, and use the proper hand and arm signals for turns and stopping.

They should ride in a single file, preferably, and never more than two abreast on a street. Stunting and showing-off should be saved for a yard or field.

A CYCLIST should never try to squeeze in between two lanes of traffic, whether the cars are moving or stopped. He should watch carefully for cars pulling into traffic and for sudden opening of car doors.

At busy streets, crosswalks, or intersections, it's safest to get off the bike and walk it across.

If a bike is ridden at night, it should be equipped with a light on the front and a reflector on the rear. The cyclist himself should wear white or light-colored clothing after dark.

Twilight Is Tricky

Twilight is a beautiful time of day, but it can be a tricky period for the motorist. When you're driving into the setting sun, your speed should be reduced to compensate for the reduced visibility the low sun creates. Sun glasses help to overcome this hazard, but nothing takes the place of a reduced, safe speed.

Be Sure Cyclists Are Safe

With summer vacation coming, children will be roaming the streets and highways again on their bicycles.

And if they don't know the proper, safe way to handle their bikes, they can be a dangerous traffic hazard. Last year, 550 lives were lost in bicycle accidents, the most since 1949, according to the National Safety Council.

MOST BICYCLE deaths fall in the 5-to-14 school-age group, adds the council, so parents should be especially certain that they remind their children about safe bicycling habits before letting them ride to school.

The most important thing to remember is that in most places, a bicycle is considered a vehicle and must obey the same traffic regulations as cars.

Cyclists should ride on the right side of the road, obey all the traffic control signals, and use the proper hand and arm signals for turns and stopping.

They should ride in a single file, preferably, and never more than two abreast on a street. Stunting and showing-off should be saved for a yard or field.

A CYCLIST should never try to squeeze in between two lanes of traffic, whether the cars are moving or stopped. He should watch carefully for cars pulling into traffic and for sudden opening of car doors.

At busy streets, crosswalks, or intersections, it's safest to get off the bike and walk it across.

If a bike is ridden at night, it should be equipped with a light on the front and a reflector on the rear. The cyclist himself should wear white or light-colored clothing after dark.

Twilight Is Tricky

Twilight is a beautiful time of day, but it can be a tricky period for the motorist. When you're driving into the setting sun, your speed should be reduced to compensate for the reduced visibility the low sun creates. Sun glasses help to overcome this hazard, but nothing takes the place of a reduced, safe speed.

Some Advice For Weekend Mechanics

If you enjoy getting under the hood of your car on a weekend, to take care of the little things that improve performance, why not concentrate on those items that will benefit you most?

According to service engineers at Champion Spark Plug Co., you can do a good job with a few simple hand tools and minimum skill — even on today's complicated cars.

The engineers, however, advise sticking with basic jobs unless you're equipped with both special tools and know-how to tackle more intricate operations. Nevertheless, in most cases, you can obtain noticeable improvement in performance and economy.

HIGH ON THE list of potential fuel-wasters is the air cleaner. If clogged, it will cut the flow of air to the carburetor, act as a partial choke and thus enrichen the fuel mixture.

If your car is equipped with a dry paper filter element, simply remove it and tap lightly to rid it of accumulated dirt. Replacement should be made periodically according to your instruction manual.

If your air filter is the oil-wetted, wire-mesh type it should be washed thoroughly in kerosene or other solvent and drained dry. (For safety reasons, don't use gasoline.) Clean out the oil reservoir in the cleaner housing and fill with fresh oil to the specified level. Follow factory recommendations which usually call for the same oil used in your engine.

Often overlooked, too, are the nuts which hold the carburetor to the intake manifold, as well as those holding the manifold to the engine block or cylinder head. Air leakage at these points can excessively lean-out your fuel mixture resulting in loss of power, rough idling and increase the danger of burned valves.

NEXT, REMOVE your spark plugs and examine them for the conditions which cause poor performance — carbon-fouled firing ends — burned and blistered insulators — plugs, drowned in oil, or those having pitted insulators and badly eroded electrodes which are sure signs the plugs have seen better days and are ready for the scrap heap.

If plugs indicate these or other mechanical troubles have the condition corrected as soon as possible—usually best done by an experienced mechanic.

Assuming you find no particular complications, and you insist on doing the job yourself, soak the plugs in kerosene or a good parts cleaner for a few minutes to remove oil deposits—which may exist on either the firing tip or the insulator. Such deposits on the firing tip, of course, will foul the plug, preventing it from sparking, while those on the insulator may cause "flashover" — a fancy name for electrical leakage which occurs across the top of the insulator and shorts the plug out.

After the plugs have been cleaned thoroughly, use a small knife or similar object to scrape off any carbon deposits which have accumulated on the insulator. Be careful not to chip the ceramic, and never use a wire wheel or rotary brush; this can ruin the plug.

It's often impossible, without a special spark plug cleaning unit, to remove hard carbon formations on plugs, and when you examine yours, you may notice this. Such a condition, or badly-burned electrodes, calls for a new set of plugs. It's easiest to replace them right then, while the old plugs are out, than to do the job over again—especially if your engine carries its plugs in hard-to-get-at places.

If after cleaning, plugs look satisfactory, file the inside sparking areas of the electrodes to a flat, clean surface with a point file. This operation is very important and will go a long way toward making your plug cleaning efforts really worthwhile.

Wipe the outside of the insulator clean and with the electrodes now clean and dry, adjust the gap with a regular plug gap tool. Careful! Don't bend or use excessive force on the center electrode. And don't forget gaskets. Use fresh gaskets, not two old ones or an excessively flat one.

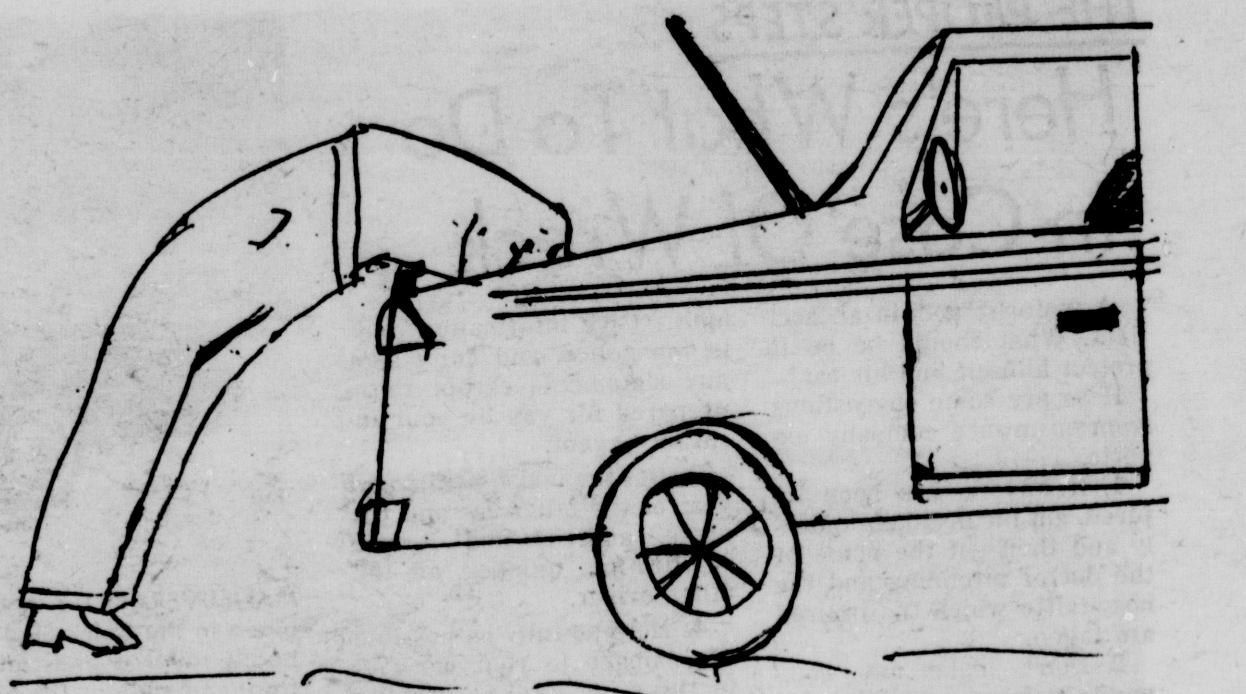
Now, let's back up to the distributor: Remove its cap and wipe it out with a paper towel or clean, lint-free cloth to remove carbon, dirt, oil or moisture, all of which can gather to eventually cause a short circuit within the cap. Look closely for cracks, excessive corrosion on the cap inserts and on the rotor. Clean inserts by lightly scraping with a knife. If the rotor looks cracked or if the cap shows excessive corrosion or pitting, it's best to replace them. The cost is small, but parts here will make a big difference.

FINALLY, clean and tighten all electrical contacts on the coil and distributor—just snug, but not too tight. Remember, your work will have been for nothing if connections are corroded or loose.

Before re-installing your air cleaner, start the cold engine and see if the choke is working perfectly. A sticking choke often goes unnoticed, yet runs your engine into a real gas guzzler.

The process outlined above will probably take you about an hour. The next time, it should take even less, once you know your way around so don't be afraid to tackle it. The improvement should be easily noticed in your car's performance and better fuel economy.



NO, NOT HEADLESS. Just one of the "under the hood" corps who can be seen tinkering with their cars on any Saturday or Sunday in Marin County. (Drawing by Don Keown)

You Need Not Tolerate The Squeaks And Rattles

Those of us who have automobiles that "just weren't built yesterday" are inclined to accept all those miscellaneous squeaks and rattles and clunks with a stiff upper lip, deciding in our hearts that this is all an inevitable part of our ancient cars.

This decision is not quite justified because there are really all sorts of things one can do to get rid of those squeaks and rattles.

TAKE THE clunking that comes from a looseness between frame and body. You can get rid of that by tightening up a few key body bolts that tie the frame to the body. Some more banging and clunking can be cleared away by tightening up on battery containers and battery hold-down bolts and by tightening up a few attaching and assembly bolts on that front and rear bumper.

For that banging that comes from springs and shackles that are just too loose, a few quick turns on the right bolts will end all that.

You can take care of those annoying squeaks that come from the hood metal rubbing against the slick and hardened weblike material that runs around the cowling. The trick to this is simply adding a fair amount of graphite to the weblike material to make things slip more smoothly and soundlessly.

Other squeaks owing to loose brackets here and there throughout the car can be eliminated by tightening up those brackets.

SQUEAKING OR rattling doors or windows are not much of a problem either. You can take the rattle out of the door by merely re-setting the adjustable buffer that presses the door against the lock. And you can take the rattle out of that window by merely renewing the rubber channels in which the glass slides or by adding those inexpensive anti-rattle gadgets carried in most car supply stores.

Try some of those tricks. Even though your car is ancient, you will find that you can rid it of those squeaks.

THE DATSUN SEDAN is now available with bucket seats as an optional extra. But power, economy and dependability are standard equipment on the 1963 four-door sedan. It offers plenty of leg and head room plus large trunk space, a high performance 60 horepower engine, and up to 33 miles per gallon in actual mileage. It's an ideal family, second or salesman's car with its inexpensive maintenance.

THE VOLKSWAGEN holds firmly to its position as this country's most popular imported car—and the sedan remains a familiar sight on our highways and streets. Economy and handling ease are just two of the reasons for that popularity. The station wagon and commercial units of the VW are also finding wide acceptance in the U.S.

Are The Imports Making Comeback?

The imported car has had an up-and-down existence in the United States.

But then they started becoming more popular through the 1950s reaching their peak in 1959 when foreign cars accounted for 614,131 sales and 10.17 per cent of the market.

From the 1959 peak, the imports dropped to 498,000 in 1960 and 378,000 in 1961. Last year, the figure was about 340,000. And after that?

One top American industry executive feels the imports will have trouble just holding their own in 1963.

"The heat is on the imports," according to Lee A. Iacocca, Ford vice-president. Volkswagen, he acknowledged, is doing quite a job, but the import market is rather sticky and will do well to hit 340,000 in 1963, he believes.

Import company executives disagree. They believe the trend has been reversed and foreign car sales will begin a slow upward climb.

VW, of course, continues to lead the imports, and was the only major foreign car to show an increase last year.

Do You Give Your Auto Proper Care?

Just how good is the care most American car owners provide for their automobile?

For instance, it disclosed that three out of every five motorists checked had spark plugs that were badly worn.

Either of these factors can cause a needless waste of gasoline.

Test results, for example, show that 85 per cent of the cars with 10,000 miles on the plugs will show some improvement in gas mileage, with 10 per cent recording two miles more per gallon when new plugs are installed.

This saving in many cases will more than pay for the cost of a tune-up.

Other things you may wish to have checked on your car this spring—and which the survey showed were neglected by many car owners—are:

1. Fan belt . . . 35 per cent of the cars checked had worn fan belts. A broken fan belt may strand you when you least expect it with an overheated engine. Don't take a chance. Your service station or garageman can check the fan belt on your car in minutes, and may save you from burning out an engine.

2. Ignition timing . . . A whopping 70 per cent of cars checked were out of time, which can cause poor gas mileage and loss of power. Your mechanic can quickly correct this condition while performing a routine tune-up, which is inexpensive and can pay for itself in fuel savings.

3. Exhaust system . . . Chances of having a leak, where dangerous carbon monoxide fumes can escape, are one in four, according to the survey. Have your dealer check the entire exhaust system on your car next time he has it on his grease rack for a lube job.

Still In Use

Of all the motor vehicles ever made in this country, almost 40 per cent are currently registered and in use today, reports the National Automobile Club.

Now add a few seats. Say 8.

Make an aisle so you can walk to the back.

Windows? At least 23. Doors? 5 should do.

Paint it up and what have you got?

It's Another Big Year For Car Sales After Banner 1962

The auto industry had a banner year in 1962.

Because of record demand for the new 1963 models, it looks like production and sales this year will be second only to the record year of 1955.

Factory sales and assemblies will likely total around seven million cars, compared with the high of 7.9 million in 1955. Registrations, the number of cars delivered to customers, may run about 6.8 million, against the 7.2 million in 1955.

BUYERS MADE a shambles out of industry sales records when the 1963 cars were introduced about Oct. 1. More cars—728,000—were sold in October than ever before in auto history.

Chevrolet led the way throughout 1962. It became the first auto firm to sell more than two million cars in one year—reaching that mark Dec. 6. It routed arch-rival Ford in their traditional battle for sales leadership.

Ford, running 400,000 sales behind Chevy at mid-year, tried to recoup by appealing more to the young buyers. The firm entered racing in a big way as Board Chairman Henry Ford II abandoned the industry's anti-racing resolution.

The new cars shown last fall by Ford and the other firms had more horsepower than ever before. More cars came equipped with bucket seats and four-speed floor-mounted transmissions. The compact Falcon, Comet and Valiant cars had convertible models.

MOST 1963 models were basically a face-lift of 1962 versions. Chrysler had the biggest overall styling changes. It apparently helped because the firm's disappointing 9 per cent share of the market climbed to nearly 12 per cent with the new models.

The only truly new models in the industry were the Buick Riviera (General Motors' answer to the Ford Thunderbird), the Corvette Sting Ray (Chevy's sports car which is so popular there's is often a lengthy waiting list), and the Avanti, a Studebaker "personal car" like the T-Bird.

In addition, Willys — the "Jeep" maker — came out with a station wagon.

THE INDUSTRY generally held the line on prices. A few cars went up in cost. Some optional equipment was a factor in the higher price. A few cars like Chrysler lowered prices.

The industry offered some new engineering features on select models. Depending on the car, you now can get a transistorized ignition system, disc brakes, supercharged engine, tilting steering wheel or 100,000-mile lubrication system.

Exhaust Fumes Can Pose Driving Peril

Tests have shown that an automobile following another closely in heavy traffic can pick up enough carbon monoxide from the exhaust of the first vehicle to have a distinct physical effect upon the following driver.

This is something to keep in mind if you find yourself suddenly inclined to drowsiness when driving in unduly heavy traffic.

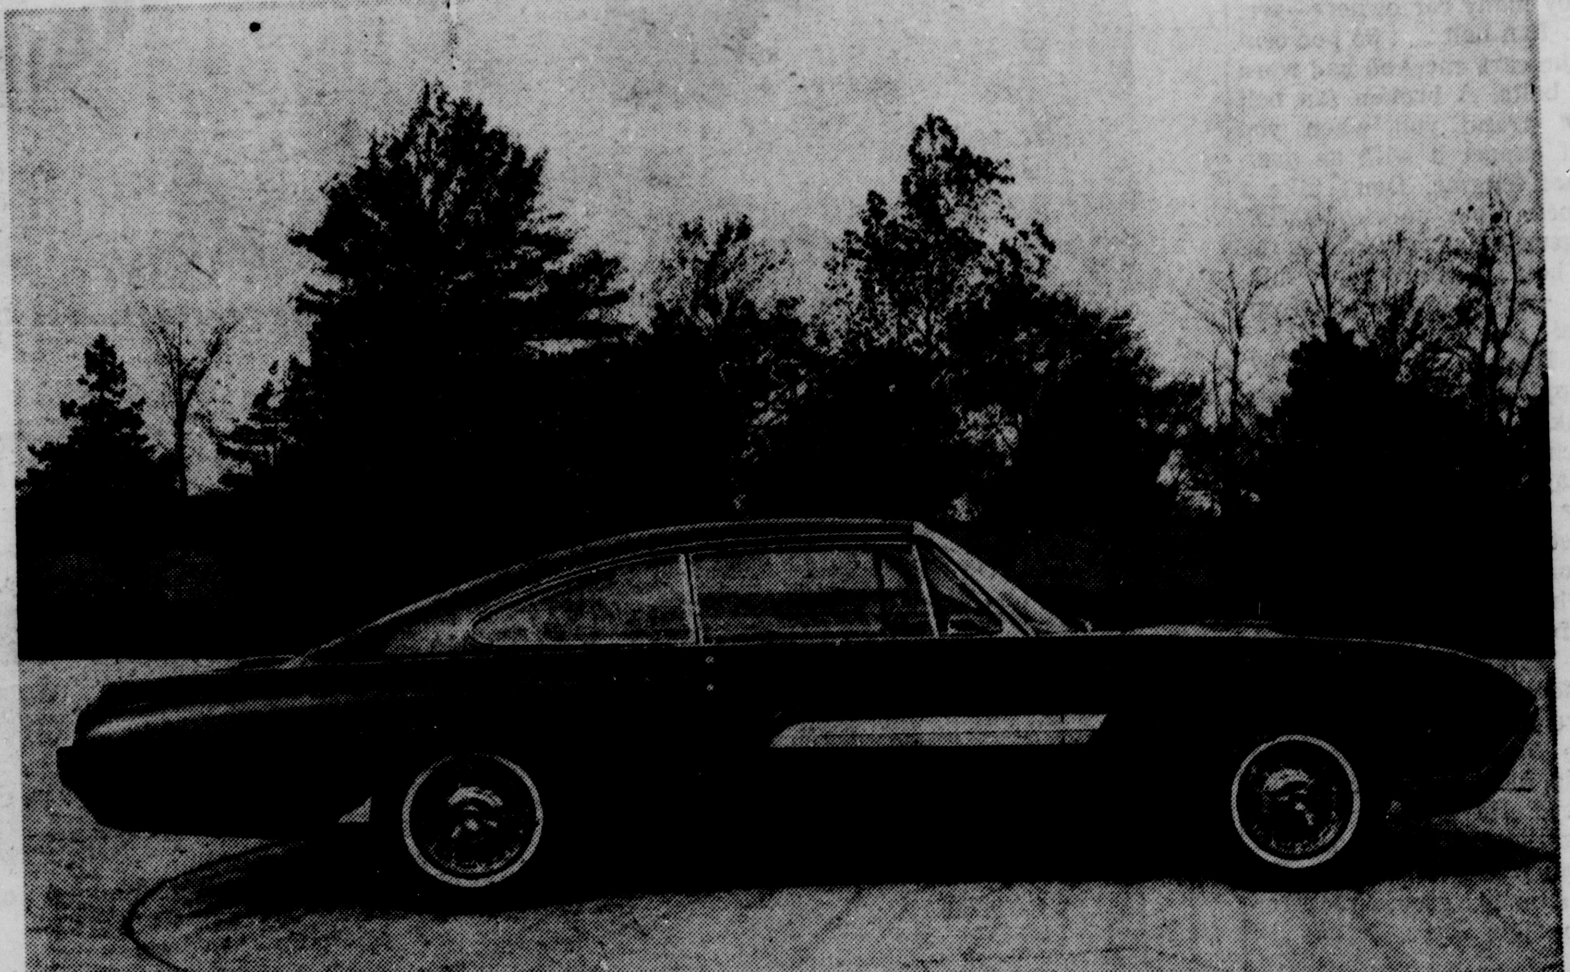
THE MUSTANG, a new experimental sports car by Ford Motor Co., is attracting widespread attention. It has a V-8 engine, located midship, which delivers 106 horsepower and a top speed of 117 miles an hour. It is only 28.8 inches to the top of its hood. Wheelbase is 90 inches with an overall length of 154 inches. The Mustang made its debut last fall.



YOU MIGHT NOT recognize it—but this is a Thunderbird. The Thunderbird Italien, to be specific. It is a styling study of the 1963 Thunderbird departing from the traditional "greenhouse." Being displayed at leading rod and custom shows, the model features a new roof line with aerodynamic styling and a customized leather interior with bucket seats front and rear.

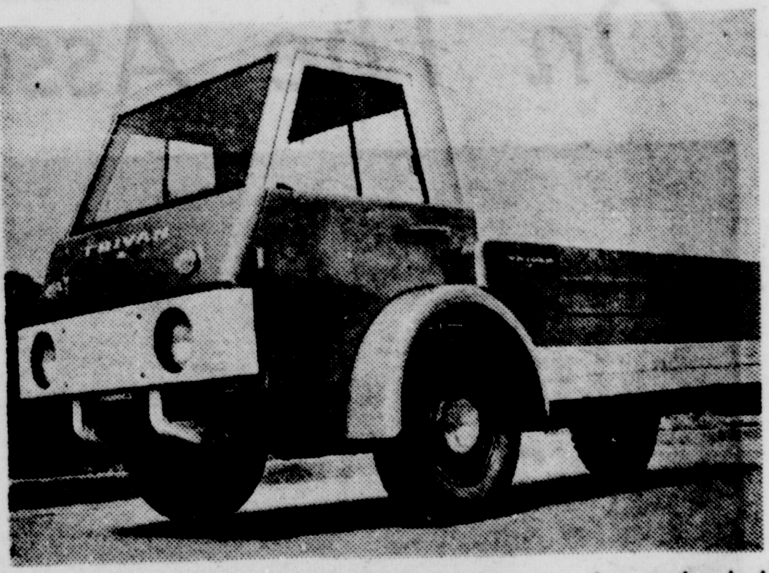
AUTOMOTIVE design features that are both advanced and proven have been incorporated in the entire 1963 Pontiac line as illustrated here by the Bonneville sports coupe at top and the Bonneville convertible. Retaining the Pontiac identity, a split grille features sunken air scoops flanked by twin vertical head lamps. Rear bumpers sweep upward at the ends to blend smoothly with sculptured side panels and tail lamps, thus enhancing the long, low, wide appearance.



THIS STRANGE-LOOKING vehicle is the new three-wheeled truck dubbed the Trivan and manufactured by Roustabout Co. of Frackville, Pa. Its originators hail it as the most economical and most useable of vehicles. It has a curb weight of 1,600 pound, but is designed to carry a half-ton load with ease. It cruises at 50 to 55 miles an hour and gives up to 35 miles per gallon of gas, according to manufacturers. Engineers maintain the three-wheel arrangement is advantageous.

The Higher Price Cars Selling Well

Cars making the best sales gains this year are those with extra equipment and price tags higher than average for the line, according to C. E. Briggs, vice - president of Chrysler Motors Corporation and general manager, Chrysler-Plymouth Division.

He reported that Plymouth's high line series, the Fury and Sport Fury, is up 100 per cent in sales over last year compared with a 41 per cent increase for all standard size Plymouths.

"This is an industry-wide trend," he said. "In the Plymouth-Chevrolet-Ford group, for example, latest published figures show the high line models are taking 53.7 per cent of total production of those cars, the highest since 1957. The trend applies to nearly all cars and we think it is a very favorable element in our total economic outlook.

"It means that people are becoming more discriminating, more inclined to give special consideration to interiors and special equipment and more eager generally to raise their standards of good motoring.

"We have gone from a period of emphasis on diversity of size, to a new period which is just emerging.

"Some people call it the lush and plush era. I would prefer to say that its the time of sophistication in the choice of automobiles."

On The Assembly Lines In Detroit

UPPER LEFT, a 1963 Valiant gets the women's touch as women work along side the men on the assembly line. Note the colorful aprons worn by the women.

UPPER RIGHT, the unit construction body of a 1963 Chrysler starts down from an overhead track to meet the chassis on the assembly line at the Jefferson Plant in Detroit.

Safety Is Not Difficult, The Highway Patrol Says

The California Highway Patrol can prove that safety can be easy.

CHP statisticians recently found out that 94 per cent of all accidents during one month were caused by breaking the law.

Most could have been prevented because, the CHP said, the majority of accidents are caused by man and not the machine. Mechanical failures account for a very small number of accidents.

SPEEDING IS still a factor in most accidents with crossing over the center line a close second. Violations by most motorists probably are unintentional and result from misunderstanding, poor judgment and attitude. Many drivers feel vehicle laws are irritants "thrown in the way of their personal liberties and rights."

The over-cautious driver often commits the violation of driving too slow and may lead other impatient drivers to acts endangering lives. Driving too slow breaks the law as does driving too fast, depending on the location and conditions.

The driver who keeps to the left-hand lane or inner lane on a multi-lane freeway has a very good chance of becoming an accident statistic because of the increasing number of wrong-way drivers.

ALCOHOL IS being found to be a factor in more and more fatal accidents, either with the driver or passengers.

The most common story told by drivers involved in intersection crashes is, "I thought the other guy was going to slow down or stop, so I didn't." Many motorists feel they are the one nothing ever happens to.

One of the newest methods of highway enforcement of traffic laws is the use of aircraft over major freeways, thoroughfares and other highways.

The aircraft are working very well and if they prove effective enough to justify the expense, then planes will be used permanently.

Safety Advice

Never stop your car on a busy highway, advises the National Automobile Club. Always pull well off the pavement and stop on the shoulder.

Seat Belt Campaign Picking Up Steam

Seat belts save lives.

Their value is undisputed, and since 1962 American car models have included safety belt attachments as standard equipment.

This year, the campaign is being carried one step further with:

1. An automobile industry announcement of a plan to make seat belts standard equipment on all cars starting in 1964.

2. Introduction of a bill in the California Legislature at the request of Gov. Edmund G. Brown that after Jan. 1, 1964, any new car could not be registered in the state unless it has at least two seat belts or harness in the front seat.

THE AUTOMOBILE industry says its seat belt plan nationally would cost 75 million dollars a year but could save thousands of lives.

Government, police and safety officials have applauded the plan, which was proposed recently by Ford Motor Co.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association recently held committee meetings on the seat belt plan, and full board approval is expected shortly with only one or two dissenting votes.

While seat belt attachments have been standard equipment since 1962, only a small percentage of people now wear seat belts or have them in their cars. The National Safety Council estimates that only five million out of 75 million vehicles have belts. The NSC adds that the installation rate on 1963 cars is low.

In asking for a seat belt law in California, Governor Brown pointed out the state is following the lead of Wisconsin, New York, Rhode Island, Virginia and Mississippi.

He said that if the measure had been introduced a year ago, 800 persons who died in traffic accidents during 1962 would be alive today.

"THIS IS a minimum," the governor said. "There are some who believe we could save half the lives (of traffic victims) if everyone in the state had seat belts."

A total of 4,196 persons were killed in California traffic accidents in 1962, about 10 per cent of the 40,000 killed nationally.

The NSC estimates that about 12½ per cent of those killed in traffic accidents would be saved by seat belts but says injuries would be reduced by 30 per cent.

STUDIES reveal chances of coming out of an accident without loss of life or serious injury are bettered 40-60 per cent if the occupants of the car are using seat belts, according to studies of medical authorities.

The principal tragedy seat belts can prevent is being thrown out of the door of the car at impact.

THE 1963 RAMBLER CLASSIC Six and Ambassador V-8 are three inches lower in overall height than the 1962 models, yet have the same generous interior room. The 1963 models are also an inch shorter—but look longer because of the new styling. Horsepower ratings are 127 and an optional 138 for the Classic Six, 250 and an optional 270 for the Ambassador V-8.

Phamphlet Tells Motorist How To Avoid Wreck

An error in just one of the thousands of split second decisions which drivers must make weekly could lead to a fatal accident, according to a pamphlet issued by the All-State Safety Crusade.

The pamphlet urges drivers to develop the following habits:

1. Continually adjust speed and spacing to changes in driving conditions.

2. Anticipate mistakes of others.

3. Know what evasive action to take.

What Those Drag Terms Really Mean

Tack (tach)—Tachameter.

Box—A transmission.

Juice, punch—Fuel mixture of Nitro, Methane, Alcohol, crystal T.N.T.; used in hot cars.

Gasser — Dragster, gas coupe or sedan. A high-performance car that runs on pump gasoline.

Fueler — Same as Gasser, but using fuel mixture.

Skins—Tires.

Feather-footed—Easy quarter-mile run, deliberate.

Seagull — Complainer (Seagull squawks).

In the chute — Staging or lineup area for runs.

Spook—Technique used to unnerve a competitor by making false starts, etc.

Stroker—Engine that has been bored and stroked.

Mill—Car's engine.

DEMONSTRATING THE power and utility of the Toyota Land Cruiser is pretty Hollywood starlet Sharyn Lyn Hillyer as she competes over the Marine Corps tank obstacle course at Camp Pendleton with one of the military tanks. The 135-horsepower, four-wheel-drive Land Cruiser has remarkable "go anywhere" capabilities. Its advocates boost it as "the world's most powerful, all-purpose four-wheel drive utility vehicle."

Be Careful In Stepping From Curb

The first step after leaving the curb are the most dangerous, partly because it is so easy to misjudge the speed of an approaching car, says the California State Automobile Assn.

A car at moderate speed travels its own length while a pedestrian is taking one step, and a step or two and a careless pedestrian is squarely in the path of a car, the association said.

The association gave the warning in reminding pedestrians to look carefully before leaving the curb and not to misjudge the speed of an approaching car.

SOME BASIC RULES OF ROAD TO HELP YOU AVOID WRECKS

There are some very fundamental rules of the road which, if observed, will greatly reduce your chances of accident.

Some of the key rules:

1. Never stop your car on the pavement. Standing still in a lane of traffic is an invitation to a rear-end collision, for the driver behind you may be careless, drowsy or affected by highway hypnosis.

2. Stay a reasonable distance behind the car in front of you. And if the weather or visibility is poor, double that distance.

3. Keep in the proper lane of traffic and do not wander needlessly from lane to lane. Pass with caution slow-moving trucks or cars.

4. Avoid applying brakes suddenly or changing course abruptly.

5. Keep in mind that exceeding the legal speed limit or driving too fast for existing weather conditions can land you in traffic court—or, worse, a hospital or a morgue.

6. Enter the main highway with caution and at the approximate speed of the cars already in the flow of traffic.

7. And obey all directional signs and signals.

The Trend In Tires Is Toward The 2-Ply

The American auto industry has equipped about 80 per cent of its 1963 models with two-ply tires.

And that is quite a change in a short period of time. None of the 1960 models used two-ply tires as original equipment.

The trend is still continuing and it is quite possible that all the 1964 models will be equipped with the new tire, according to forecasts by Goodyear.

The concept behind the new tires is this: Four plies of rubber-coated tire cord in the tire body have been replaced by two plies of giant-sized cord with no loss of basic strength.

Walter Lee, director of tire research at Goodyear, said the benefits of the two-ply are that "you have a tire that is more flexible and in which the cords work together better, causing the tire to absorb less power as it rolls and consequently building up less heat."

Lee said the more flexible tire offers a smoother, softer ride; reduced rolling resistance means better fuel economy, and less heat build-up.

Too-Slow Driver Is A Hazard

Drivers who travel at a slower rate of speed than the normal flow of traffic can be just as great a traffic menace as the speeder.

So warns the California State Automobile Assn.

The association points out that California law requires any driver who is moving at less than the normal speed of traffic to keep his vehicle in the right-hand lane and as close as practical to the right-hand edge of the roadway — except when he is passing an even slower vehicle or making a left-hand turn.

Less well known is the law which requires a slow-moving driver to pull off the road when five or more cars are "stacked up" behind him, so that the other vehicles can pass. This particular law applies to two-lane highways only, and requires the slow driver to turn from the roadway at the nearest point designated as a "turnout."

Obeyance of these laws is not only the lawful but also the courteous thing to do, the association points out.

"Too often serious accidents occur when someone endeavors to pass a long line of slow-moving traffic" the association points out. "In these cases the first car in line is usually the bottleneck and has been selfishly or thoughtlessly holding back the normal flow of traffic.

"The remedy is simple. Keep to the right when driving slowly. And if cars begin to string out behind you, pull off the roadway and let them pass."

Check Your Car

Caution, courtesy, and common sense while driving mean nothing unless your car is in top mechanical condition. Check your car periodically for mechanical defects. It will add to your peace of mind to know your car is in the best possible condition.

The Trend In Tires Is Toward The 2-Ply

The American auto industry has equipped about 80 per cent of its 1963 models with two-ply tires.

And that is quite a change in a short period of time. None of the 1960 models used two-ply tires as original equipment.

The trend is still continuing and it is quite possible that all the 1964 models will be equipped with the new tire, according to forecasts by Goodyear.

The concept behind the new tires is this: Four plies of rubber-coated tire cord in the tire body have been replaced by two plies of giant-sized cord with no loss of basic strength.

Walter Lee, director of tire research at Goodyear, said the benefits of the two-ply are that "you have a tire that is more flexible and in which the cords work together better, causing the tire to absorb less power as it rolls and consequently building up less heat."

Lee said the more flexible tire offers a smoother, softer ride; reduced rolling resistance means better fuel economy, and less heat build-up.

DODGE THROUGH THE YEARS

Be Sure Lights Are Working

Many drivers fall down on the comparatively easy job of keeping their car lights in a safe, efficient condition.

Failure to do this invites danger, particularly because a large number of accidents accur during darkness or under conditions of poor visibiiity.

Here are some things to keep in mind about car lights:

1. Dirt cuts down on light and you can increase the amount of light you get for visibility by simply keeping your headlamp lenses clean.

2. A weak battery, corroded battery terminals or defective connections may be the causes of low voltage at the bulb socket.

3. Just as a light bulb in the home burns out, so does one in a headlamp. This should be corrected immediately. A car with extra fuses and know how and where to replace them. The owner's manual will locate the fuses on the car.

4. If all the car lights go out at once the trouble may be bad wiring or a blown fuse.

5. At least twiee a year, check headlights for proper adjustment. If they are too high, they can blind oncoming drivers. Too low and they lose the maximum lighting.

Alternators Replacing Generators

The alternator, unlike the conventional D.C. generator used for so many years, produces considerable electrical current at low speeds and at idle.

The 1960 Plymouth Valiant was the first U.S. car to use alternators as standard equipment. Then Chrysler installed them on all the firm's car lines.

THE OTHER auto companies started switching over. All G.M. cars except the Corvair have alternators, as do the Ford Thunderbird and Lincoln-Continental. Studebaker and American Motors offer them on a few models.

In some cases, the alternator—called a Delcatron in the case of G.M.—is offered as optional equipment. In others, it is standard.

One manufacturer of alternators is Leece-Neville of Cleveland, Ohio. Touting the alternator, R. G. Hill, the firm's vice president of sales, said:

"The big advantage of alternator systems is that they partially eliminate electrical system breakdown, the No. 1 cause of car and truck failures.

"AN ALTERNATOR system is a necessity on today's vehicles equipped with such electric-powered accessories as electric windshield wipers, two-way radios, air conditioners and power seats and windows.

"Any vehicle benefits from an alternator system, since it eliminates charging system cycling, lengthens battery life and increases the operating efficiency of all electrical equipment."

Device Traps Hit-Runners

One such device that is apt to make us feel more like the moles we apparently are is the steptrophotometer.

This steptrophotometer, according to the National Automobile Club, can tell more than two million colors apart and has been proving helpful to police agencies in the tracing of hit-and-run drivers. A mere pinpoint of paint found on a victim's clothing or at the scene of an accident is often all that it needs to identify the model of car involved.

Fog Treacherous

Motorists often find they must drive through fog. Even though the foggy situation may be temporary, it is still a treacherous period. Fog of any kind reduces visibility more than we like. To help ease the situation, reduce your speed and use headlights—not parking lights—in the fog.

'I Love Novato,' Says Babe Silva Of City He Heads

By THERON NEWELL

When the Novato City Council sits in official session, the man who steers the meeting is one who, a few short years ago, had never dreamed of getting into politics.

Perhaps it was that very lack of political ambition that led him to the city council and eventually to the mayor's seat.

"I have no axes to grind, so I do not owe favors to anyone," explained Babe, who has been working in the milk business most of his life.

BABE WAS born Manuel E. Silva on Dec. 12, 1906, on the old Miller Ranch where Marinwood is now located. His father, Frank J. Silva, was running the ranch with Tony Silvera.

Frank was married to Rosa Pacheco. Both of them had come from the Azores Islands.

Two older sisters, Mary Silva Hagedohm of San Francisco and Rose Rocha of Petaluma, had preceded Babe into the family. He was soon called "the Baby" by his older sisters. That tag has stuck to him to this day in the nickname "Babe."

When he was six months old, his father bought the general merchandise store on Grant Avenue in Novato. The family moved to the house at the rear of the store. That combination store and saloon or bar stood where the Novato city hall annex is now located.

Here Babe and his sisters worked in the store as they grew up. It was a family affair, as so many businesses were in those days. Here Babe learned the value of money and the amount of work necessary to get that money.

It was a general store in the truest sense of the word. The Silvas carried anything that the farmers could want. It sold everything from groceries and drygoods to farm tools and feed.

Babe's father would buy feed in the carload lots for the farmers. That was in the days when there were probably 500 people in the entire Novato area.

The railroad was the main communication link with the rest of the Bay Area. Highway 101 had not yet been built. The carloads of feed would be pulled off onto the siding at Novato where the farmers would come for their share, Babe recalled.

In 1913 Babe's father organized the Novato Bank. Other founders of the bank were A. D. Scott, Judge Herman Rudolph, Daniel Ryan, Bill Murray, Manuel T. Freitas and James Burdell. George Morrison was the first manager.

THE BANK was the first modern building in Novato. It was of heavy steel girder and brick construction, planned for a second story, which has never been added. It became the first City Hall when Novato was incorporated just over three years ago.

Babe started school in the Novato Grammar School. Then in 1915 his father, homesick for his native land, took his family to the Azores for a vacation. They were there when World War I broke out in earnest and the family was forced to stay in the Azores for a year.

That delayed Babe one year in school, so he did not graduate from the eighth grade until 1922. Then he spent two years in San Rafael High School, where he played his first baseball.

His parents then sent him to St. Mary's in Oakland. At that time, St. Mary's had an academy as well as the college in Oakland.

It was popularly known as "the brickpile," Babe said.

When he was at San Rafael High School, he had played catcher on the baseball team. But St. Mary's had a good catcher, so Babe was moved to shortstop.

During his first year at St. Mary's College, he made the freshman baseball team. For his ability, he was awarded a scholarship for his next three years of college.

He attended St. Mary's College for two years while it was still located in Oakland and two more years in Moraga when the college moved there.

Babe did not graduate from college. Willis Butler, a scout for the St. Louis Browns, had been after him to sign a contract to play professional baseball. Babe weakened and signed the contract just before he would have graduated.

HE WAS paid $450 per month when he first left college. In those days, that was a big salary for anyone, let alone a rookie fresh from school.

He was sent to the training camp at Topeka, Kan., in the old Western Association.

Here he suffered an injury to his left shoulder that cut his baseball career short. He asked for and received a release from his baseball contract.

Then he returned to Novato and went to work for the Marin Dell Milk Co. He hoped that the hard work would help get his shoulder back into shape.

Fred Hoffman called him to the training camp of the San Francisco Mission ball club at Woodland. Babe responded, but couldn't make the grade.

"I JUST didn't cut it," he explained. "I never was a good hitter."

He returned to the Marin Dell Milk Co. to go to work, his professional ball career now definitely behind him. Since then he has played only semi-pro ball and sandlot ball with the kids.

"I've been in the milk business ever since," he noted.

He started as a can washer, bottle washer, milk dumper and route man. Later he was promoted to relief driver, assistant superintendent and finally superintendent.

"I had 100 people working under me," Babe explained about his job as superintendent.

HIS EDUCATION was not finished when he left St. Mary's College. While employed at Marin Dell Milk Co., that company paid his expenses plus full salary for him to take special courses at the University of California at Davis. These studies lasted for one year in 1933, he said.

Babe worked for Marin Dell until 1940. Then, because of a personality clash, he was let go. He went to work for the Sonoma-Marin Milk Co., which was an organization of producers.

He ran this operation for almost five years, and then, when the producers were showing a good profit, they sold out to Marin-Dell. Babe and his old boss agreed that he should not come back to work for Marin Dell.

"I probably could have insisted on the job being written into the sales contract, but I didn't," he explained.

IN MARCH of 1945 he went to work for Borden Milk Co. as a field man, and he is still employed there. He works in quality control, inspection, procurement and public relations work.

In 1943 he had married Marian Hoppe of Petaluma, whom he had known for years.

As a special tribute to his old Alma Mater, he wanted to

AS THE SECOND MAYOR in the young city of Novato's history, M. E. (Babe) Silva wields the gavel and presides over city council meetings. But his performance as a public official goes much beyond that. He sometimes spends from 30 to 40 hours a week overseeing the operation of the municipal government he heads. (Independent-Journal photo) get married at St. Mary's College. It required special consent from the Brothers to have the wedding performed on the campus, but permission was obtained and the two were married there.

When first married, Babe and Marian lived in San Francisco. There both their sons were born. It was almost 10 years after they were married that their first son, Michael, was born in 1943. He is now attending Santa Rosa Junior College. Their second son, Frank, was born in 1947. He is a sophomore at Novato High School.

WHEN SILVA'S father built the bank building, the house which had sat at the back of the general store was moved across Scown Lane to the lot behind the bank. Here his parents lived until his father died in 1946. Then his mother continued to live there alone.

Babe and Marian moved back to Novato in 1949. He bought the old house from his mother and built his present home on the same lot after the old dwelling had been torn down.

When his father ran the general store, there was nothing on the west side of Grant Avenue between the store and where the present Highway 101 is located, Babe remembered.

"I love Novato," he said unashamedly. "I've watched it grow from almost nothing to the present city. I want to see it grow as firmly and as quickly as it can.'

HIS INTEREST in sports never died. He combined it with his love of children, and was very active in organizing and running the Little League program in Novato.

Other civic organizations too have felt his support as they were being organized.

He was active in formulation of the fire district. He joined the volunteers and has been a member ever since. It is not a rare sight to see the mayor of the town out pulling fire hoses around, fighting flames. So active is he with the volunteer firemen that he was put in charge of their annual St. Patrick's Day Dance at the Community House, this year.

His deep interest in helping the community progress saw him pushing for the sanitary district and the North Marin County water district. All of this work was done in the background. Babe himself did not want a public office or attention.

THEN THE movement to incorporate Novato began to grow. He took an active interest in it. When it reached the point where the incorporation election was scheduled, the race for council seats was on.

A record number of candidates threw their hats into the ring. Most of these were newcomers to the community, Babe observed.

"Old timers began asking me to run," he stated. "They said to me: All of the people running are newcomers. Who is going to represent us old-timers on the council?"

So he reluctantly decided to run. The rest is local history.

BABE RAN third in a field of 27 candidates (three of whom withdrew before the voting but their names still appeared on the ballots). Novato's first mayor, Wayne Womack, and Charles Johnson who left the council after his term expired, were the only ones who got more than the 1,036 votes cast for Babe.

Then the councilmen set about the job of starting a new city.

One of Babe's first official tasks as a councilman was to find a city hall for the fledgling city. He procured the old bank building which his father had built. It still serves to house city offices, although these will be moved about June 1 to the Presbyterian Church properties, which the city bought last year for $62,500.

AS A COUNCILMAN, Babe had a chance to apply to givernment the practices he had learned in private business. He insisted that the city have the money to pay for something before it spent it. This policy has resulted in the 3-year-old city having a surplus of more than $300,000 in its treasury.

The only time that he has deviated from this policy was when he supported the $100,000 bond issue to build a swimming pool at the high school site.

He was vice-mayor under Womack, and, when Womack declined to seek a second term so that he could run for county supervisor, Babe was named mayor by his fellow councilmen.

He is not the usual type of mayor who "governs" the city at council meetings and then leaves the running of the city to its employees the rest of the time. Almost every day he goes across his backyard into the city hall. He knows the details of every operation of the city.

HE IS NOT only the mayor of the town, he is also the watchdog for the people in the affairs of their government.

"I have no selfish motive," Babe said in explaining the time he devotes to watching over the city affairs. He admits that sometimes he spends 30 to 40 hours a week on the job for the city.

"I'm not in it for glory either," he said. He was probably thinking of the threatened recall movement started by Alfred Bowman, who disagreed with the council's approved of a freeway route along the present highway.

(The State Highway Commission subsequently chose a route east of the railroad, and the threatened recalls died a natural death.)

"I LOOK forward to the council meetings," he stated. "Sometimes they go too long with people talking, but I feel that everyone should have a chance to say what is on their minds."

Civic affairs are not the only outside interests of the mayor. All of his life he has been an ardent fisherman and hunter. In the fall, if one fails to find him doing his duties around city hall, one can be sure that he is out in the mountains deer hunting.

While I was talking to the mayor in his comfortable home at 837 Sweetzer Avenue, his son Frank came home from school. Babe asked his youngest son about the ball game he had just left.

"We won, 3 to 2" Frank said.

"DID YOU get any hits?" Babe asked, his eyes lighting up.

"One," Frank admitted shyly.

So that is Novato's mayor, pioneer, sportsman, business executive and devoted father —one who is affectionately called "Mayor Babe" at the city council meetings.

"SANDSCAPE," A WATERCOLOR by Justine Carey is one of five paintings which have been donated by 1962 award winners and a juror to the 1963 Sausalito Woman's Club Art Show, to be held in that organization's clubhouse in Sausalito next weekend. Carey captured the best-of-show award in the 1962 competition. (Independent-Journal photos)

ANNUAL ART SHOW

Just About Everyone Gets Into The Act

The Sausalito Women's Club will again sponsor a community-wide art show, fully juried and judged, in the organization's clubhouse at Central and San Carlos Avenues, Sausalito, next weekend.

The show is limited to Sausalito artists, who compete for a $100 first prize for best of show plus other awards.

School students as well as professional artists participate.

Planning and arrangements for the event, according to Mrs. Ruth Alexander, general chairman, are "community-wide."

SHE CAN point to the efforts of such members of the Women's Club as Mrs. Regi Woods "who though eight-and-three-quarters-months pregnant, nevertheless designed and executed the entry rule circulars."

Or to Mrs. Kay Ksanda who, although in the midst of writing and acting in the club's annual "Jinks" show, nevertheless found the time to devote many hours to the art exhibit.

Other club members have been busy phoning, receiving exhibits, etc. Mrs. Alice Scarborough, an artist herself and a club member, will hang the show.

The community in general has helped or will assist with such special problems as lighting the show and feeding the visiting jurors.

And awards have come from a number of civic organizations along with the $100 best-of-show prize from

INDICATIVE OF the support accorded the show by the artists themselves were the 174 works submitted by 80 entrants for jurying last year—and the fact that four of last year's winners along with one of the jurors have donated paintings this year to help support the event.

Admission to the exhibit, open Saturday and Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m., is free. A donation, however, will make the spectator eligible for a chance at the five donated pieces:

"The Old Garden," an oil by Nan Fowler, who won the popular vote award in 1962.

"Shelter Cove," a watercolor of Sausalito's waterfront and hills, by Wedo Georgetti, who last year won the "Marin Scene" award given by the Sausalito Rotary Club.

"Scarlet Idea," an abstract oil in red and blue, by Serge Trubach, who was a juror last year and therefore not in competition in the show.

Several of the donated pieces were framed by Betty de Prado of Colony Frames gratis, and the paintings have been on display for several weeks at various Sausalito business places. They will be awarded on the closing day of the show.

Talent In The Teens

George Duke Of Marin City Has A Bright Future

By BRUCE COLEMAN

When he was small, his mother couldn't stop him from singing.

Now that he's tall, he does not sing much—but no one can stop him from making music.

This is George M. Duke, 17-year-old son of Mrs. Beatrice Duke of 59 Cole Drive, Marin City.

DUKE STARTED playing piano at 8 with Wyna Barron of Marin City and did his first full recital at 13. Although piano is his main instrument, he plays baritone horn, trombone and trumpet, bass and cello.

A senior at Tamalpais High School, he is in band, orchestra and choir. For the past 18 months he has played piano with the Nuevo Jazz Quintet, an all-Marin group. The quintet has broken up, however, and Duke is joining a trio made up of bass and drums in addition to Duke's piano.

Duke sang the tenor lead in Gian Carlo-Menotti's opera, "Amelia Goes to the Ball," earlier this month at Tamalpais High. In this he had the honor to be the first Negro to ever receive a lead in a major school production.

The way it happened, said the student, was that the school's music director, Robert J. Greenwood, "caught me

THE BARITONE horn which 17-year-old George M. Duke of Marin City plays in the Tamalpais High School band is just one of several instruments he has mastered. The piano is his main interest. And he also plays trombone, trumpet, bass violin and cello. He plans for a career in music. (Independent-Journal photo)

Marin City Youth Carries Heavy Music Load—And He Enjoys It

"I USED TO sing all the time. I used to compose pieces singing. Then I just stopped. Mr. Greenwood had to push me into this opera. I don't have a voice. I don't want to sing."

A humble, easy-going person, Duke has many goals right now. He wants to continue his studies in piano with his teacher, Jules Haywood of San Francisco.

"I would like to have students (he has eight, six from Marin City, two from Tiburon) and play in a symphony. I plan to study jazz also . . ."

"It seems like a lot all at one time," Duke said, "but I have it all worked out."

The youth said he has lived all of his life in Marin City. "When I was little I used to wear my records out playing them all day long—'Three Blind Mice' was one," he recalled.

"MY MOTHER used to buy me records and take me to recitals. She bought me a record player when I was 2. We still have it. I was taken to my first recital at 4."

Last year Duke won both Marin Music Chest Society of Classical Arts scholarships. This year he is one of several students to win the Bank of America award, a recognition for students who are outstanding in the music department. He is a member of his school's Honor T Society.

The young music man was piano accompanist for Tamalpais High's "Pajama Game" in 1961 and for "The Medium" in 1962. He played trombone for "Carousel" at the school last year and also the actor-on-piano Wesley in "Time of Your Life," produced by the Tamalpais Valley Players.

HE EXPECTS to be presented by Haywood at San Francisco's Internatonal Music Hall in a piano recital with another pupil.

He will enter San Francisco State College majoring in music education this fall, and also plans to go to Julliard School of Music.

A collector of records as a hobbyist, Duke steps away from music with his other hobby, photography.

Duke's first teacher quit playing his advance lesson for him, as was her habit with other pupils, when he played the lesson right back. At his first recital, however, he sat down to the piano to play and couldn't think of the first piece. "Finally, I put my hand down and, it so happened, it came out right."

THE YOUNG man who says "I'm always carrying a horn—it's like a trade mark," also says he likes to compose. He has made a jazz arrangement of "Carousel," he said, which he hopes to have copyrighted and published. And, when he has been able to join the union, he plans to have it recorded. In addition, he's working on a suite for band or concert orchestra to present at a backstage concert at school.

"I USED TO sing all the time. I used to compose pieces singing. Then I just stopped. Mr. Greenwood had to push me into this opera. I don't have a voice. I don't want to sing."

A humble, easy-going person, Duke has many goals right now. He wants to continue his studies in piano with his teacher, Jules Haywood of San Francisco.

"I would like to have students (he has eight, six from Marin City, two from Tiburon) and play in a symphony. I plan to study jazz also . . ."

"It seems like a lot all at one time," Duke said, "but I have it all worked out."

The youth said he has lived all of his life in Marin City. "When I was little I used to wear my records out playing them all day long—'Three Blind Mice' was one," he recalled.

"MY MOTHER used to buy me records and take me to recitals. She bought me a record player when I was 2. We still have it. I was taken to my first recital at 4."

Last year Duke won both Marin Music Chest Society of Classical Arts scholarships. This year he is one of several students to win the Bank of America award, a recognition for students who are outstanding in the music department. He is a member of his school's Honor T Society.

Duke has been piano accompanist during the last six months for Mme. Bella Resak, a Mill Valley vocal instructor.

The young music man was piano accompanist for Tamalpais High's "Pajama Game" in 1961 and for "The Medium" in 1962. He played trombone for "Carousel" at the school last year and also the actor-on-piano Wesley in "Time of Your Life," produced by the Tamalpais Valley Players.

HE EXPECTS to be presented by Haywood at San Francisco's Internatonal Music Hall in a piano recital with another pupil.

He will enter San Francisco State College majoring in music education this fall, and also plans to go to Julliard School of Music.

A collector of records as a hobbyist, Duke steps away from music with his other hobby, photography.

Duke's first teacher quit playing his advance lesson for him, as was her habit with other pupils, when he played the lesson right back. At his first recital, however, he sat down to the piano to play and couldn't think of the first piece. "Finally, I put my hand down and, it so happened, it came out right."

THE YOUNG man who says "I'm always carrying a horn—it's like a trade mark," also says he likes to compose. He has made a jazz arrangement of "Carousel," he said, which he hopes to have copyrighted and published. And, when he has been able to join the union, he plans to have it recorded. In addition, he's working on a suite for band or concert orchestra to present at a backstage concert at school.

The music major seems to be at home playing classical piano, jazz, for the Marin City Presbyterian Church, in Tamalpais High's marching band, or in the opera.

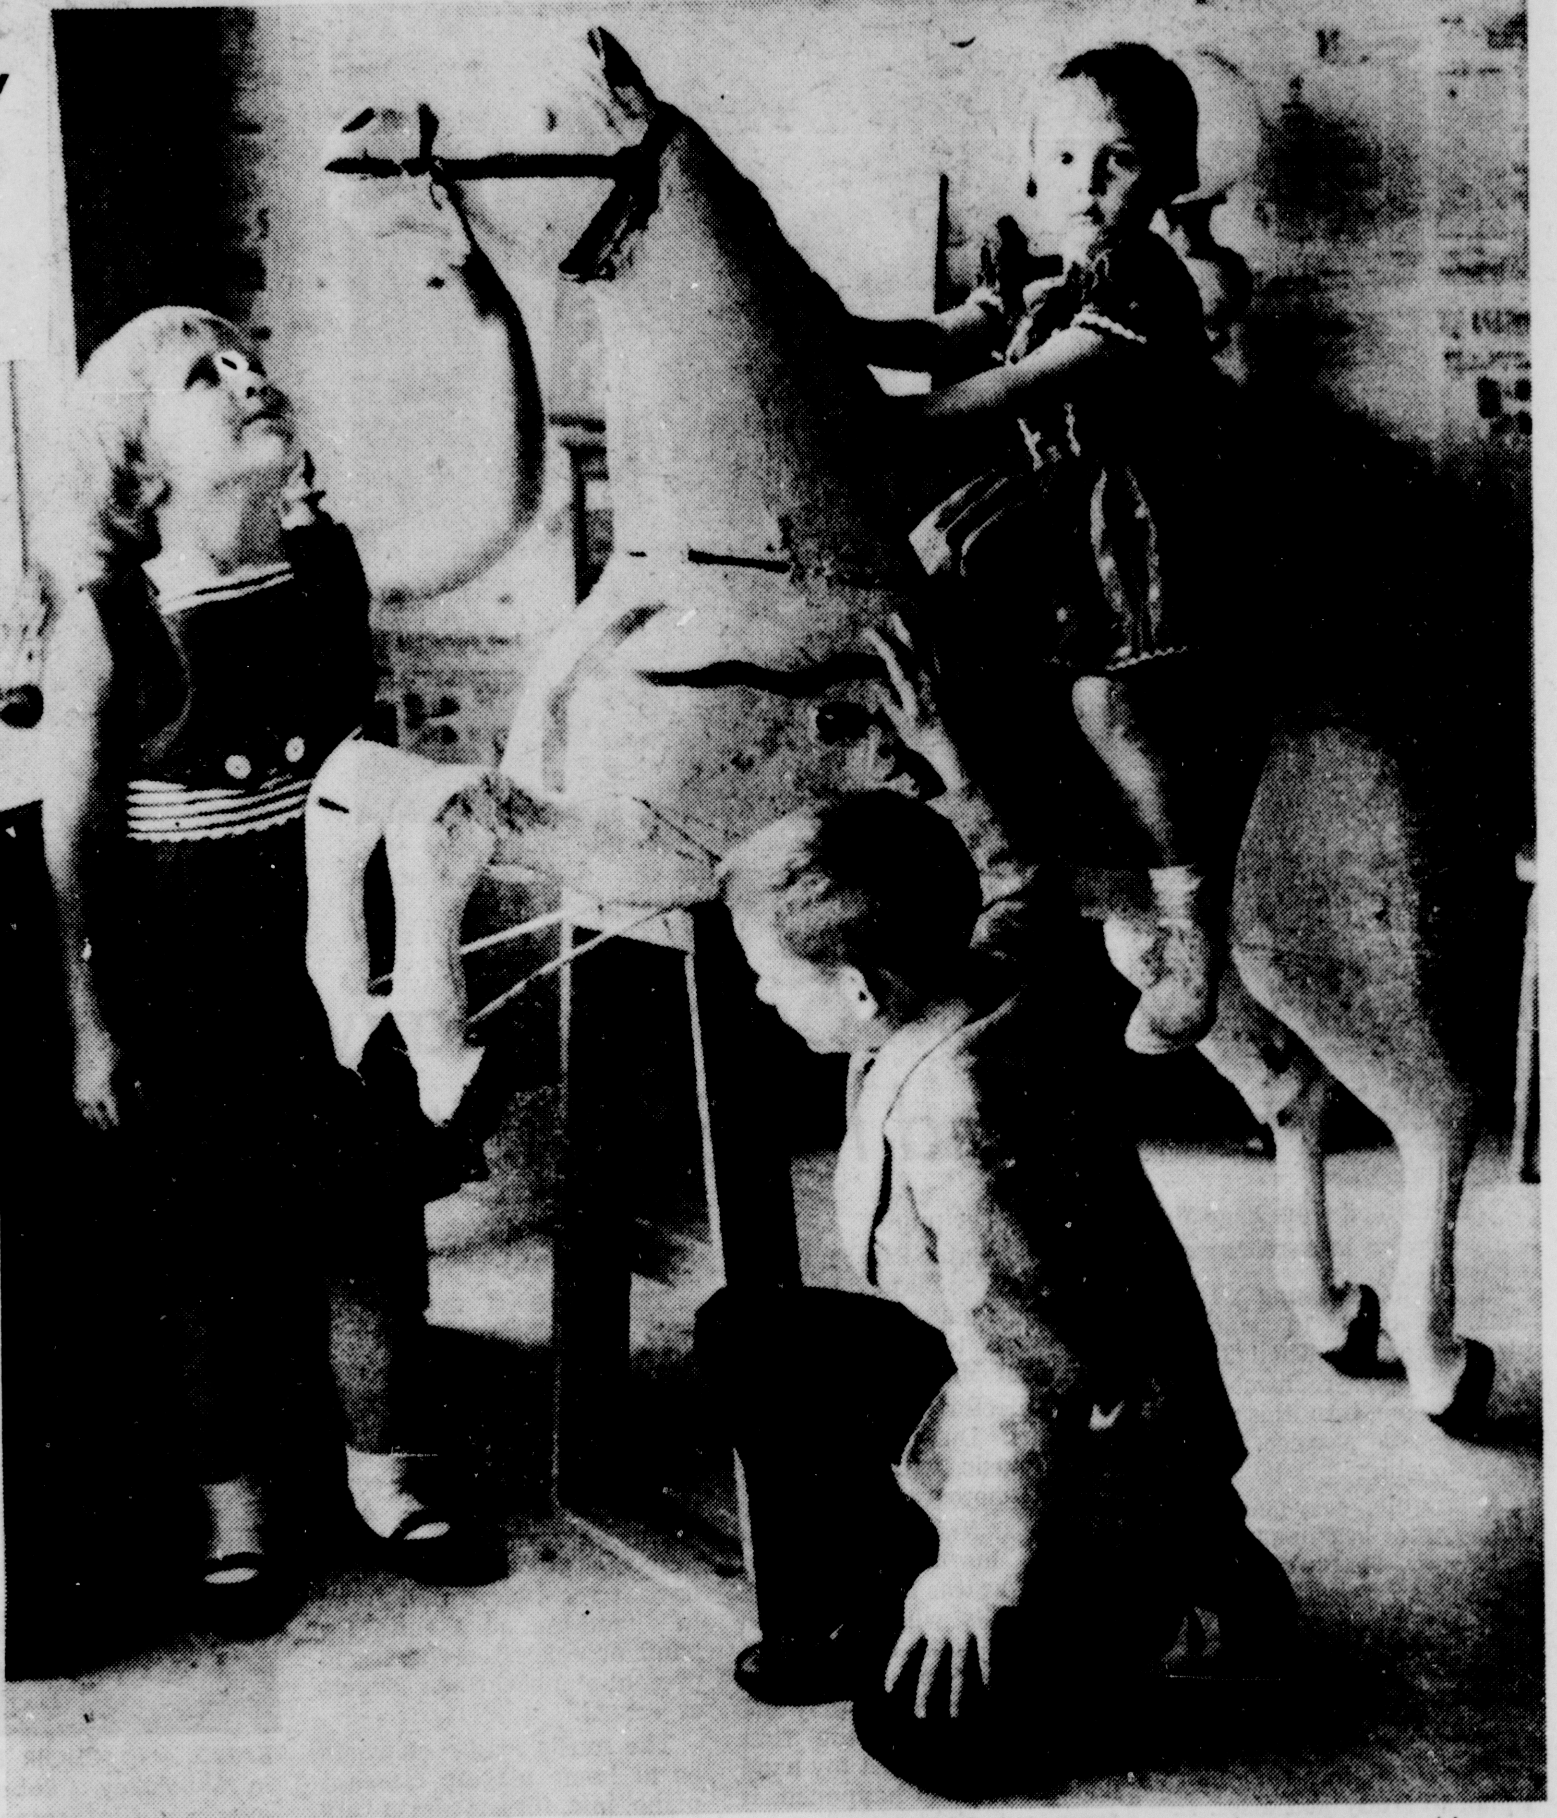
Century Old, But Horses Still Prance

Antique Steeds From Carousel To Be Displayed



ASTRIDE ONE OF THREE more-than-a-century-old carousel horses to be shown by Sutherland Antiques at the 11th Annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale is little Cindy Churchfield, while playmates Ann Shackelford and John McCormick admire her venerable steed. The annual exhibit and sale of antiques will open next Thursday and continue through the following Sunday at 511 Caledonia Street, Sausalito.

Hundreds of boots and a hundred years have chipped the paint and scuffed the sides of three old carousel horses now in the possession of Sutherland Antiques of Sausalito.

Still handsome, prancing specimens, however, the horses will be seen in Sausalito at the 11th Annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale, opening next Thursday and continuing through April 28 at 511 Caledonia Street, Hours are from noon until 10 p.m., except for Sunday when the show closes at 6 p.m.

SPECIALIZING in early Americana, the Gus Sutherlands were particularly delighted to find these horses, which were unearthed in the dusty basement of a Mormon ranch home in Utah.

Sutherland tells it this way: "My son, Robert Burks, a rancher in Utah, is constantly on the alert for antiques, of course, because he realizes how difficult some of these things are to find. And one evening when he was visiting neighbors, he learned that they had an entire carousel in the basement.

"It HAD BEEN used by the neighbors' grandparents — taken all over the state to carnivals and fairs, and now was just gathering cobwebs. Bob could hardly wait to get home to call us about it. We drove to Utah, packed the horses in the station wagon and brought them back here.

"Utah has become a rich source of early American furniture, since the Mormons and other settlers brought so much of it out in their covered wagons. And it's a closer source of antiques that the East Coast, for Californians. But now with the new highways easing travel through Salt Lake City, it's been pretty well cleaned up, and the Mormon families are reluctant to part with the treasures that are left. This is why we were especially lucky to get the horses."

Mrs. Sutherland reports that in their search for antiques in Utah, they located a surprising number of beds in which Brigham Young had slept.

"SOMETHING like the hundreds of beds George Washington slept in," she observes.

"When we were there, we'd ask everyone — attendants, sales people and so on — if they knew of any authentic antique furniture we could buy. One coffee shop waitress told us to talk to her aunt, who had a small house adjoining her home built specifically to display antiques of early Mormon families. She showed us another Brigham Young bed, and lived in daily fear someone would walk up and claim it for the Mormon museum."

Of the 10 horses the Sutherlands crammed into their station wagon, two have been purchased by an antique collector in Long Beach, one by the famous Yankee Trader antique shop, one is in a Mother Lode museum, and one is on a Sausalito houseboat which has been remodeled in Victorian style.

Made in Germany in sections over a century ago, the carousel traveled through the Utah country every summer, received some pretty rough treatment on Saturday nights when the young cowboys kicked their heels on the flanks of an unresponsive steed.

EVERY SPRING the horses were repainted and sent out again.

The word "carousel" comes from a name given to the exhibitions of knightly exercises in the Middle Ages; first mentioned in 842, these exhibitions were accompanied with great pomp and splendor. They were superceded by the tournaments of later medieval times. The Place du Carrousel in Paris was so called after one of these festivals in 1660.

It was in the United States that the merry-go-round was first called a carousel.

Fans Of FM Radio Look To Guide Based In Sausalito

Monthly Magazine Points The Way To The Finest In Listening Fare

FM & CULTURAL GUIDE begins each month in the offices of the many Northern California FM stations. Here Bill Agee, program director of San Francisco's KKHI, which has its transmitter in Marin County, types advance programming information for the coming month. This station plays classical music and lists in the guide not only the composer but also the performers and record labels of the discs that are to be heard.

Residents of Marin County are among the most FM-conscious in Northern California. They place a high value upon the great variety of fine arts, music and public affairs programs which are to be had free on their FM radio dial.

Many of them realize, however, that their listening time is valuable and limited—and so they like to plan it in advance.

FM & Cultural Guide is the monthly magazine that tells them what is there for listening. And it's published in Sausalito.

EDITOR JOHN Sunier, who also writes the weekly "Stereo Scene" record reviews that appear regularly in the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine, established the publication with the January, 1962, issue. He is now at work on the 17th issue.

The FM publication began as the Bay FM & Cultural Guide, but when, in September of 1962, it was expanded to cover all of California, the word "Bay" was dropped from its title. In January of 1963, it was converted from a tall, slim booklet format to digest size, and feature articles were added.

Sunier's partner in the enterprise is Graphic Arts of Marin Inc., located at 5 Gate Five Road, Sausalito. President of Graphic Arts is Allan Ross, while Bernie Moss serves as business manager of FM & Cultural Guide.

The wives of all three men involved are also active in the publication: Mrs. Moss as artist, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Sunier

THE NEXT step in publishing a monthly issue of FM & Cultural Guide is taken by log editor Jack Lynch as he collates the data from nearly 60 different FM stations into a single hour-by-hour schedule for each day of the month. See pages M-12 and M-13 for additional photos showing how an issue of the Sausalito-based FM radio guide takes shape.

Why do we need LOUDNESS COMPENSATION? A review of our hearing characteristics will help understand the use of tone compensation in our home music systems.

In 1933, Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Munson made some elaborate hearing tests on a large sampling of people. From this data, a set of curves was developed. These curves, called the Fletcher Munson curves can be found in most standard physics and audio books. In 1937, Churcher & King made an independent series of hearing tests. Their curves are similar to the Fletcher Munson curves. At least four other series of tests have been made by others since 1937. All of these curves show a very important human hearing characteristic. When we are litening to music at reasonably loud volumes, we hear the low tones and the high tones with approximately equal loudness. However, as we reduce the listening volume, we hear the mid range tones much louder than we do the bass tones, and also a little louder than we hear the high tones. The lower we reduce the listening volume, the greater become our hearing loss on the bass tones and to some extent the hearing loss of the high tones.

This means, that at the normal listening levels in our homes, the bass tones would not be loud enough or proportional to the easily heard mid range tones. The effect would occur in a more limited extent on the high tones.

To compensate for his hearing deficiency, modern components use a control called a LOUDNESS control rather than a volume control. The function of the LOUDNESS control and its associated circuitry is to build up the bass and treble output the correct amount as you decrease the listening loudness. In other words, the action of turning down the volume is also turning up the bass and treble so that to our ears the complete music spectrum is in balance. On some systems, instead of having a Loudness control, there may be a switch that is marked CONTOUR or COMPENSATION or LOUDNESS. The switch turns on the necessary circuitry to give tonal balance at low listening volumes.

For music reproduction to be rich and full-bodied, it must include the full listening levels. The LOUDNESS control takes care of this for us.

The FM Guide Goes To Press

as the subscription department. The Rosses and Mosses reside in Tamalpais Valley, while the Suniers live in Sausalito.

One of the most vital jobs on each issue of FM & Cultural Guide is the assembling of the actual program listings from the many Northern California FM stations. This is done by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lynch of Larkspur, under the direction of Sunier.

SOME YEARS ago, when FM radio was a constantly struggling enterprise, many individual stations published their own program guides. However, FM soon expanded, new stations came on the air (60 in Northern California right now) and more people became fans of the new broadcast medium which promised high fidelity, better programming, and now stereo.

As several stations published individual program guides, it became a confusing and often expensive matter for the listener to subscribe to all of them. This brought into being the first all-station FM guide.

FM & Cultural Guide is the Northern California all-station guide. It has sister publications in Southern California, Chicago and other major cities.

ALTHOUGH FM program listings is the raison d'etre of FM & Cultural Guide, each issue contains other departments including a day-by-day guide to cultural events. Live theater, film series, and live jazz guides, in addition to reviews of the new records, news from the various stations, data on the broadcast hours, power, addresses and programming of the FM stations, plus illustrated feature articles on music and hi-fi are found each month.

FM & Cultural Guide has grown to a circulation of 10,000 monthly and has received continually - increasing advance information from the FM stations.

MANY OF the stations could not, at the outset, see any reason for planning their programming a month or two in advance. With increased interest in the guide, editor Sunier feels that stations are now becoming convinced that their listeners will listen more often and more appreciatively if advance programs are published.

FM & Cultural Guide publishes all the information received by deadline time without charge, and treats all FM stations equally regarding representation.

(KPFA in Berkeley publishes its own bi-weekly guide, because the listener-subscription operation is based on this service. However, some KPFA listings are found in FM & Cultural Guide, too.)

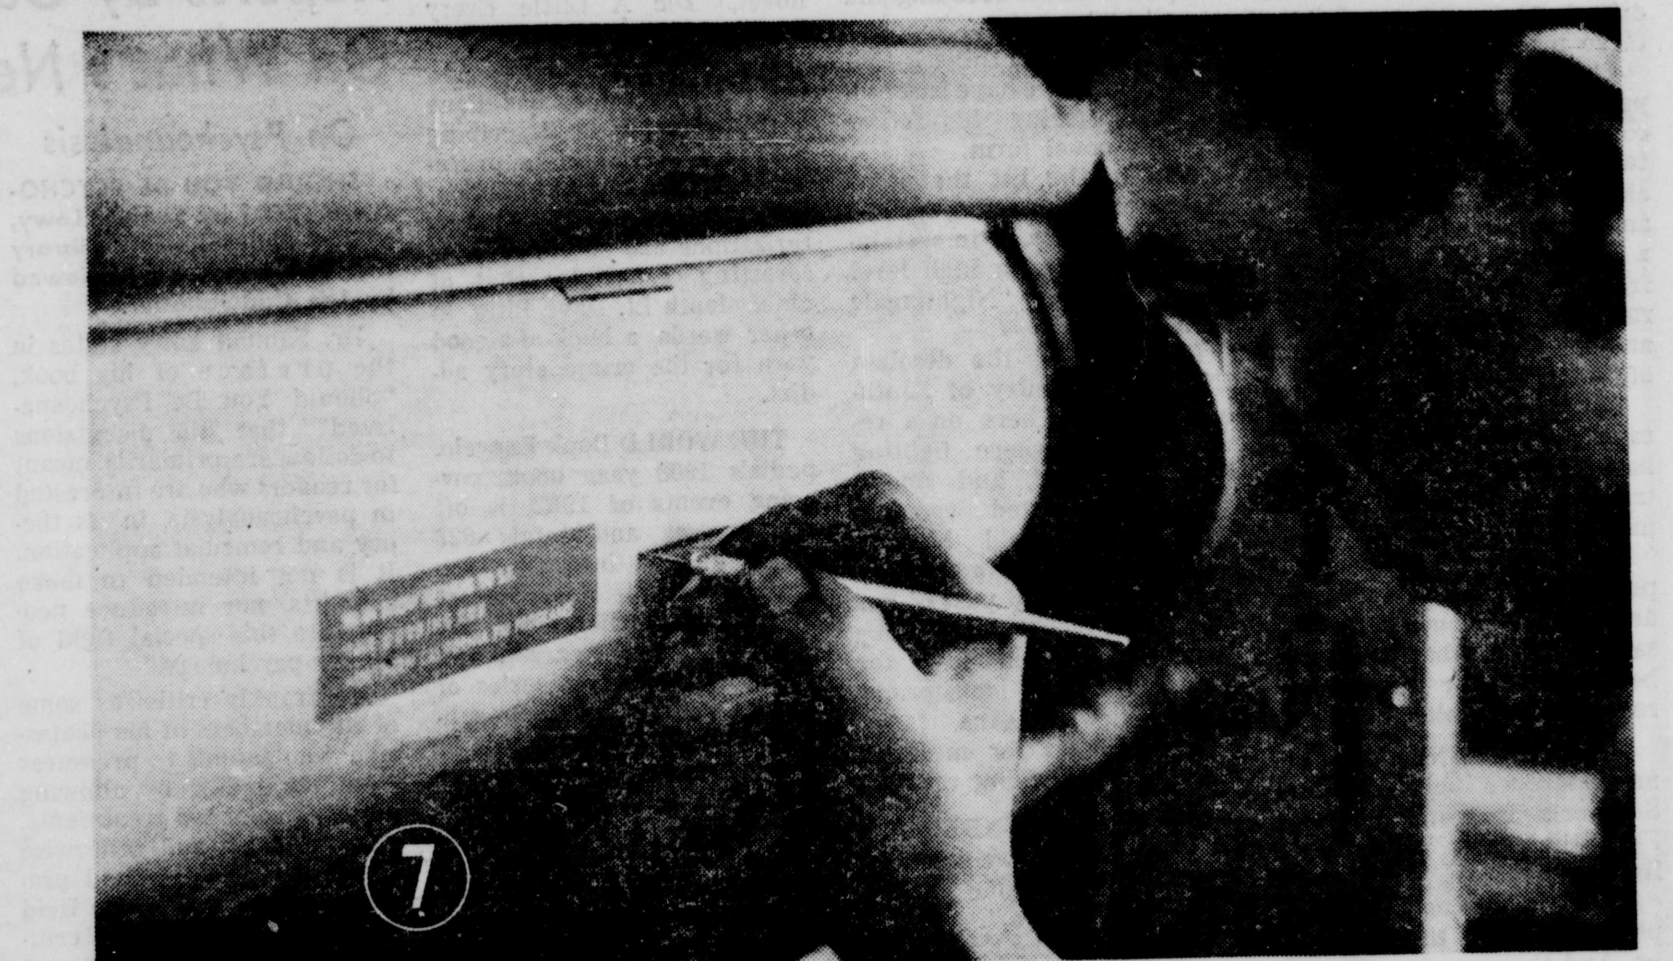
IN THE BUSY shop of Graphic Arts of Marin, Bernie Moss operates one of the two linotype machines to set "hot type" copy for the FM & Cultural Guide. Some sections remain basically the same from month to month, with corrections and additions in type line by line.

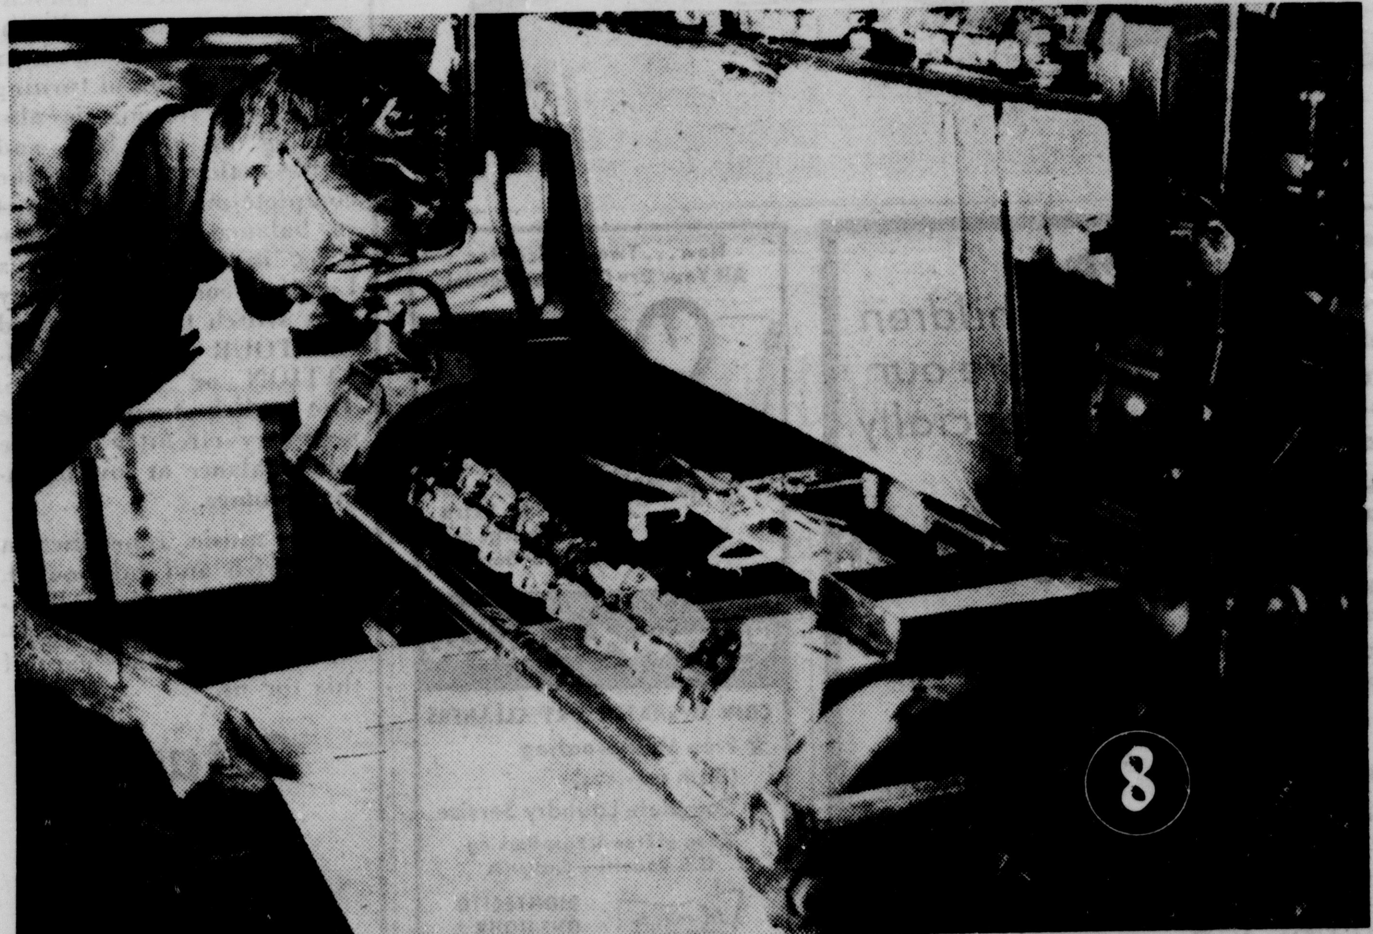
HERE ALLAN ROSS of Graphic Arts of Marin works at the "stone" removing incorrect lines of type and replacing them with the correction lines Moss has just set. This is called "making up" pages.

THE "ONE-WOMAN" ART department of FM & Cultural Guide is Marie Moss, who now creates art headings for articles and assembles work on "boards" of eight pages at once. Advertisements which do not arrive ready for printing are also made up by Mrs. Moss.

THE LOG SECTION prepared by Jack and Evelyn Lynch and the remainder of the issue compiled at the Graphic Arts shop now travels to San Francisco and the printer for final photography. Here Kenneth Maleton of West Coast Litho checks one 16-page section on film.



THE LARGE FILMS are "burned" into metal plates, from which the final printing is done. Here Ivar Powell makes a small correction on the plate which is printing the cover of the next issue of the FM & Cultural Guide.



ONE OF THE INSIDE sheets of the FM guide is inspected by West Coast Litho employee Gerald Kelley as it comes off the press to make sure the equipment is set for the best possible reproduction.

ALL THAT REMAINS is for the various large sheets to be folded, bound and trimmed into the digest-sized format of the FM guide. Here bindery workers assemble those sections into a complete issue.

A Chaotic Novel By Herbert Gold

By DON KEOWN

Herbert Gold's "Salt" is a chaotic novel about chaotic people under chaotic conditions.

There is anarchy in its chronology and continuity, in its narration and viewpoint, in its characterizations and its conflicts between characters.

It is, in short, an undisciplined novel—which is no novelty today.

It is a frank and emotional story of a triangle set in New York. The principals are the two former wartime buddies, Peter, an amoral Wall Street opportunist, and Dan, a rudderless Madison Avenue copy editor, and the woman, Barbara, whom the former covets and the latter loves.

The novel, in which the triangle builds to violence, is divided into three parts, each of them covering virtually the same ground, but from the differing viewpoints of the three principals.

There are some excellent passages such as a savage account of a vicious fight between the two former friends, and a hilarious description of an incident in which Dan totes a drunken girl friend home from a party. There is much raw sex. And a considerable amount of telling satirization of "sick" Manhattan life.

But the worthwhile passages are too infrequent. Gold has resorted to too many tricks and has unnecessarily muddied the water.

The author's hard-earned prestige as a novelist will, we are certain, do more for the sale of "Salt" than this new book will do for the literary reputation of Gold.

AN EXCELLENT choice for any reference shelf is William Sumner's "How and Where to Find the Facts," just published by Arco.

It is planned as "the complete" guide for the researcher. And the encyclopedic volume comes very close to fulfilling that most ambitious objective.

A major portion of the book is devoted to an exhaustive bibliography that directs the reader to the major and authoritative sources of information on some 700 different subjects. But there is also much more to be found within its covers—for instance, directions on how to make full use of available library facilities, listings of associations and national organizations, addresses of consulates, an evaluation of encyclopedias and other reference works, etc.

There is the pretty and usually naive young heroine. There is the rather menacing man of mystery. There is a setting that is remote and gloomy. And there is an atmosphere that is brooding and apprehensive.

The surprising thing is that so many writers have succeeded in mastering this rather difficult novel form.

Add to the list the name Margaret Summerton, for she succeeds very well in sustaining suspense at a high level throughout her "Nightingale at Noon."

Her locale is the desolate Camargue country of Southeast France. There on a remote ranch where fighting bulls are bred, and among strangely-assorted companions, 19-year-old Melinda Vaughan begins to face reality about the clouded past of her own family. There, too, she struggles between love for and fear of mysterious Charles Lewis McAra.

It all makes for most exciting and satisfying reading.

OUR RECOMMENDED mystery for this week: Ann Head's very readable "Everybody Adored Cara."

Members of the Frank Merrill family become very personally involved when their charming, beautiful and popular neighbor, Cara Sumner, is strangled.

Miss Head writes with the skill of a veteran, although this is her first real effort in the mystery field. The Merrills emerge as a most interesting family. Other characters are also well drawn. Lone weak spot is the final denouement which comes as something of a disappointment. But what has gone on before is so good that you are willing to forgive the author even a rather unimaginative conclusion.

A HIT-AND-RUN accident triggers still more violence in Lawrence Fisher's new crime novel, "Die A Little Every Day."

Fisher, a symphony orchestra concertmaster, has done a first-rate job of describing police investigative procedures. There is a lot of action, plenty of suspense. Characterizations are sound and interesting, especially that of chief sleuth Lt. Dave Pitts. In other words, a heck-of-a-good yarn for the crime story addict.

THE WORLD Book Encyclopedia's 1963 year book, covering events of 1962, is off the presses and totals 628 pages divided into five sections. There is a section of interpretive articles by the likes of Lester Pearson and James B. Reston, a series of special reports on such subjects as new developments in oceanography and advancements in agriculture, a fact "catalog" of the major events and personalities of 1962, a 100-page section of new articles from The World Book Encyclopedia's latest edition and an index of articles which have appeared in supplements to the encyclopedia and year books 1954 to 1963 with a chronology of 1962 and a "preview" calendar for 1963.

The World Book Year Book, published by Field Enterprises Educational Corp. of Chicago, sells for $5.95 to owners of the encyclopedia set, $12.50 to others.

SALT by Herbert Gold, Dial Press, 318 pages, $4.95.

HOW AND WHERE TO FIND THE FACTS by William Sumners, Arco Publishing Co., 442 pages, $7.50.

DIE A LITTLE EVERY DAY by Lawrence Fisher, Random House, 239 pages, $3.50.

BRITISH WRITER and critic Penelope Mortimer is the author of the new novel, "The Pumpkin Eater," which has just been published by McGraw-Hill. She is known to American readers through her stories in the New Yorker.

Reports By Our Reviewers On What's New In Reading

On Psychoanalysis

SHOULD YOU BE PSYCHOANALYZED? by Samuel Lowy, M.D., Philosophical Library Inc., 308 pages, $6. Reviewed by Lee Cadwallader.

Dr. Samuel Lowy states in the preface of his book, "Should You Be Psychoanalyzed?" that "the discussions to follow are primarily meant for readers who are interested in psychoanalysis, in its theory and remedial application. It is not intended to make converts, nor introduce people into this special field of human psychology."

He frankly criticizes some of the members of his profession who submit to pressures from the public by allowing unduly prolonged treatments, give "advice" and otherwise contradict what is good professional practice in the field of psychoanalysis. His criticism seems fair, mature and objective because he freely admits his failures.

It is regrettable that his writing style is so stilted that the layman will probably lose interest before coming to the last chapters on Health and Summer Resorts, Magic and Religion.

Dr. Lowy acknowledges his debt to his wife in revising his manuscript. The next time I hope he relies more on a good editor because what he has to say is of great importance.

Gaming Glossary

One might not think it would require 284 pages to tell how to call a spade a spade, and a form player a form player. But there's a good deal to the glossary of the gaming table and the race track, as John S. Salak's "Dictionary of Gambling" proves.

Of course, there are other ways to find out all the terms (usually more expensive than $7.50).

For The Women

Here is a book with an appeal limited strictly to women readers, but for them it may prove very appealing, delineating as it does the intensely personal story of a woman tangled in a web of marriage and motherhood to which she can see no beginning nor satisfactory end.

In her carefully controlled style British author Penelope Mortimer tells the story of the woman, known only as "I," who undergoes an emotional breakdown and effects a recovery, amid a tumultuous existence populated with the offspring of four marriages and a rather helpless husband who finds companionship elsewhere.

But Miss Mortimer, who is the wife of a playwright and novelist as is her heroine, never lets her character become self-pitying. Humor and relentless honesty keep her a forceful, interesting person shown through well controlled scenes that are sometimes apparently unrelated but which add up to a powerful portrait.

Century Of Chinese History—Readable And Unbiased

CHINA ONLY YESTERDAY by Emily Hahn, Doubleday, 423 pages, $5.75. Reviewed by Randall Gould.

John Gunther, who edits this book as one of the "Mainstreams of the Modern World Series," was Emily Hahn's guest in Shanghai as he prepared his own "Inside China."

Miss Hahn had good sources and sound counsel as she prepared this ambitious, popularly-styled account of Chinese history from the end of the Opium War in 1842 to the Communist conquest of Nationalism in 1949.

She herself had much first-hand contact with leading figures through the last two decades of this period. One of her previous books is on Chiang Kai-shek, another deals with the three Soong sisters who include Chiang's wife. This offers temptation toward some partiality and she resists it to compile a readable and unbiased account of events through a century of unbelievable change.

Her talent for picking good summary quotations is illustrated by a bit from Gen. George Marshall on his promising but ultimately frustrating mission: "The reactionaries in the (Chinese) Government have evidently counted on substantial American support regardless of their actions. The Communists by their unwillingness to compromise in the national interest are evidently counting on an economic collapse to bring about the fall of the government . . ."

History wrote that both were right, as was Marshall in analysis, but that the Reds came off winners.

Miss Hahn, as novelist, is unable to resist this final paragraph, about the pathetic Manchu Boy Emperor:

"Pu-i was caught by the Communists in Manchuria and made to work as a gardener and path sweeper. Serve him right, they reasoned, for having been an Emperor."

A RESIDENT OF China from 1935 to 1943, Emily Hahn has written "China Only Yesterday," covering the history of China from the end of the Opium War in 1842 to the establishment of the People's Republic in 1949. It is part of Doubleday's "Mainstreams of the Modern World" series.

THE STEREO SCENE

Delayed Recognition For Jazz Innovator Fletcher Henderson

By JOHN SUNIER
Editor, FM & Cultural Guide

THE FLETCHER HENDERSON STORY, A Study in Frustration — Columbia C4L 19 (4 LP's).

Why the sub-title?

Because the intellectual, forward-looking and casual Negro jazz leader was almost totally responsible for the success of big swing bands of the 1930s, while he and his band received practically no recognition. The arranging formula that made Benny Goodman the biggest thing in popular music during the 30s, and on which Count Basie's music is to a large extent still based, was originated by Fletcher Henderson and his orchestra back in the middle 20s.

This four-disc album is still another in the laudable Columbia series of the "Thesaurus of Classic Jazz," assembled by John Hammond and Frank Driggs. Earlier sets have brought jazz fans some of the best work of Billie Holliday and Mildred Bailey.

All of the "Thesaurus" albums contain profusely-illustrated booklets of very complete notes, sidelights on the music and personalities, and complete data on the original 78 rpm discs from which the LP's have been made. Most of the transfers to LP in this particular collection were made from the original metal stampers in the Columbia vaults, and the sound quality is superb for the 1920s.

Musically the most advanced orchestra in the country at that time, Fletcher Henderson suffered from a lack of business acumen and was not a leader who expected much discipline from his sidemen. His band broke up a number of times in the 40s, while the leader worked on and off for Benny Goodman as arranger, although Fletcher continued playing piano until his death in 1952.

Among the big names in jazz who benefited from their association with the Fletcher Henderson Orchestra were Louis Armstrong, Red Allen, Roy Eldridge, Coleman Hawkins, Fats Waller, Ben Webster, and Benny Carter. All of these are represented among the 64 different tracks in this collection, ranging from big Henderson hits such as "Christopher Columbus" to rare sessions which were never before released on records.

If you're interested in learning more about a fascinating part of jazz history, or even if you would just like to add almost four hour's worth of classic big-band jazz and swing to your collection in one fell swoop, this album is a "must."

SWING STREET—Epic SN 6042 (4 LP's).

A second multi-disc album which sort of takes up where the Henderson set leaves off, from the same source: Frank Driggs and the vaults of Columbia and the shelves of several classic jazz record experts.

"Swing Street" was the popular name for West 52nd Street in Manhattan during the 30s and 40s. Every imaginable type of jazz—single upright-piano-players, small Dixie-type combos, "novelty" groups (such as the hilarious Slim & Slam), vocalists, and big bands—was heard here.

It started out in a small way, as the first area outside of Harlem that was really jumping with good jazz in the early 1930s. Then in 1933 Prohibition was repealed, and the "Music Went Round and Around" from that time until a few years ago, when most of the area was torn down for more of New York's constant rebuilding.

The lavish booklet of notes by John Hammond and Charles Edward Smith tells the whole story, with amusing quotes from jazzmen who were a real part of the Swing Street scene: Red Norvo, Sidney Bechet, Eddie Condon and others.

The very names of the clubs prompt nostalgia from hip New Yorkers who were familiar with the area: The Onyx, Club Downbeat, The Famous Door, The Three Deuces, Jimmy Ryan's.

The clubs were so small and so crammed together that the story was often told of how a sideman once found himself half-way through the evening "sitting in" with the wrong band — he was supposed to be at the club next-door!

Some of the high spots in the six racks of this collection: Fats Waller on his pipe organ in "The Chant," Eddie Condon's "Home Cooking," Wingy Manone's popular "Isle of Capri," Alec Wilder's touching "Don't Leave Me," Mildred Bailey on "More Than You Know," Slim & Slam's nonsensical "Flat Foot Floogie," Woody Herman's swingin' "Woodchopper's Ball," and lastly, the Dizzy Gillespie 1945 tunes, bringing The Street toward its end in the era of Modern Jazz.

A Deck Is Just The Thing For Spring

Who doesn't at this time of year?

But how to cure it? Doctors recommend a good dose of deck lounging. And if you haven't a deck to lounge on, best rustle your bones and build one.

A DECK doesn't require an enormous investment in dollars or effort. In fact, decks are beloved by economy-minded home owners who frequently save further by doing much or all of the construction work themselves.

Decks offer another big saving right at the outset because there is virtually no site preparation necessary. For problem lots with sloping grades or rocky soil, eliminating need for grading and filling is an important factor.

Materials needed are Douglas fir posts, beams and deck planks. Size of the posts and beams depend on how far off the ground your deck is to be. An architect, a builder, or a retail lumberman will recommend needed sizes.

DECK BOARDS can be either fir two-by-fours or two-by-sixes. Generally they are laid flat with a narrow spacing between—about an eighth of an inch—to allow water runoff.

Don't paint the deck unless you particularly love painting and have money to burn. Without paint, the fir boards will weather to a lovely silver color and require no further attention.

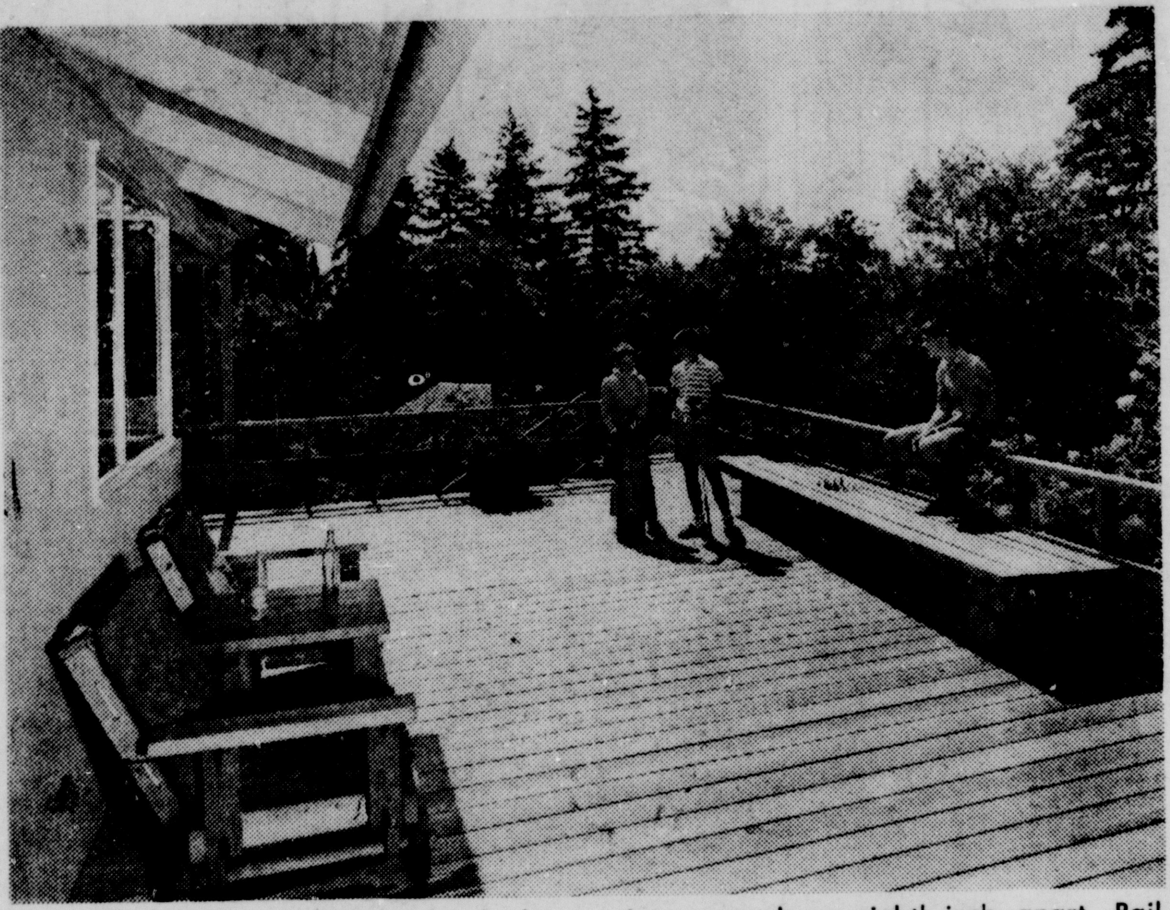
MANY FAMILIES build a deck that wraps around two sides of the house, nearly doubling the home's floor space. This, if you like, can be partitioned off into private rooms with the addition of divider screens. Some could even be roofed with a trellis to provide shady spots, others left open to the sun.

Wherever possible, build in benches for permanent seating. Benches can be incorporated into the perimeter railing to make a good looking installation, and the deck's ready for big crowds at party time.



THE MOST ECONOMICAL WAY to level a lot for outdoor living is to build a wood deck over it. This deck doubles the home's living space. It is built of Douglas fir two-by-sixes spaced an eighth-inch apart. Railing is a safety feature for the deck which rises a story above grade at back. The bench provides permanent seating. Some Tips On Proper Use Of Old Reliable Hand Tools

No matter how many power tools are in your home workshop, there is always a need for the old reliable hand tools. Oddly enough, many persons who have become proficient in the use of electric machines have no parallel skill in the use of hand tools.

Use only a wrist movement in driving a small nail with a hammer, bending the elbow for larger nails and striking hard with full-arm action for very large nails. In using a chisel, keep the left hand (if you are right-handed) behind the cutting edge at all times.

Remember that it is easier and quicker to make several thin cuts with a chisel than one thick one, in addition to insuring a more professional result.

In making a hole in wood with an awl, the edge of the tool should be pushed into the wood across the grain, as there is a possibility of splitting the stock if this is done along the grain.

In cutting with a hacksaw, be sure that the work is held firmly in a vise, that the blade is held tightly in its frame and that you remember the principle that the cutting is done on the forward stroke.

The cutting also is done on the forward stroke when filing, so be sure no pressure is exerted in drawing back the file.

Old screwdrivers can be renewed by grinding the tips, but be certain the grinding is done straight across so that the tips will fit firmly into the heads of screws.

Stop, Look and Listen!

Clean clothing lasts longer! All garments in your wardrobe, worn or unworn, should be cleaned twice a year at least, to remove accumulated dust, body acids, cleaning detergent residue, moth larvae, etc. . . . and to flex the fibers. The latter is important, for many fabrics become stiff and unyielding from disuse. Give this a thought.

Tests made by the National Institute of Dry Cleaning reveal that abrasive soil shortens clothing life. "Fiber friction" is appreciably reduced when this abrasive soil is periodically removed. As a result, garments last longer and look better when worn. This is understandable, isn't it?

Cleaning costs are high, agreed. But you can save up to 50% of usual cleaning costs utilizing our expert services for your wardrobe care and maintenance. Combining low-cost custom finishing with self-service dry cleaning will reduce wear and tear on your purse. And that's something to think about, isn't it?

"REALTY VIEWS"

Time marches on. John Jones, though now nearly retired, tried to keep pace. He had the latest of everything, except a home.

His home was comfortable, but out of style. However, John was so used to coming "home" every night he just took it for granted. Inside the house, however, it was a different story.

He bought a new car, but he parked it in his old garage. He bought and expensive, brand-new TV set. Naturally, he would have been insulted if the salesman had tried to sell him a used one. Yet, he brought it home to a well-used 1925 model house.

William A. Lewis

Just the other day, though, John saw that the house wasn't the best he could afford. He realized that his home had not kept step with his present income, tastes, or social requirements. John decided, rightfully to enjoy life to the fullest in an up-to-the-minute home.

Perhaps you've never given this matter a thought. But don't forget the home you live in is the outer shell around your whole family life. You spend most of your time there.

You should buy the best you can afford. Like John Jones, you'll discover a good home is the key to good living.

HERE'S AN ATTRACTIVE landscaping arrangement accomplished almost entirely with annuals. Spider plant and nicotinana give height, petunias are massed in the middle ground, creeping zinnias and small marigolds form the borders. While annuals are not permanent, they are economical.

Plan Now For Summer

Summer is a season that should never lack for color in Marin gardens. Yet, strangely, it often does.

Perhaps too many of us plant for spring and realize only too late that we're not really set for the months that follow.

Lest the warm season catch you napping, survey your garden now. Arm yourself with a pencil and paper and use the following checklist to see where you stand.

First off, how are you fixed for bedding plants? Summer is the season most annuals are born for, so why not take advantage of them? Plant a bed of Zinnias or Stock, a border of Marigolds or Petunias, an edging of Lobelia or Alyssum—some for cutting, others for show.

Next, turn your attention to blooming shrubs. Have you any Hydrangeas to show off their platter-size flowers? Have any of the newer Lantanas found their way into your garden? How about a row of Oleanders along that sunny side of the house or down the drive? They bloom profusely in all but the coolest coastal climates.

Summer would be dreary without the season-long show from common Geraniums (whoever called them "common"?); nor would life be quite complete without Fuchsias in the shade garden. Do your plans include both of these?

Dahlias and Gladiolus should play an important role in your summer garden. Other bulbs to go in now are Cannas and Watsonia if your garden is a warm one; Begonias if it's on the cool side. Begonia tubers are still to be found; but seedlings will begin to dominate the trade this month.

We've left Roses until the last, but they are certainly not least in our summer garden plans. You probably planted them during bareroot season, but if you forgot to, nurserymen offer container-grown bushes that transplant easily.

And if you've also forgotten how nice they are to have around this summer, it's time you refreshed your memory. Few shrubs are nicer in any season.

THEY LIKE THE QUICK GROWERS

Cactus Collection

A collection of cacti in two-inch clay pots makes an attractive window-shelf display. Easy to take care of, too, since the plants don't suffer if you forget to water them occasionally.

HERE'S AN ATTRACTIVE landscaping arrangement accomplished almost entirely with annuals. Spider plant and nicotinana give height, petunias are massed in the middle ground, creeping zinnias and small marigolds form the borders. While annuals are not permanent, they are economical.

Plan Now For Summer

Summer is a season that should never lack for color in Marin gardens. Yet, strangely, it often does.

Perhaps too many of us plant for spring and realize only too late that we're not really set for the months that follow.

Lest the warm season catch you napping, survey your garden now. Arm yourself with a pencil and paper and use the following checklist to see where you stand.

First off, how are you fixed for bedding plants? Summer is the season most annuals are born for, so why not take advantage of them? Plant a bed of Zinnias or Stock, a border of Marigolds or Petunias, an edging of Lobelia or Alyssum —some for cutting, others for show.

Next, turn your attention to blooming shrubs. Have you any Hydrangeas to show off their platter-size flowers? Have any of the newer Lantanas found their way into your garden? How about a row of Oleanders along that sunny side of the house or down the drive? They bloom profusely in all but the coolest coastal climates.

Summer would be dreary without the season-long show from common Geraniums (whoever called them "common"?); nor would life be quite complete without Fuchsias in the shade garden. Do your plans include both of these?

Dahlias and Gladiolus should play an important role in your summer garden. Other bulbs to go in now are Cannas and Watsonia if your garden is a warm one; Begonias if it's on the cool side. Begonia tubers are still to be found; but seedlings will begin to dominate the trade this month.

We've left Roses until the last, but they are certainly not least in our summer garden plans. You probably planted them during bareroot season, but if you forgot to, nurserymen offer container-grown bushes that transplant easily.

And if you've also forgotten how nice they are to have around this summer, it's time you refreshed your memory. Few shrubs are nicer in any season.

To Retain Beauty Of Roses

Some Simple Rules Prolong Cut Flowers

Nowhere do roses flourish more beautifully than in Marin's mild climate and fertile soil. And these long-time favorites with flower gardeners are bursting into bloom with the passing of each spring day.

Too many home owners are content to simply cut roses from their garden and place them in cold water. Thus they will last only a few days, depending upon the variety.

Here's how to go about it.

1. Cut the stem with a sharp knife, preferably with a slanting cut to provide more surface to absorb water. Cut your roses when the tight bud has begun to loosen up, just prior to actual bursting into full bloom.

2. Place the stems in warm, 100 degree water in the vase. They will absorb more water if it is warm rather than cold.

3. Remove all leaves on the part of the stem that will be under water in the vase. An exception may be made if the vase is transparent, in which case you may wish the lower leaves to show. At least one-third of the stem should be under water.

4. Use a flower preservative that can be added to the water to make the blooms last longer. Of course if you have plenty of roses in your garden this will not be necessary.

5. Each day replace in the vase, water that has been lost by evaporation. Many persons lose roses much faster by neglecting to renew this lost water thus causing the blooms to wilt. Wilting also may be caused by cutting the buds when they are too "tight," or immature. Wait until the petals have begun to loosen up before cutting, as previously mentioned.

6. Before you retire, since no one will see the roses during the night, remove them to a cooler place if the room remains hot all night. 40 degree temperature is ideal.

These simple rules will help you to enjoy your roses more, and for a longer period. If you have enough roses in your garden, however, you may wish to change the blooms every couple of days for variety of color.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

✓ Snails and slugs thrive on newly planted bedding plants. They can be easily controlled, however, with bait or pellets or liquid spray.

ROSE GROWERS! new health and vigor can be yours

ARE YOU WAN AND NERVOUS, WORRYING ABOUT YOUR ROSES?...WORN OUT TRYING TO BRING THE BLOOM BACK TO THEIR CHEEKS? ...RUN-DOWN TRYING TO FIGHT OFF INSECTS AND DISEASE? HELP IS HERE AT LAST! ORTHO HAS PUT TOGETHER A ROSE KIT THAT TAKES CARE OF EVERYTHING BUT THE THORNS!

At last you can relax. Instead of struggling with a special spray for this insect and a special dust for that...or trying frantically to find the perfect fertilizer...you reach for one handy rose kit. The ORTHO people have packaged together everything you need to get the blooms you planted for: the ORTHO Rose Duster and a bottle of ORTHO Liquid Rose Food.

Rose Dust controls both insects and disease. And ORTHO Liquid Rose Food is just what the experts ordered to feed roses—a balanced formula in easily-digested liquid form.

EASY DOES IT

The ORTHO people wanted to simplify the time-consuming task of rose care. First they invented Rose Dust. By combining insecticides and fungicides, they did away with the need for doing two jobs: controlling diseases and halting insects. Then they developed the pliable plastic duster. You just aim the Rose Duster and squeeze. You put protection on blooms and leaves—"pouf"... like that! If you "pouf" around the rose bush about every 7 to 10 days during the growing season, you'll probably stop trouble before it ever starts. Rose Dust wards off most bugs and blights that ruin roses. Aphids, thrips, rose weevil, Japanese beetle, powdery mildew, black spot and rust.

ROSE FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Then they set out to make a perfect rose food. They had to find a formula that gave roses all the nutrients they need; a food that also gave a quick feeding for a surge of growth as well as a steady feeding to keep bushes growing strong. The answer: ORTHO Liquid Rose Food, loaded with nitrogen, phosphorous and potash. With a chelating agent added to "unlock" iron and other valuable minerals in the soil and make them available to the roots. They made it liquid so roses could take it in quickly through their leaves as well as through their roots. So ORTHO Liquid Rose Food goes to work fast, then lingers in the soil for lasting feeding. Result: you get bigger blooms and more of them. Longer, stronger stems. Healthier foliage.

WHAT PRICE GLORIOUS BLOOMS?

Now before you rush down to the bank to withdraw your savings to buy this kit, listen to the news. ORTHO Liquid Rose Food and the Rose Duster together in one box cost just $1.88. Ordinarily, you'd pay $2.28. You actually save 40 cents! So why not apply that to the purchase of an ORTHO Lawn Sprayer if you don't already have one? It's the perfect way to apply ORTHO Liquid Rose Food. It dilutes the liquid to just the right proportion as it sprays. And it gives you the perfect spray for proper foliar feeding. Extra bonus: it's guaranteed for four years.

ORTHO LIQUID ROSE FOOD
ORTHO ROSE DUST
SPECIAL OFFER! BOTH FOR $1.88

So pin a rose on the gardener who visits his authorized ORTHO dealer tomorrow and gets the best rose deal going: the new ORTHO rose kit going for just $1.88. Better hurry; he only has just so many.
